

Down by the Sea.

(Halifax Chronicle.)

We rise to enter a protest against the upper province papers continually referring to us "down by the sea." We are not down by the sea; on the contrary the "sea" is down by us. We are the most important thing in this vicinity, and "the sea" is only an outside agent. We wish to be understood as having a individuality of our own, apart from the fact that "the sea" happens to live around us. Why upbraid us for what we can't help? We didn't put it there. In fact it was there when we came. We simply accepted the situation, as we did confederation with this difference, that we improved on it, while confederation has not improved us. Do they imagine that we can't get along without "the sea"? If so, let them take it away and see if we can't. Perhaps this would be a good way to settle the fishery dispute, and as none of the other commissioners have advanced the idea we throw it out for the benefit of all concerned.

"Down by the sea," forsooth! One would think, from reading those upper province papers, that we were going round with wet feet on account of letting our pedal extremities going flop into the sea every time we turned; that we fed our cattle on eel grass; said "Hard a port" when we turned our horses, and had barnacles stuck all over us. Now, if they don't stop referring to us in this way some of us will leave and go to Maine and Massachusetts and Oregon and California, so as to be sure that there is room enough at home for the old folks to move round comfortably and get their feet dried.

"Down by the sea!" Constantly throwing up the same old epithet is not very strong evidence of their having a complete command of thoroughbred English, and besides it is a source of danger and constant nuisance to the "integrity of the empire." It is too vague and indefinite, and leaves the impression that we might be anywhere between the Azores and Van Diemens Land, floating on the bosom of the vast deep, with a fog horn in one hand, a fresh cod in the other, and singing "mother may I go out to swim?"

The coal and the iron and the gypsum and the limestone and the gold and the silver and the copper are all down by us as well as "the sea," but they don't seem to take much stock in those unless the imprint of her majesty is stamped thereon. Then why all these references to the sea? Do they want any of the products thereof? Not much! Who in Ontario wants a few cars of codfish in exchange for flour? Don't all speak at once.

Again, we are not the only people to whom they apply uncalled for derogatives. There's British Columbia and her "sea of mountains." If I were as big and as old as British Columbia do you know what I would do? Why, I would stand up and howl loud enough to drown Niagara Falls. Then I would reach out my good right hand and I would catch George M. Grant by the coat collar, and with my other good hand that I had left I would grab Edward Blake most anywhere, and I would shake them till—well, till they had enough. Then I would catch that phrase "sea of mountains" and I would bury it in the state of oblivion, for some other adjoining state, so deep that Gabriel's horn would sound like a lullaby.

We want erudite and accomplished editors who live away up by the "great fresh water stretches" to know that the drapery of our coat is no wet blanket and that no projecting fish bones deter us from taking our underclothes off over our heads when we elect to do so; that we have the richest country in natural products, and the cleverest relations, to be found anywhere under the great solar system or any other system; that some of us came here to stay and will continue to sniff the sea breezes and the mountain air, live in the briny surf or bathe in the full flood of a summer's sun, singing psalms of praise of this our shell-girt and cove-indented home "down by the sea."

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boscia's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

There is an eclipse this year that the astronomers failed to note. It was the eclipse of Adamson's Botanic Balsam over all competitors. It cures coughs, colds and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Price 10, 35 and 75 cents. dy wy lw

Why the Columbus Watch is the Best

THE Main Spring barrel is completely covered, making the watch perfectly dust proof.

There can be no interference between the Balance and the Barrel. The Regulator is nearly double the length of others, rendering accurate regulation a very simple matter. To replace a broken Main Spring, the Barrel can be removed without disturbing the Balance or interfering with the regulation. The pins of the Regulator are so formed and located that two or more coils of the Hair Spring cannot catch between the Pins and cause the Watch to stop or gain time at an unusual rate. The Balance comes under the round, or edge, the strongest part of the case, not as with all others, under the center and weakest part. The Main Spring Power is the lightest used in American Watches. The calculation of the Train is such that this Watch runs 8 to 10 hours longer than others, with one winding, giving more uniform power and rate. These are improvements that cannot be claimed by any other manufacturers, and once seen, all must agree with us in saying that this is the strongest and best Watch made; and with all the above improvements, the Columbus Watches cost no more than others.

TAMARAC

Alderman R. E. Elbeck, Kingston, Ont., says: "Tamarac Elixir" is the best medicine on earth for Coughs and Colds. In my own case it produced rapid and gratifying results. I caught a severe cold which it seemed impossible to break up, but continually became more thoroughly seated. Finally a hacking cough set in which troubled me day and night, causing soreness of the Lungs. Hearing your "Tamarac" highly recommended, I procured a bottle. The first dose eased the cough, and one bottle completely cured me. It is a splendid preparation, pleasant to the taste, and should be kept in every house.
