

"Covers Prince Edward Island Like The Dew"

MacNaught Positioned For Cabinet Post

By Queen's member, J. Angus MacLean. However, there is strong possibility that this portfolio might go to a New Brunswick member, H.B. Robinson, who has represented Gloucester riding in the Commons without a break since 1953. He piled up a margin of well over 7,000 on April 8.

Mr. Robichaud is a former fisheries inspector and director of fish for New Brunswick from 1947 to 1952 and thus would have a claim on the post by reason of closer association with fisheries than Mr. MacNaught. But it is usual for each province to be represented in the cabinet and if Mr. MacNaught is not given fisheries, he may receive some other cabinet post, possibly as a minister without portfolio. In any event all speculation is expected to end later this week when Mr. Pearson and his new cabinet will probably be sworn into office.

MR. MACNAUGHT

Four Youths Surrender In Theft Case

SCARSDALE, N.Y. (AP)—The last of four youths who stole a tin box containing $53,100 surrendered to police Monday and handed over $3,500. He was accompanied by his parents.

The boy identified was John O'Connor, 16, who is being held for grand jury action on charges of kidnaping three 15-year-old boys and one 15-year-old.

When the boy was identified as John O'Connor, 16, who is being held for grand jury action on charges of kidnaping three 15-year-old boys and one 15-year-old.

O'Connor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Connor of Scarsdale, brought the theft to light Saturday after they found nearly $15,000 in the boy's room.

They notified the other parents after young O'Connor told how the four removed the tin box from a hiding place in the home of Marie Walsh, 46, a magazine distributor.

The parents turned the boys over to authorities. Juvenile authorities are handing the cases of the three 15-year-old boys.

New Hope Given In Kidney Cases

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A new discovery may mean hope for patients with failing kidneys.

So far only a handful of patients have been operated on, but the results are promising, Dr. Peter F. Salisbury of Burbank, Calif., reported Monday.

The surgical technique—an operation provides an outlet for wastes by cutting into the small intestine and venting it through the body's surface.

When these vital organs go bad, the body becomes poisoned by unremoved waste products.

The kidneys are the body's filtering plants for removing wastes from the blood and releasing them from the body as urine.

When these vital organs go bad, the body becomes poisoned by unremoved waste products.

Estes Given 15-Year Term

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Bankrupt promoter Billie Sol Estes was sentenced to 15 years in prison for mail fraud and conspiracy in manipulating worthless fertilizer tank motor-forges worth $24,000,000.

Federal Judge R. E. Thomas overruled a defense motion for a new trial. He described the one-time millionaire financier as "the most gigantic swindler in history."

Britain Seen Resigned To Nuclear War

MOSCOW (AP)—Ievleva says the secret British security pamphlet leaked in London probably is resigned to having a nuclear war and is preparing for it.

"The government of Great Britain is proceeding on the policy of the inevitability of a nuclear war and is actively getting ready for it," the government newspaper says.

Firemen Sowed By Mud, Snow

Gordon Houston, 63, a farmer in the South Rustico district died yesterday afternoon in a fire which destroyed the 65 by 30 foot barn on his farm. It was located on what is known as the Buffalo Road, which runs between the South Rustico-Wesley River Road and the New Glasgow Road.

The fire of unknown origin was first discovered at about 3 p.m. and the alarm turned in to the New Glasgow Fire Department.

Firemen reported that several head of cattle and one horse were destroyed. Four pigs were saved but it was expected that they would have to be destroyed due to extensive burns.

At the height of the barn fire, flying embers ignited the house, located a short distance from the barn. It was only through a concerted effort the house was saved with minor fire damage, but extensive water damage.

BOY FOUND
The body of the victim was found in the centre rear section of the barn, near the pig sty. It was transferred to the city by MacLean's ambulance.

Firemen said snowdrifts left by the last storm hampered their getting to the fire, which was located about three miles away by the shortest route.

With two large water trucks an attempt was made to get through this last short road. After getting about half way through the drifts, however, the trucks and the rig were forced to backtrack to the main highway.

Firemen said snowdrifts left by the last storm hampered their getting to the fire, which was located about three miles away by the shortest route.

Russians Plan Power Station Located On Moon

LONDON (Reuters)—Russian scientists have completed plans for building a nuclear power station on the moon which would beam electricity to the earth in the form of a ray of light energy. Moscow radio reported Monday night.

The electric energy could also be transferred to the earth using equipment aboard a space-ship to convert it into a radio beam.

The broadcast said special devices on earth would convert the beam into electricity.

The electric energy could also be transferred to the earth using equipment aboard a space-ship to convert it into a radio beam.

ISLANDERS ABOARD New Reported Safe As... Sealer Sinks

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The 70-man crew of the Arctic Sealer, which sank early Monday off northern Newfoundland, will probably be landed at Botwood or Lewisporte by a sister ship, the Arctic Endeavour, a spokesman for the government said late Monday.

(Two Prince Edward Island sealer crews were reported to be in the same vicinity. Both vessels are owned by Shaw Steamship Limited of Halifax.

The Halifax-owned Sealer went down in a bay after springing a leak while hunting scattered seals in the Canada Bay area of Newfoundland's great northern peninsula. Her pumps could not handle the water, but further details were not available.

The crew, many of them Newfoundlanders, were picked up by the Arctic Endeavour, which had been hunting for the Sealer since it was reported to have sunk off Canada Bay in northern Newfoundland Monday.

Seventy crew members were rescued. (CP Wirephoto).

were slowed to a crawl by deep mud.

By the time the firemen arrived the blaze had made considerable headway and had already started to threaten the house.

Also lost in the blaze were several tons of hay and straw. No machinery was housed in the building.

The incident is being investigated by the Charlottetown detachment of the RCMP. Chief Coroner Dr. I. E. Prowse of Charlottetown was called to the scene and after viewing the remains, announced that there will be no autopsy or inquest.

Western Secrets To Talk Strategy

BOSTON (AP)—Night club entertainer Johnny Mathis, at liberty on $200 bail on a charge of assault and battery on Miss Carol Reppucci, 22, of Revere, Mass., in a Boston night club Monday, was defended in South Boston District Court Monday.

Mathis, who had entered a plea of not guilty, did not appear when he was called for trial.

Miss Reppucci, who appeared to testify against Mathis, said in her accusation that he slapped her face when she tried to take his picture.

Power Station Located On Moon

LONDON (Reuters)—Russian scientists have completed plans for building a nuclear power station on the moon which would beam electricity to the earth in the form of a ray of light energy. Moscow radio reported Monday night.

The electric energy could also be transferred to the earth using equipment aboard a space-ship to convert it into a radio beam.

The broadcast said special devices on earth would convert the beam into electricity.

The electric energy could also be transferred to the earth using equipment aboard a space-ship to convert it into a radio beam.

ISLANDERS ABOARD New Reported Safe As... Sealer Sinks

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The 70-man crew of the Arctic Sealer, which sank early Monday off northern Newfoundland, will probably be landed at Botwood or Lewisporte by a sister ship, the Arctic Endeavour, a spokesman for the government said late Monday.

(Two Prince Edward Island sealer crews were reported to be in the same vicinity. Both vessels are owned by Shaw Steamship Limited of Halifax.

The Halifax-owned Sealer went down in a bay after springing a leak while hunting scattered seals in the Canada Bay area of Newfoundland's great northern peninsula. Her pumps could not handle the water, but further details were not available.

The crew, many of them Newfoundlanders, were picked up by the Arctic Endeavour, which had been hunting for the Sealer since it was reported to have sunk off Canada Bay in northern Newfoundland Monday.

Seventy crew members were rescued. (CP Wirephoto).

ARROW LOCATES where 800-ton sealing ship Arctic Sealer was reported to have sunk off Canada Bay in northern Newfoundland Monday.

Seventy crew members were rescued. (CP Wirephoto).

Talks On Exports To Begin

By ALAN DONNELLY
OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's second export promotion conference opens Tuesday amid hopes it will jolt many Canadian businessmen out of an inferiority complex that they can not compete on world markets.

Trade Minister Macleod said in an interview Monday he hopes the three weeks of conferences between businessmen and his department's 130-man force of overseas trade commissioners will inspire the businessmen to take a look at wider fields.

"I'm satisfied that a great many Canadian businessmen are suffering under an inferiority complex, feeling they can't compete in export markets."

"All the evidence I've had in the last few months is that there are a great many Canadian firms which can compete, by reason of the quality, design and price of their products."

Trade commissioners from 64 countries will be available for private 10-15 minute interviews in the Government-General's "temporary" building, four blocks west of Parliament Hill, that housed the trade department during the Second World War and post-war years.

A Liberal source said the new ministers probably will include all of Mr. Pearson's initial cabinet with the exception of ministers of industry and eastern agriculture—posts Mr. Pearson said he would commission to carry out the letter of the law.

TO ANNOUNCE DATE
Mr. Pearson also said he would announce soon after the cabinet list he has promised will meet May 16, as promised in the election campaign, or later.

The North Atlantic Council meets here May 22-24, and the centre block on Parliament Hill which houses the Commons and Senate is believed to be the only quarters in Ottawa suitable for the meeting of the 15 NATO countries.

After the meeting, Mr. Pearson told reporters:
"I have nothing to say except that we had a pleasant talk on the mechanics that would be taken up in the cabinet list."

INSIDE TODAY
Announcements, notices 12
Births, deaths 1, 13
Classified 10, 13, 14
Comics 11
Editorials 14
Kings, Queens, City 5, 6
Finance, markets 14
Summerside 10
Prince County 3
Sports 10
Women's 7

P.C. Degree-Granting To Be Gradual Move

If legislation is passed to allow Prince of Wales College to become a university, the expansion to university status will be gradual, Dr. George Dewar, minister of education, said yesterday.

Nothing has been given in the Legislature by Dr. Dewar that he will introduce a bill at the present session which will enable the college to grant university degrees.

He added, however, that it will probably be "enabling legislation," that can be passed in the House at a date decided upon by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-council.

NOT OVERNIGHT
Dr. Dewar said, "the college won't spring into a university overnight in the next few years."

Meanwhile, it has been suggested that if the college be designated a university, it will provide a four-year course after Grade 12, there would be a displacement from the college of Grades 11 and 12 students and, as a large percentage of these students are from Charlottetown, work will have to be provided for them in city schools.

While, as Dr. Dewar recalls, there was no mention of displacement in the bill, it is thought that the committee would be planning ahead, possibly by making an unnecessary strain would be made on existing school work in the city.

RECENTLY, a committee of Charlottetown citizens, which studied the feasibility of Prince of Wales College becoming a university, presented its findings to the government.

While, as Dr. Dewar recalls, there was no mention of displacement in the bill, it is thought that the committee would be planning ahead, possibly by making an unnecessary strain would be made on existing school work in the city.

PICK UP 74 PERSONS
The final stages of the march against violence, Police picked up 74 of the demonstrators—six of them women—mainly from banner carrying groups around Buckingham Palace and swinging punches in the Whitehall government centre.

DISTRIBUTE PAMPHLETS
On Good Friday, before the columns were fully into their stride, the agitators within the mob—the bomb makers—were out distributing pamphlets detailing 11 underground sites earmarked as centres of regional administration should a nuclear attack disrupt the central government.

There seemed no question that the information contained in the pamphlets on use Nor was there much doubt that a grave breach of national security had occurred.

Home Secretary Henry Brooke, whose department is responsible for the government's security agencies, said in a newspaper interview: "This is the work of a traitor."

The outcome of these disclosures could only mean embarrassment for the Macmillan government, already harassed by evidence that Soviet spy rings have operated successfully for long periods in Britain without detection.

She will have her baby in Washington.

First-String All-Male Marches Britain's Ban-the-Bomb Parade

LONDON (CP)—Britain's annual ban-the-bomb parade ended Monday night in a furious, fist-swinging climax with 74 persons arrested and the nation rocked by yet another security scandal in London in the thousands, the curious band of beatniks, delinquents, racialists, intellectuals and professional agitators found themselves embroiled in bitter clashes in the Whitehall government centre.

On Good Friday, before the columns were fully into their stride, the agitators within the mob—the bomb makers—were out distributing pamphlets detailing 11 underground sites earmarked as centres of regional administration should a nuclear attack disrupt the central government.

There seemed no question that the information contained in the pamphlets on use Nor was there much doubt that a grave breach of national security had occurred.

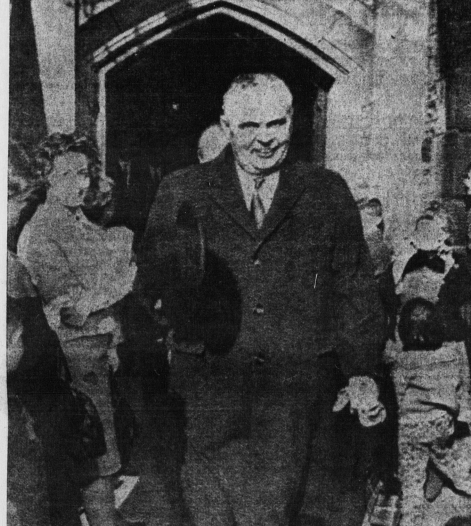

Home Secretary Henry Brooke, whose department is responsible for the government's security agencies, said in a newspaper interview: "This is the work of a traitor."

The outcome of these disclosures could only mean embarrassment for the Macmillan government, already harassed by evidence that Soviet spy rings have operated successfully for long periods in Britain without detection.

She will have her baby in Washington.

TOURISTS ON Parliament Hill press close to Liberal leader Pearson Monday after he met with Prime Minister Diefenbaker for 20 minutes to discuss the changeover to a Liberal government, expected later this week. (CP Wirephoto)

PRIME MINISTER Diefenbaker leaves his East Block office on Parliament Hill in Ottawa Monday after discussing the mechanics of a government changeover with Liberal leader Lester Pearson. Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters he would meet with the Governor-General "possibly tomorrow" to discuss the situation. (CP Wirephoto)

Diefenbaker Resignation Expected Entered Today

By JAMES NELSON
OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said at a 20-minute meeting with Liberal Leader Pearson Monday he will resign his office on Friday.

Mr. Pearson, whose party will be sworn in on Friday, will be called on to form a government. The Liberal leader said he hopes his cabinet will be sworn in on Friday.

COURSE CLEAR
The course, however, was clear. Mr. Diefenbaker first tenders his resignation and waits for the Governor-General's approval. Without immediately accepting it, the governor-general invites Mr. Pearson to form a government.

Mr. Pearson will ask for time to consider it and later submit his cabinet list for vice-regal approval. When it is accepted he will be sworn into office with his new ministers. The resignations of the old ministers then take effect.

Gov-General Is Improving

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor-General Vanier continues to make "very satisfactory progress" from the mid heart attack he suffered last week, a government house spokesman said Monday.

The spokesman said that Queen Elizabeth and President Kennedy were among the many persons who sent messages wishing the 74-year-old Queen's representative a quick recovery.

In an apparent reference to the change-over in government expected to take place by next week, the spokesman said the governor-general "will be able to carry out the duties required of him within the next few days."