

Etiquette for the Street.

It is decidedly ill-bred to eat anything, even confectionery, in the street. No woman, unless in feeble health, should cling to a man's arm during a daylight stroll. Do not discuss politics, religion or love affairs in a public conveyance. Personal matters should never be introduced at a chance meeting if the third party is not conversant with the facts. No lady will accept a seat vacated by a gentleman for her convenience without giving in return a smile, bow or thanks. It is optional with a lady to recognize at the second meeting a gentleman who has upon a previous occasion rendered her a service. Handing words with an employe of a company is more waste of time, if he be insolent or unreasonable complain to those in authority. Street flirtations are in this enlightened age regarded as the height of vulgarity. One breath of good taste in this direction is enough to destroy your claims to good breeding.

Local Notices.

THE aroma of the tobacco leaf is so completely conserved in the manufacture of "Myrtle Navy," that age has no effect in diminishing it; even after the plug has been kept for years it gives out its full flavor under the combustion in the pipe, mellowed in tone by its age and making the most exquisite smoke which tobacco can be made to give. Age, too, hardens the structure of the plug and gives to the tobacco, when cut, that almost granular appearance in which all connoisseurs delight.

Still to the Front.

The Telephone Company P. E. ISLAND.

PARTIES using the Telephones would find talking much more satisfactory if they would observe the following rules:— 1st. Speak with the mouth about four inches from the transmitter. 2nd. Speak in a moderate tone of voice, not too loud, and distinctly. 3rd. Place the telephone so as to cover the ear, just as if you wished to shut out all other sounds. Do not press too hard on the ear. It is possible to talk and be heard when standing back two or three feet from the transmitter if you shout loud enough, but it is not a pleasant mode of conversation, it is entirely unnecessary, and is a needless waste of wind and lungs, besides being very annoying to all within range of your voice.
