BRITAIN'S POPULATION DECREASING.

Popular Calculators Predict the Decennial Census Will Disclose a Loss.

Population calculators predict that the decennial census for the United Kingdom, which will be taken next year will reveal a startling shrinkage in the native British race. According to estimates issued by the Registrar-General England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales will contain on April 1, 1901, a population of 41,249,000, compared with 33,104,000 in 1891, or a total increase of 8,145,000, which amounts to only 8 4 per cent. less increase than in the preceding decade, and 3.5 per cent. below the lowest ratio of increase recorded in any previous decade.

London expects to hold its own as the biggest city on earth. According to the expectation of the registrar general, it will return a population of 4,500,000 for the city proper, or a modest gain of 300,000 since 1896, when a municipal census was made. By including, however, the population of the whole Greater London, which takes in a dozen suburban towns within a radius of about 15 miles without any distinct demarcation, the total will probably reach 6,300,000.

For the first time the census will exhibit the nationality of aliens living in the British isles. There is keen speculation here as to how many Americans will be found to be living under the protecting folds of the Union Jack. When the last census was taken the American colony was so insignificant that it was not considered worthy of a place in the table of foreign residents. Now Uncle Sam's British sons and daughters run into the tens of thousands. Conservative estimates place their number at hardly less than 25,000, due jointly to their commercial invasion of the kingdom and the continuing popularity of Anglo-American marriages.

People Who Have Used It

Say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine affords wonderfully prompt relief for coughs and colds. Everybody has confidence in Dr. Chase, in his great recipe book and famous family remedies. They have learned by experience that it pays to insist on having Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine instead of accepting the various unscientific "mix-ups" which some druggists offer as "just as good." Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine contains many of the most valuable and most effective remedial agents for throat and lung troubles that science has discovered. It acts so directly and promptly as to be of incalculable worth in all cases of croup, bronchitis and whooping cough. It is so far-reaching in its effects as to loosen the tightest chest cough and cure the cold of long standing. 25c a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60c. at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

OBITUARY.

After a short illness of heart failure, at his home at West River, on Wednesday, 12th December, 1900, William Ross departed this life in the 72nd year of his age, much and deservedly regretted by his wife, three daughters and three sons to whom he was a kind husband and devoted parent. His sudden death after an active life leaves a blank in the community which is not easily filled. The interment was postponed till the 16th December, awaiting the arrival of his daughter from Boston. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. McIver, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Long Creek which he was a member. The esteem in which he was held for his kind and unassuming manner was amply demonstrated by the large cortege (consisting of over eighty teams) that followed his remains to their last resting place in Long Creek cemetery.

(Other papers please copy.)

At Covehead Road, on Dec 7th, John Carroll, aged 59 years. The deceased was a kind and obliging neighbor and was highly respected by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He was attended in his last hours by the Rev. Father McGuigan. His funeral, which took place on Dec 9th, from his residence at Covehead Road, was largely attended. The pall bearers were James McGrath, Robert Webster, John Whalen, Richard Mahar, Benjamin Gill and George McLeod. The service at the grave was also conducted by Rev. Father McGuigan.

CAPE COLONY.

In the Disaffected Districts.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—The position of Cape Colony is hanging in the balance. According to the Morning Post's Cape Town report everything depends upon the quantity of ammunition in possession of the disloyal Dutch residents, fifteen hundred of whom have joined the Boers in the Philipstown district alone. Energetic measures have been taken to stop the invasion, but there is unquestionably danger that parties of Boers will get through into parts of Cape Colony and gradually raise the whole Cape into rebellion. Reinforcements can arrive none too soon. Most of the despatches from Cape Town, however, describe the raiders as doing little harm and as becoming rapidly enclosed by Lord Kitchener's combination. Lord Kitchener is in the heart of disaffected districts. He has the advantage of being personally acquainted with the local conditions. He is bringing down thousands of troops from the north.

The Standard's Cape Town correspondent says the loyalists demand that martial law shall be proclaimed throughout the Cape Colony but adds "such a step is now impossible owing to the lack of sufficient troops to enforce it."

The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Cape Town says: "The pro-Boer press are singularly quiet. It has been made uneasy by the promptness and the thoroughness of the military action, but the reports from various parts of the western province foreshadow perilous possibilities. A responsible colonist who recently made a tour of the Colony, declares ninety per cent. of the Dutch are simply waiting for the appearance of a responsible leader to rebel. Civic railway traffic has been suspended largely in all parts of the Colony."

NEXT TO MURDER

A doctor, who keeps his patient at home, when he ought to send him away—for money—ought to be held responsible.

So ought we, if we mislead. Our offense is greater than his, because we endanger thousands of lives by one advertisement—millions read it.

Some few must go for a change of climate, or die; but, to thousands, Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil is cure at home.

We'll send you a little to try if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto.
