

Chamberlain Released To Vancouver Cougars

Leaves Immediately For Post On Pacific Coast; Lamoureux May Succeed

"Murph" Chamberlain

Murph Chamberlain, the "Old Hardrock" of hockey, who brought big time hockey back to Charlottetown as the coach of the glamorous, hard-hitting Islanders was released last night by the Club executive to accept a "lucrative" offer from the Vancouver Cougars of the Pacific Coast Professional Hockey League.

Chamberlain has done much for hockey in this City and Province, and as he said in his farewell remarks to the Club Executive last night "the Club has done much for me. It brought me this very fine contract from Vancouver."

Negotiations are already in progress to secure a successor to Chamberlain and it is quite likely that it will be an old teammate of Chamberlain's, Leo Lamoureux. He was a longtime member of Montreal Canadiens and came up through the same school of hockey as the "Hardrock" himself. Lamoureux is presently employed by the Detroit Red Wings hockey team in Windsor, Ontario.

Murph's rise in the world of hockey coaches does not come entirely as a surprise. It could hardly be expected that his showing with the Islanders would go unnoticed. All ambitious players, coaches and managers have their eyes on the top rungs of hockey. They look to the big time—the National Hockey League—or to taking a step towards eventually reaching that league. Chamberlain, an old pro beyond his playing days, goes back to professional ranks and thereby takes a stride forward towards the big money ranks once more.

It was not without regret that Murph placed his case before the executive, and he spoke with sincerity when he said that he had been treated well. He liked the Island and felt that the Province possessed a very loyal hockey public and deserve a team which could hold its own in Big Four company. Chamberlain had one suggestion to make. He felt there was need for a larger and more modern rink for the future which would be more comfortable for spectators and hold larger crowds. There was need to allow for the continued expansion of the potential hockey interest now evident.

A resolution was passed at the meeting releasing Chamberlain and expressing great appreciation of his services and wishing him luck in his new venture.

Murph's probable successor, Leo Lamoureux is said to be a colorful figure who strangely enough though an Ontario born Frenchman, only learned to speak French after he joined the Canadiens in Montreal.

Chamberlain spoke very highly of his former teammate and expressed the belief that under his direction the team will go right on winning its share of hockey games. It is quite likely that the new coach will arrive in the City for Friday night's game against Saint John.

Attending last night's hockey meeting were: Bill Brown, vice-president; Aubrey Ward, secretary; Somerled Trainor, legal adviser; Randolph Manning, accountant; Bill Boyles, Arthur Clark, Leo Callaghan, Wallie Scantlebury, "Red" MacInnis, Lt.-Col. A. W. Rogers, Roddie MacDonnell, J. B. Murley and George McClain.

Major T. B. Rogers, club president, was absent through illness.

Bruins Defeat Rangers Despite "Treatment"

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (CP)—Boston Bruins defeated the psychologically-pepped New York Rangers 4-3 tonight before 6,866 fans, smallest tonight for the League with turnout here in more than 10 years. The Boston victory also spelled failure for the first "hokus pokus" experiment in hockey.

Before the game Dr. David F. Tracy, the same psychologist-hypnotist who tried to lift St. Louis Browns out of the doldrums of the American League, gave a "treatment" to the Rangers.

The victory for the Bruins put the Rangers and Boston in a tie for cellar-dweller of the League with eight points each. It was Boston's second victory of the season.

Two Players On St. Mary's Team Are Suspended

HALIFAX, Nov. 15 (CP)—Judge J. Elliott Hudson, president of the Maritime Senior Hockey League, today announced the suspension of two Halifax St. Mary's players. They are Donald (Peanuts) McLaughlin, suspended for three games and Cyril Thomas, not permitted to turn out against the Hawks tonight at Moncton.

Judge Hudson said in a statement, "I have suspended McLaughlin for the next three games. He will be ineligible to play Wednesday, Nov. 18 at Moncton; Saturday, Nov. 18, Charlottetown at Halifax; and Monday, Nov. 20 at Saint John."

The statement said: "McLaughlin has received two match misconduct penalties this season. . . the first in a game Oct. 24 between Charlottetown and Halifax. Referee Stan Swain's report stated 'Referee Kane gave McLaughlin a minor penalty for misconduct for striking referee Kane.'"

He received another match misconduct penalty in the game between Saint John Beavers and Halifax St. Mary's Nov. 11. Swain's report stated: "Referee Larabee gave McLaughlin a misconduct penalty for obscene language. After referee Larabee was given the misconduct, he pushed and threatened referee Larabee, so the latter gave him a match misconduct. Also after the game said player attempted to attack referee Larabee. I would recommend this player be suspended for a few games."

Referee George Mallinson's report . . . in the game of Nov. 13 between Moncton Hawks and Halifax reads: "I was bending down to pick up the puck for a face-off when Thomas shot the puck down the ice and said 'Now go and chase it.' I said, 'I'll chase it, but you are also being charged for a 10-minute misconduct penalty.' Then after reporting the misconduct penalty, I skated over to again face-off when Thomas charged into me. Then I gave him a match misconduct."

A week ago I suspended Kevin Conway of the Charlottetown Islanders and in doing so I issued a warning to the players in the League to behave themselves or suffer the consequences. I also warned the coaches that I expected them to be able to control their players and that I expected the referees to enforce the rules and that they would have my support in doing so. If the players are not prepared to behave themselves and the coaches are not able to control their players, further action will follow in the near future."

N.H.L. Governors And Owners Meet

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (CP)—A one-day meeting of National Hockey League governors and club owners ended here today without any statement on business discussed but a spokesman said an announcement is expected tomorrow on a "minor trade" between New York Rangers and Boston Bruins.

The spokesman said the meeting itself discussed "internal business"—just taking stock.

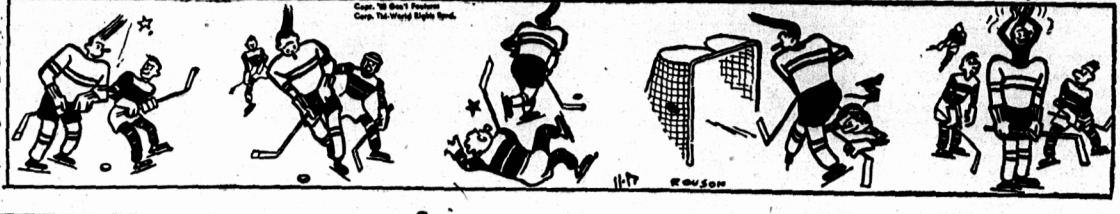

He declined to discuss the nature of the trade between Rangers and Bruins.

There has been speculation recently about Toronto Maple Leafs dealing Bill Ezard and Vic Lynn, wingers with Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League, to the Bruins.

The Derby with Galcedor, the Oaks with Amena and the St. Lezer with Serato II. In France although scoring 41 times with 132 runs, Boussac was third to Baron Guy de Rothschild and hotel owner Francois Dupre.

As in other post-war seasons, sports writers agreed that the Gallic triumphs could be attributed to one simple fact—Britain breeds for speed, France for stamina.

Delvin Miller Greatest Money-Winning Driver

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Delvin Miller, who drove Lusty Song to victory in the 1950 Hambletonian, is the greatest money-winning driver the harness racing sport has ever known.

The United States Trotting Association announced today that the 37-year-old rein-man from Meadow Land Pa., picked up $311,809 in purses for the season just ended.

Most of it came on the Grand Circuit tracks, with horses owned by W. N. Reynolds, the Winston-Salem, N. C. tobacco magnate, and the Hayes Fair Acres stable of Du Quoin, Ill.

Miller, an icy-veined driver who never worries, blasted the former money-earned mark by more than $127,000 in his biggest year behind a sulky.

The old mark for one year was $184,108, earned by Clint Hodgins of Clarksboro, Ont., in 1949.

O'Brien High Up

The Association's complete list of 1950 money winners will not be announced for three or four months. But followers of harness racing said when it does they are confident that Joe O'Brien of New Glasgow, N.S., and Alberton, P.E.I., will rank among the first 10.

Miller, who won his first race when he was 16 years old, has been operating on the Grand Circuit 12 years.

In this big year, he won 106 racing heats—probably tops in the country—says the U.S.T.A. He accounted for all four of the major stakes for the sport's history.

Not only did he win the $75,000 Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., with Hayes Fair Acres' Lusty Song, Miller drove Dudley Hanover to victory in the $56,000 Little Brown Jug. In the two-year-old division, he took the $41,000 Horseman Stake with the colt Mighty Fine, and the $33,000 Fox Stake with Solicitor.

Mighty Fine, probable winter book favorite for next year's Hambletonian, earned $52,800 this year to become the greatest money grabbing two-year-old of all time. The colt is also owned by Hayes Fair Acres.

Miller has another hot prospect, the juvenile filly, Betsy Volo, owned by Reynolds. Betsy Volo zoomed the mile in 2:03.5 this year, the fastest time for any two-year-old in 1950.

Miller "fell into" the Hambletonian assignment with Lusty Song last August. He took over the colt nine days before the race and brought him home to win the trotting Derby in two straight heats.

Victor of the Second World War, Miller posted three world's records during the season.

Toronto Argonauts Win Big Four Football Title

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP)—Toronto Argonauts won the Big Four Football Union championship today, defeating Hamilton Tiger-Cats 24-8 before 23,349 fans. The victory gave Argos the home-and-home total-points series, 35-19.

The Argonauts automatically became prohibitive favorites to meet the Saskatchewan Roughriders, 25 in the East-West classic for the Grey Cup. They meet their own "farm team" in Toronto Balmby Beach, Ontario Union champions, in the sudden-death clash for the Saturday title to be played here Saturday.

Beaches, taken over this season as a training team for Argos prospects, use basically the same system of plays as coach Frank Clair's club with some variations.

Clair, the former Buffalo University coach who replaced Tedder Morris after Argos finished out of the League playoffs the last two seasons, had his team in superb condition for its big test.

Coach Carl Voyles' Tiger-Cats, who finished first a point ahead of Argos in the regular schedule, were completely outclassed for three quarters. Argos wiped out their first-game margin with a nine-point opening quarter. Led 16-0 at half time and stretched the margin to 24-0 before Hamilton finally came to life in the last quarter.

Up on the ice to lay down a snappy pass to Bathgate along left wing at the opposing blueline that caught Halifax flatfooted. The Islanders' ace centreman scorer did the rest on the fly with a hard shot that never gave D'Aoust a ghost of a chance.

The closeness of those two periods of play was exemplified by the fact that there was only a difference of two shots on goal between the two teams at the end of that time. Gordon turned aside seven in the first and nine in the second for 16 while D'Aoust was called upon to handle nine in both frames for 18. The only two well known third period punch of the Islanders was in evidence again in the closing chapter. They banged in two more without allowing a reply to make their victory complete, and outplayed the Hallgangers to the tune of eight shots on goal to three on the frame.

Those last two goals were smart efforts too. Hub Beaudy got the first on an attack around the net with Dowling and Travis at 6:27. Dowling went in on goal for a close shot that was blocked, but Travis picked up the rebound to slip it over to Beaudy who fired it home. Kevin Conway set up the final score with a nine-length rush, passing it to Johnny Horeck as he was knocked down at the Halifax blueline. Horeck continued in around behind the net, to centre it out to Bathgate, the latter picking a small hole in the left corner with a driving shot to end a very classy attack.

Frenchman Heads British Racing

LONDON, Nov. 15 (CP)—Britain's 1950 flat-racing season ends Saturday with eyes fixed ruefully in the usual direction—across the Channel into France.

Whatever happens in the next three days, it's almost certain that the leading owner on the British turf will be a Frenchman who is only third in his country.

By another of racing paraverities, the leading trainer seems sure to be a former jockey from France who hasn't even visited Britain this year.

The two foreign horsemen who between them won most of Britain's big-money prizes are millionaire Marcel Boussac, who has collected a cool $57,000 (about $171,000) with horses bred at his Chantilly Stud, and his trainer C. H. Semblat. Marcus Marsh, trainer for the Aga Khan, still has a chance to overhaul Semblat, but the betting's on the Frenchman.

Boussac made his biggest bag in three English classics, winning

Exploding from behind a one-goal lead in the closing minute of the second period to rap in two goals in less than half a minute, the Islanders gave local hockey fans a good sample of why they are still the leaders of the Maritime Senior Hockey League. The action took place here at the Forum on Tuesday night when they humbled second place Halifax Saint Mary's with a 4-1 defeat.

But the action didn't stop there. After being held scoreless for nearly two periods they kept the offensive rolling in the closing frame to take the play away from the opposition and dent the twines twice more for their final margin of three goals. But it was anything but an easy go for the Islanders up until their second period outbreak. Playing to a none too smooth opening frame that went scoreless, the game really gathered speed from the start of the second period on.

The Halifax squad produced speed and smart passing that eclipsed anything they have shown here earlier this year. Led by the high flying line of Billy Watson, Danny Wilkes and Muckle Hollett, the Sentinarians really made it a rousing game and gave the Islanders plenty of anxious moments. It was a case of two teams turning it on, however, that made it really interesting and close.

Tearing down the ice at a terrific pace, the play shifted from zone to zone in a regular dangle of classy playing at times, with nothing more than smart goal-tending in some instances, and tough luck in others, that kept the scoring low. There were solo breaks, two and three man attacks and whole team gangster in on the net that kept the crowd in an uproar, but nary a score until Watson did the trick for Halifax at the 13:50 mark of the second period for a one goal advantage. It was a lone breakthrough from centre ice by Watson on Grabowski's pass and looked good all the way.

It looked like the one-goal lead was going to stand for the rest of the frame too. Halifax continued to hold their share of the attack in the wide-open play and things looked gloomy when the nineteen minute mark came up and slipped by. But it was just seconds later that the big change took place. Making his third appearance with the Islanders this season, Bobby Dowling was the primary charge that set off the big blast.

Taking up a position in front of the Halifax net during a pressure attack by Islanders, Dowling took Johnny Duchak's pass, but before he could get set to shoot D'Aoust dived out of his net to block it. Dowling, although neatly knocked over on the play, side-stepped the dive nicely to flip it in for a very neat score. The crowd hadn't stopped roaring for the first one when the red light flickered again, leading scorer Frank Bathgate doing the honors.

It came just 27 seconds after Dowling's effort. Taking the puck from his own blueline, where it had been shot in by Halifax from the faceoff, Danny Horeck rush-

Halifax St. Mary's In 7-1 Victory Over Moncton

MONCTON, N.B., Nov. 15 (CP)—Halifax St. Mary's shoved Moncton Hawks deeper into the Maritime Hockey League cellar tonight, handing the luckless locals a 7-1 defeat.

The game was a colorless affair attracting a small audience and reducing little apart from the tallons' display of scoring power.

Hawks lost the services of their star netminder, Les Colvin, early in the first period when a hard, rising shot off the stick of Black, struck the little cage cap between the eyes and knocked him unconscious. It was St. Mary's first shot on goal in the game. Seven stitches were required to close the wound.

Sub-goalie Fred Sonier replaced the injured Colvin and although having only 16 shots to handle looked weak on several of the St. Mary goals.

D'Aoust, meanwhile handled a total of 24 shots in the Halifax cage. Ford, Digeur and McGregor were the scoring stars for the winners. They each fired a pair of goals, and Ford also was credited with an assist. Buck was the other Halifax marksman.

Halifax led all the way, taking the lead near the 17-minute mark in the first period on Ford's first goal.

Hawks played a disorganized game compared with St. Mary's smooth passing attack, and the presence of Sonier in goal did not appear to spur their efforts.

St. Mary's concentrated their heaviest firepower in the second period after taking a 1-0 lead in the first. McGregor got his first goal at 5:37, followed by Ford with goal No. 3. Hawks lone tally came off the stick of McKenzie. St. Mary's then came back strong with two quick goals by Digeur and Buck.

Digeur opened the scoring in the last period, and McGregor ran the count to seven at the nine-minute mark.

The game was cleanly played, only two penalties, one to each team, being handed out.

Report Moncton Seeking Three New Players

It was understood here last night that the Moncton Hawks of the Maritime Senior Hockey League have been negotiating for three new players to strengthen their club.

Under the import player regulation deadline which was reached yesterday, however, it is believed that the Moncton management will have to receive the sanction of the other three Clubs in order to procure these players.

The Hawks team have apparently contacted the other three clubs to sound out their reaction on the situation, but whether or not they will reach a satisfactory agreement was not known last night.
