Address to Hon. John Letourgey.

The Summerside Journal, received yesterday, contains the following:
To the Honorable John Letourgey:

DEAR SIR,—We cannot allow this opportunity to pass without expressing our sincere regret that circumstances will not permit you to contest the approaching election in the interest of our party.

For almost a quarter of a century you have uninterruptedly enjoyed the confidence of the majority of the electors of this, your native District.

And although taking an active part in the political arena must have interfered greatly with your private business, yet you never allowed that consideration to influence you when the interests of your country required your services, and in six political contests you have triumphantly carried the banner of the Liberal-Conservative party to victory; each time making success more certain and finally closing out all opposition.

Since you entered public life, and whilst you have had the honor of a seat at the Council Board of the Province, we have seen the Land Question set at rest, the Railway projected and completed, the Free School System settled, the Island united with the Sister Provinces in Confederation on the "Better Terms" basis, that relic of barbarism, Imprisonment for Debt, abolished from our Statutes, and many other useful and important measures matured and enacted.

And now, thanking you for your patriotic, loyal and disinterested services in the past, we venture to entertain the hope that your retirement at present may only be temporary, and, should circumstances require it, you may on some future occasion, again, allow yourself to become the standard-bearer of the Liberal-Conservative party in this place.

D. ROGERS,
Pres. Lib. Con. Assn. of
JAMES H. McNEILL, } Vice Pres.
H. C. MILLS, }
C. B. McNEILL, S. G. Y.

In reply to the address Hon. Mr. Letourgey is reported to have said,—

"Perhaps all period in the history of his life for the past twenty-one years had he felt so proud as on this occasion. He had represented this district for twenty-one years, and he was now retiring for a time. It gave him new encouragement to know that the Club had tendered him this address. He then referred to some length to the measures with which he had been identified, and said that while the Island was one of the smallest provinces, she was not by any means the least, and among the acts passed through our local parliament there were many that other countries were copying. Among them was the Land Act, which England was in some measure copying, and he thought the land question in Ireland was likely to be settled upon the same basis. After a reference to the railway question, he said that he had run six contested elections in this district, in which which he had always been victorious, and on one occasion the Liberals were generous, and allowed him to go in by acclamation, and he thanked them for it. He reviewed the history of the Liberal Conservative party of this Province during the past twenty-one years, with special reference to Confederation and the "Better Terms" which the party had secured from Federal government. He had represented the district nearly twenty-one years, and now was about to hand over his stewardship to the man who would serve them as well as he himself had done, or better. His successor might not be able to do everything they wished, but they should bear with him as they had with himself, for he would be associated with others in parliament, where a representative had to give and take, and could not always carry out the wishes of his constituents. He paid a tribute to the Conservative party, which had settled all the great political questions of the day, both in the Island and in the Dominion, and said they should be proud of that party and should remain true to it; they should stand shoulder to shoulder, and by so doing they would elect both their men. During the twenty-one years he had represented them he had not sought office or emolument, but had worked for the good of the country. It was true his friends had bestowed upon him on one occasion the office of Librarian, which he held for a week or so, and then they turned him out without paying him his salary (laughter), but he had come back to the people and they sent him to parliament again, where he had always done his best for them. For eleven or twelve years the party with which he was identified had been in power, an unprecedented record in the history of the Province. No man had been Attorney-General so long as Mr. Sullivan, who had left the Province in a very healthy condition. The country was not in debt. It was true they had drawn $200,000, but the Province was still several hundred thousand dollars better off to-day than it was ten years ago, owing to the policy of the Government, and no Province in the Dominion was in a better condition. It would be the duty of his successors to go forward and fight the Dominion for our rights. There were still large sums to our credit at Ottawa that should be collected before taxes were levied. We have already secured some concessions, one of $500,000, but a great deal was still due. As they had their candidates to nominate he would not detain them further than to thank the electors of the other end of the district for their support. He was proud of the vote they had always given him, and he would be glad to serve them again at a future time. He and his colleague had always got a solid, unbroken vote at the western end of the district, and success always followed it, and he trusted that they would give Mr. Rogers the same solid vote. He asked the electors of Summerside to vote squarely, and not split their votes or break faith with the western end of the district, but to give a solid vote for the two men and send them both to parliament. He concluded by again thanking them for past support, and by nominating Mr. Rogers to take his place, and he would say for him that he was proud to have the honor of nominating him as a man they could take hold of and elect, and who would make a good and faithful representative. He asked everyone who had supported him to give Mr. Rogers the same support and they would return him to parliament. They should give him and his colleague a solid vote, for it would be a solid one in Missoquoche.

News Notes.

The record of embezzlements in the United States last year tolled up to the very respectable figure of $8,562,753.

A scavenger at Los Angeles picked up a pair of trousers from a pile of driftwood last Saturday. He found $15 in the pockets and a silver watch.

Mr. Giffen, the English statistician, finds that the wealth per head of the richest three nations in the world is as follows: Great Britain, £270; France, £190; the United States, £160.

A Grand Trunk train, while near St. Hilaire, Que., on Monday, was blown off the track and three cars turned over, but the locomotive stuck to the rails. Several persons were wounded, but none seriously.

Sir Edward Clarke, Solicitor-General, has refused to accept a leading brief for the London Times on the action for libel brought against that paper by Parnell on the ground that he is a law officer of the Crown.

According to the figures of well-informed military men abroad, the rapid mobilization of the French, German and Russian armies would cost $100,000,000, and their maintenance in the field would cost $200,000,000 a month.

A Newark, N. J., landlady undertook to detain the trunk of one of her boarders until a bill of $4 for wear and tear of a sofa during a three months' courtship should be paid, but a local justice of the peace suppressed her effort.

At Auburn, Cal., a woman was watching her hens, which were scratching in the garden, when she saw them unearth a bright object and try their bills upon it. She took it into the house and it proved to be a chunk of gold worth $87.

Mr. Gladstone is at work upon six important articles for magazines, one of them being a critical review on Lord Penzance's poems. According to Macaulay, Mr. Gladstone was a great literary man more than forty years ago. He has never ceased to be great in literature.

P. A. McHugh, proprietor of the Sligo Champion, has been convicted of publishing boycotting notices, and sentenced to 4 months, without labor. He was also required to find sureties that he would not repeat the offence or be imprisoned for a further period of 10 months.

The audience in an Indian village in Michigan, becoming disgusted at the tamed nature of a theatrical performance, chased the actors out of the theatre and organized a dance. The orchestra, who were not a little scared, consented, without any coaxing, to provide the music.

A large tramp dog has created a sensation at Derby, Conn., by wading out in a mill stream until nothing but its head is uncovered, and then setting up a howl, which it keeps up for two or three hours. The animal evidently takes pleasure in the proceedings, for it has repeated it every afternoon for nearly a week.

Col. Voieikoff, an officer of the Czar's Body Guard, and some other officers of the same corps, have committed suicide. It is supposed they were implicated in a recently discovered plot against the life of the Czar. It is reported that the Czar's brother, the Grand Duke Sergius, will shortly be banished from the capital for meddling with politics.

There are two ships in the royal navy named after Oriental potentates, the Shah and the Sultan. Both have come back from the jaws of destruction, both went to the same jetty when they came home, both were considered fit for further service, and having been repaired at an immense cost, both will probably be sent to Rotten Row, the limbo of worthless warships.

Daniel Sullivan, a baseball umpire, died suddenly in Chicago last week. Heart disease was the cause. He had just finished singing "McGinty," and was laughing heartily with a couple of friends when the fatal moment came. Sullivan was thirty-four years old. He was a man of unusually heavy frame, all bone and muscle. Liquor never passed his lips, and he was apparently an athletic model.

A motion to commit the managers of the London edition of the New York Herald and the Freeman's Journal, of Dublin, for contempt of court, for publishing certain comments on the O'Shea divorce case, was argued recently. The motion was dismissed on the ground of informality in the proceedings, but permission was given for renewal of the motion of action, to be taken within a week.

Benjamin Harnett, whose home was on Capouse Avenue, Scranton, Pa., died on Monday. His brother Edward, aged twenty-five years, who lived opposite Benjamin, had been sick for some time. He was anxious to see his brother's funeral, and was lifted from his bed and placed in a chair at the window. He watched the funeral procession until it was out of sight, then he tottered to a lounge and died in a few minutes.

It is estimated there are 125,000 persons down with the influenza in Chicago. Of this number 12,000 are school children. There are 156 policemen sick, and on cable street car lines, several trains have been abandoned owing to the disease among the drivers. The mortality is becoming alarming. It never was so great as at the present time. There were more dead people on Sunday than the hearse could decorously carry to the graveyards.

In following up the plots of the Nihilists in Warsaw, the secret police discovered evidence implicating in the conspiracy against the life of the Czar, O. G. Goutcharenko, a young and beautiful girl connected with prominent Russian families. A few days ago the Chief of Police went to her house to arrest her, when the girl, suddenly drawing a revolver, shot him dead. She then turned the pistol upon herself and blew out her own brains.

Local and Other Items.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.—Owing to the heavy sleet storm last evening and the weight of ice and snow upon the wires it was deemed advisable to extinguish all electric lights after eleven o'clock.

WORLD'S FAIR.—New York has raised the six millions necessary as a guarantee fund for the proposed world's fair of 1892. Now its anxiety is that the Federal Government should give the fair its official endorsement.

SHIPPING.—The registered tonnage of New Brunswick at the commencement of the year is 337,078, a decrease from a year ago of 13,233 tons. The increase in the number of vessels is 10 ships, 26 schooners, 2 sloops, and 6 steamers. The province now has 56 ships, 121 barques, 11 barkentines, 631 schooners, 82 woodboats, 8 sloops, and 91 steamers.

STILL ANOTHER.—A middle-aged stranger giving the name of John Campbell, was taken in at the House of Refuge, Montreal, on Friday, but while taking his first meal he suddenly dropped dead. The coroner subsequently held an inquest on the remains, when a verdict was returned that death was occasioned through the excessive use of intoxicating liquors.

Mothers who have delicate children can see them daily improve and gain in flesh and strength by giving them that perfect food and medicine, Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites. Dr. W. A. Hullbert, of Salisbury, Ill., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in cases of Scrofula and Debility. Results most gratifying. My little patients take it with pleasure." Sold by all druggists, 50c. and $1.00.

HARD TO BEAT.—An exchange states that in the last year 42 different men have tried to beat life insurance companies out of the amount of their policies by pretending death, and about 30 of the lot are in state prison as a reward for their pacts. T at death, in the regular way, is the only thing that will bring the cash, and some of the companies hate to let go of it even then.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. Jan 7 '90.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, in the preface to a book on visions, says, with all a scientist's conservatism that once, watching by a death bed, the impression was conveyed to him that something—that is the word he uses—passed from the body into space.
