

Emergency Guards at Sea. Defence Cuts In P.E.I.

Medical Story Fascinating Book

A French speaking doctor, F. Fomigne Diclou, who was attached to the troops at Fort La-Joie in 1778 was the first member of the medical profession to practice in this province, and Dr. Roderick Macdonald, who came out here from Scotland along with more than 200 other emigrants in 1773 was the first English speaking doctor in this province, it is indicated in a book by Dr. R.G. Lea, Charlottetown which came off the press yesterday.

The book of 112 pages, "The Practice of Medicine in Prince Edward Island" provides a picture of early days from experiences of doctors of the time, that is fascinatingly interesting. Dr. Roderick Macdonald and Dr. A.A. (Gus) Macdonald at Sea in his eye glasses. The book is available in Charlottetown at the book store of Dr. R.G. Lea.

Dr. Eric Poud, president of the Prince Medical Association, explains that the society decided at their annual meeting last year that Dr. Lea go ahead with the full support of the society, to compile and have printed a history of the practice of medicine in the province. The book which is now available in the provinces book stores at the price of $2.00, is the result of a tremendous amount of work by Dr. Lea who is chairman of the society's archives committee.

The craft's six television cameras were designed to photograph the moon's surface during the last 10 minutes of its life as it plunged at an estimated 2,000 miles an hour to destruction. It is designed to return the first close-up picture of the lunar landing.

Thursday night, space scientists found it was on a course which would take it not to the moon but past it, 600 miles away. Early Friday, by remote control, they fired the 30-pound thrust booster rocket aboard the craft to correct the course.

ANNOUNCEMENT
Afterward, Dr. William Pickering, director of the jet propulsion laboratory which houses the Ranger moon exploration program, announced: "Everything continues to look very good. On the basis of the information radiobeacon back by the spacecraft, I can say that we have a very good chance of a successful landing. The spacecraft should land within a 150-mile diameter circle in a flat plain about 100 miles from the center of the moon."

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — The Evening Times (Globe announced Friday that the paper's Monday single copy price will be eight cents, an increase of one cent. The weekly home delivery price will be 50 cents, an increase of five cents. There will be no change in the 10-cent price of the Saturday issue containing Weekend Magazine and the color section. The price of the morning Telegraph-Journal, also published by New Brunswick Publishing Co. Ltd., will be unchanged at seven cents.

Sgt. Major T.J. (Tommy) Keefe (second) considered to be one of Prince Edward Island's two most famous police officers, will retire soon from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. He has completed 24 years with the force and plans to move to Western Canada to take up a civilian job. Here he is seen at RCMP headquarters in Charlottetown yesterday, starting the turnover of duties to his successor, Staff Sgt. H.C.E. Chipman, standing.

June 11 Seen Likely Date For U.K. Vote

By ALAN HARVEY
LONDON (CP) — With a degree of confidence not apparent previously, June 11 is being touted as the likeliest date for the long-awaited British election. Political commentators agreed Friday on the probable timing after meetings between Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home and Conservative parliamentarians. Official sources did nothing to discourage the June 11 consensus, but stressed two points—first that it is unlikely any firm decision has been taken by Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, and second that circumstances could easily cause a change of heart.

Arrest Of Bandits Here Recalled By Retirement

By RALPH CAMERON
A simple announcement by the RCMP yesterday of the retirement on pension of Sgt. Maj. T.J. Keefe recalled one of the greatest newsbreakers in this province in many years.

It goes back 19 years to a September day in 1945 when a ruse-gang at Covehead, suspicious of the heavy betting of a trio of strangers, called the attention of police to them. The two RCMP Constables Keefe and William Warner followed the suspects in a police car and at the Covehead Road en route to Charlottetown overtook them and ordered them to stop. At that time they had no suspicion they were after the infamous Ulysses Lauson.

The courageous policemen grappled with the gunman and Keefe picked up Lauson and buried him into Koresky. Under some persuasion Koresky gave up his gun and the trio surrendered. They were brought into Charlottetown and lodged in Queens County Jail from where they were taken the following morning for a preliminary hearing before Magistrate George J. Tweedy at 10 a.m. Justice Tweedy for the Supreme Court and remained in custody on pending charges.
