City Schools.

MIDSUMMER EXAMINATION — PRESENTATION OF PRIZES.

THE examination was concluded to day. The pupils of Rochfort and Queen Square schools were, at 12 o'clock, massed in St. Patrick's Hall; and, after singing under the laedership of Mr. Ross, and some excellent recitations by several of the boys, and speeches by Hon. John Longworth, Dr. Johnson, James Reddin, Esq., Rev. Isaac Murray, F. Brecken, Esq., Hon. Senator Haviland, Archibald Kennedy and E. J. Hodgson, the prizes were distributed. Mr. Hodgson highly commended John Power for his presevering and creditable efforts to obtain the historical gold medal; and recognized them in a practical manner by presenting him with a valuable book. The general prizes were presented by the Hon. John Longworth. We have not space to-day for further remarks.

St. Peter's Boys' Schools.

LAST EVENING the Schools in connection with St. Peter's Church, Rochford Square, were publicly closed for the summer vacation by His Lordship Bishop Binney, in presence of a large number of the parents of the scholars, and of others interested. The proceedings were conducted in the Boys' Schoolroom, a large, well lighted apartment, and which was very tastefully decorated for the occasion. The Rev. Mr. Hodgson gave a short address, in which he related the history of the School, now in its eighth year. He stated the whole number of scholars to have been 120, ten of whom have matriculated at Windsor.

The examinations had been conducted during the closing days of the term, by written papers; the results were announced by Messrs. Bambrick and Wilson, and the prizes were presented by the Bishop to the successful competitors.

H. Carvell, Diligence, etc., Pope's Works.
P. Carvell, Choir, Oliver Goldsmith.
G. Farish, Choir, ———

The very best feeling seemed to prevail among the boys, who loudly applauded the recipients of prizes. One novel feature was the presentation of a prize to the boy receiving the highest number of votes from his fellow scholars. Fred Starr was the boy thus honored with the confidence of his companions. The proceedings of the evening were enlivened with singing by the boys, under the leadership of Mr. Wilson.

Wounded Vanity.

IN our issue of Monday last, we referred to the close of Mr. Lathern's ministerial labors in Charlottetown. We expressed our regret that this gentleman, who has made himself so generally popular, both by his ability and modest demeanor, will soon leave us. We mentioned the fact that the service of Sunday morning was conducted by the Rev. Howard Sprague, and that an able sermon was preached by him, and, also, that the Rev. Mr. Lathern delivered his valedictory in the evening, to a very large congregation. But it never struck us that we were guilty of the unpardonable sin of omitting the name of Mr. C. P. Fletcher, "Leader Methodist Choir," in connection with the services. As a consequence of our sin of omission, Mr. C. P. Fletcher, "Leader Methodist Choir," has rushed into print and threatens the terrors of his righteous indignation if we do not speedily and sincerely repent of our error. All our readers are acquainted with the fable of "the Kingdom of Apes," and cannot fail to associate Mr. C. P. Fletcher with the King of the Apes, who was informed by "Plain Dealer" that he seemed "to be but a dignified sort of an Ape." When we alluded to the inability of choirs generally to make appropriate selections of hymns for particular occasions, we little thought that the mantle of Handel had fallen upon the shoulders of this C. P. Fletcher. It did not occur to us that Sims Reeves, who has been so successful of late as a leader of concerts in England, had a rival who is willing to dispute with him the claim of being the representative choir leader. Mr. C. P. Fletcher has been guilty of practising a little pious fraud upon those who have honored him with a perusal of his epistle, in suppressing the most important part of the truth about the selection of the verses sung at the close of the discourse on Sunday night. The selection of the hymn, we are told, was in accord with the wishes of Mr. Lathern. This may be so, but we opine that the rev. gentleman must have experienced a shock of astonishment at the close of his very touching address, in which he alluded to the pastoral ties of affection which bound him to the congregation of Prince street Church, when Mr. C. P. Fletcher introduced his voluntary, as a sort of triumphant Hallelujah Chorus, to give the rev. gentleman a good "send off." The pious fraud of Mr. C. P. Fletcher consists in trying to convey the idea that the simple hymn, which presents such a modest appearance in print, was in no way altered or transformed by the tune to which it was sung. On the contrary, the words "we will rejoice" were sung five times in succession, and then repeated five times more, making ten times in all before they were dropped. The peculiar and inappropriate tune selected by Mr. C. P. Fletcher reminded us of the one very much sung in the Southern States, which begins with: "Send Down Sal"—"Send Down Sal"—"Send Down Salvation;"—"Sal. is coming," "Sal. is coming," "Salvation is coming."

We are willing to let Mr. C. P. Fletcher "rejoice" over a typographical error in our short article of Monday, which made reasonable read seasonable. We might indulge in a little triumph if we were meanly disposed to take advantage of a typographical error and quote a line of his production, which reads, "Why did be not quote the words;" but we know that the error is the printers, and therefore pass it by as such. The only suggestion that we have to make to Mr. C. P. Fletcher, with a view of gratifying his self-sufficiency, is to perch himself upon a stand in the pulpit of the church immediately in front of the choir, and grind out his choice selections with a barrel organ. He is evidently trading upon the merits of the fine choir of the Methodist Church in the past for distinction when he signs himself "Leader Methodist Choir." The large, respectable and intelligent congregation that worships in the Prince Street Methodist Church has, for twenty years previous to his assuming the Leadership, been accustomed to excellent and superior music.

CABLE FROM WHITEHAVEN TO SABLE ISLAND.—We are glad to learn that the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Mr. Pope of Prince Edward Island, will inaugurate his tenure of office by carrying out this almost necessitous connection. In reply to a question put in the Senate, last session at Ottawa, by Hon. Dr. Almon, of Halifax, the Dominion Government promised that they would lay a cable from Whitehaven to Sable Island. When Mr. James Whitman, of the Whitehaven Railway connection, mooted this idea, some years ago, some thought he was visionary.—Colchester Sun, June 25.

HILLSBOROUGH PARK.—About seven o'clock every evening a crowd of unruly boys congregate on this beautiful spot of ground, and by their general bad behavior, including obscene language, preclude invalids and others who would like to take a walk on the Park, from frequenting the ground. Surely the police cannot be strangers to this fact.

Methodist Conference.

On Thursday, at noon, the Conference Prayer Meeting was held. Most of the ministers were present, besides many of the people from the city. It was a hallowed time. Committees met in the afternoon. Yesterday morning, Rev. W. R. Knight, M. A., preached his "trial sermon," and this morning, Rev. W. R. Pepper. Ministerial character was examined with closed doors. It was a matter for gratitude that no charge was preferred against any member of the Conference. Almost all the Conference Committees have been formed. Rev. S. F. Huestis, President of the Nova Scotia Conference, took his seat on the platform this morning.

ASTONISHING LIBERALITY—$4,000 SUSCRIBED IN A FEW MINUTES.

For a few years past the Missionary Board has been extending its operations too rapidly for the means at its disposal. Consequently a debt of over $60,000 has been incurred, This threatens to seriously cripple the work of the Church in many departments. It is preposed to raise in the six Annual Conferences a sum of about $200,000 as a Thanksgiving fund, to pay the debt and extend the work of the Church. The other Conferences have already taken action in the matter. Unanimously and heartily they have fallen in with the scheme. Most liberal amounts have been promised by by the ministers, representing great sacrifice and noble devotedness to their work. Dr. Sutherland, Mission Secretary, and Rev. J. Shaw, President of the Toronto Conference, are here as a deputation on behalf of this proposed fund. The Conference enters heartily into their plans. This morning the matter was brought to a practical point by opening a subscription list. As the brethren announced the amount they were prepared to give, they made short speeches of an experimental nature. Often during the service, as some aged brother spoke of his devotion to the cause of God and the favors which he had received, there was scarcely a dry eye. The feeling was quite overpowering. Some of the old men declared that they had never experienced anything like it. Over twenty of the ministers promised $100 each—one of them going as high as $150, and several of them to $110. About twenty more of them promised $50 each. $200 were promised by the ordination class of seven, and $80 were promised by four candidates. In a very short time about 80 ministers subscribed the noble sum of $4,000. Such generosity surprised everybody. Spontaneously the Doxology was called for by many brethren, and most lustily sung.

Counterfeit Notes.

WHERE THEY COME FROM.

ON Thursday we warned our readers to beware of counterfeit legal tender notes which are now in circulation. It has hitherto been a mystery where those counterfeits are manufactured, but the following note received on Thursday by Mr. W. W. Clarke, and left by him at our office for publication, shows plainly where they come from:—

NEW YORK, June 21st, 1879.

DEAR SIR,—I can supply you with goods out of which you can make a fortune. My offer is made in confidence, and I hope you will not abuse it. I have counterfeit five dollar notes for sale, which will defy detection. I only deal face to face, and will meet you at any hotel in this city and show you my stock, from which you can make your own selection. A thousand dollars in my goods costs one hundred dollars, but will sell larger sums at a discount. Awaiting an answer, I am,

Yours truly,
