GRAND TEMPERANCE CONVOCATION.

An adjourned meeting of this assembly was held, agreeably to appointment, in the Court House, on Thursday evening last—Edward Palmer, Esquire, M. P. P., in the chair.

The house was crowded to excess, the gallery overflowing with ladies; and though many whose countenance and influence might have been essentially servicable to the cause, entirely abstained from bearing act or part in the matter, more than the house could comfortably accommodate evinced that they felt it good to be zealously affected in a good thing, and came prepared, as afterwards appeared, to listen with attention and interest to what might be advanced, and to give a helping hand to aid forward the cause of philanthropy and christian benevolence.

The meeting was opened by a short and appropriate address from the chairman, explanatory of the object of the meeting, and by the singing of a Temperance Hymn, selected for the occasion.

The Rev. John Knox being then called upon, delivered an Address which aroused the sympathies of the audience, and arrested their profound attention for nearly two hours, during which he traversed the whole field of argument and facts bearing upon the subject, and left not a stone unturned, which might operate as a "stone of stumbling" or "a rock of offence," nor a clod of the fallow-ground unbroken which might have a tendency to cover and to cherish the seed which he bountifully scattered; and, as if to test to what extent the soil which he helped to cultivate was adapted to the tillage which he employed, and how far the germs of total abstinence had taken root in the land, he moved the first in the following series of Resolutions, which was seconded by Mr. Isaac Smith:—

1. That the "declaration" of the New British and Foreign Temperance Society, having the cordial approbation of this meeting, they do now form themselves into an Auxiliary to that Institution, to be called the Prince Edward Island Auxiliary to the New British and Foreign Temperance Society.

The "declaration" Mr. Knox stated to be as follows:—"We the undersigned do agree, that we will not use intoxicating liquors as a beverage, nor traffic in them; that we will not provide them as an article of entertainment, or for persons in our employment; and that in all suitable ways we will discountenance their use throughout the community."

—which having been submitted, approved and engrossed, a book was opened for signatures, and forty-five names were immediately appended to the pledge.

A handsome collection was taken up on the occasion, and the meeting was rendered peculiarly impressive by the singing of appropriate hymns.

The following Resolutions were severally put and carried:—

Moved by Mr. Isaac Smith, seconded by Mr. J. Boyver—

2. That a meeting of those who have signed the abstinence pledge this evening, be held on Wednesday evening, the 3d of February next, in the National School Room, for the purpose of framing a Constitution for a Society, and for the choice of Office-bearers.

Moved by the Rev. James Waddell, seconded by Mr. C. Cross—

3. That the thanks of this meeting be given to Solomon Desbrisay, Esq., High Sheriff of Queen's County, for his kindness in granting the use of the Court-House on the present occasion.

The Chairman then left the Chair, and the Rev. James Waddell being called thereto, the thanks of the meeting were given to Edward Palmer, Esq. for his kind attention to the business of the meeting, and for his able conduct in the chair—and the meeting dispersed.

Copies of the Pledge have been left with the Rev. James Waddell, the Rev. John Knox, and Messrs. J. Boyver, Geo. Beer, jun., John Williams, J. B. Cooper, and John Pidwell, for the purpose of affording every facility to persons who may wish to enrol their names on the list of members, previous to the meeting appointed for the due organization of the Society.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLONIAL HERALD.

Sir; A writer in your paper of the 9th inst., under the signature of VERITAS, has made an attempt to answer my letter, published in your previous number, and would feign justify the appointment of Mr. Young to the Legislative Council, if he only knew of any reasonable grounds for it, to present to the public.

If his letter came beneath the eye of His Excellency the Lieut. Governor; I am inclined to believe he would be apt to say, "save me from my friends!" Had Veritas had a little earlier acquaintance with the character and conduct of his favourites, the constituency who returned Mr. Young to the House of Assembly, he could, I think, hardly have forgotten one, at least, pretty notable instance, where they, or a strong party of them, required "the arm of the law to restrain them from extremities." As I suspect Veritas to be too young in acquaintance with the politics of the District which returned Mr. Young, I leave you, Mr. Editor, to refer him to the instance which occurred in the winter of 1838 (I think it was), when a few private gentlemen from Charlottetown, being upon an excursion of pleasure in that District, were at first sight supposed to be the Sheriff of the County and some peace officers, on their way to execute law process, and were met and assailed by an armed party of the inhabitants of the District—"men of independence, seeking for their just rights, and that no otherwise than constitutionally." Such was the aspect presented by these peaceable and constitutional subjects, that able and courageous as were the few gentlemen alluded to, they actually, as they afterwards stated, and will yet state, if called upon, considered their lives in danger! What the consequence would have been, had they really been the Sheriff and his party, I do not think it very difficult to imagine. What the meaning of "just rights" may be, in the opinion of Veritas, and those persons whose conduct, as thus proved, he would justify, he has not informed us. We know certainly that a celebrated character, named Turpin, when he discovered one man was burthened with more money than he required for the comforts of life, used to consider it a "just right" to relieve him of some of it by a very short and effectual process of his own, and then distribute it amongst himself and his more needy neighbours.

But Veritas considers, as many more ingenious and industrious writers, under his signature, have done, that logical reasoning can best be overcome by one or two such sweeping sentences as "most unfounded imputation"—"fallacious statements," &c. The only part, probably, that I should have taken notice of in his letter is that wherein he says His Excellency "has acted according to his instructions,"

Now, here lies the rub. Veritas has placed the key in our hands, but he has not shown us the door; he has, however, put us on the road leading plainly, as he would give the public to believe, to a disclosure of this mystery, which has so much excited their curiosity. Will he therefore have the goodness to inform us, Mr. Editor, of the particulars of these instructions? When and from whom it was that His Excellency received them? and the particular time, and by whom it was that Veritas was made acquainted with their existence?

In conclusion, if Veritas thinks me an aspirant to the situation to which Mr. Young has been appointed, he is very little aware of the mistake under which he labors. Let me assure him, I envy not the celebrity Mr. Young has acquired, and I will take it upon myself to say, that if his friend were possessed of a mind susceptible of the species of popularity and estimation his appointment has obtained for himself, he would hesitate a little before he would suffer Veritas to impute to me, or any other individual of ordinary feelings, disappointment at not having received the honour which has been conferred upon him.

I am, your obedient servant,

O. P. Q.

Queen's County, Jan. 19, 1841.

P. S.—How did Veritas find out that I am a "Mr. P?" You, surely, did not peach, Mr. Editor; if so, pray tell no one else, or has Veritas guessed at it? Really, in that case, he must be the Hon. Bill Dill Mill, for he is too knowing by half.

Yours,

O. P. Q.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLONIAL HERALD.

Sir;—Having noticed for some months back a considerable space of your columns taken up with a flaming advertisement of William Douse's, Esq., Land Agent for the Earl of Selkirk, setting forth the advantages which he offers to Immigrants arriving in this country, I beg leave, for the information of your readers, to state the conditions of a lease which now lies before me, and which was lately given by the gentleman just alluded to, to what appears to be a very decent, respectable person of this description. The quantity of land leased is 75 acres, and is situated in one of the most inconvenient localities in the whole Island, being in the very interior of the country, about three miles back of the Murray Harbour road—on what is to be handed down to posterity under the designation of Douse's Settlement. The lease is for twenty one years, and bears date the 22d Sept. 1840. After stating that all the Pine Timber on the land is reserved, it goes on to say that the lessee has to pay the yearly rent of two pounds per annum, for the first three years, and of five pounds for the residue of the term—the first payment thereof to begin and to be made on the first day of March next ensuing, that is about three months before he can put a hoe in the ground. But the last is the unkindest cut of all—"Provided always, that if there should be any neglect or default in making and extending the improvements, as above mentioned, or if the said rent shall be in arrear for the space of twenty-one days, after the day herein before mentioned and appointed for the payment of the same, and the said rent shall be lawfully demanded, upon or at any time after the expiration of the said twenty-one days, and not paid when demanded, then it shall and may be lawful for the said Andrew Colville, &c. either to sue or distrain for the same, or into and upon the said demised premises to re-enter, and the same to have again, retain, possess and enjoy, as in their first and former state."

I offer no comment on the above terms, but leave the world to judge of their liberality—and in conclusion, take leave to say, that heretofore a more generous and indulgent proprietor than the Earl of Selkirk never owned an inch of land in this Island, and that I can hardly bring myself to believe that terms so harsh, so cruel, and so directly calculated to rob a poor man of the fruit of his toil and labour, were ever prescribed by his Lordship or his Trustees. As the lease referred to is a public document, and of course open to every man's inspection, I hope you can have no objections to give the above a place in your useful periodical.

I remain, Sir, your obedient servant,

AN ELECTOR FOR THE THIRD DISTRICT OF QUEEN'S COUNTY.

January 15th, 1841.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLONIAL HERALD.

Sir;—If you think your readers will be amused by my free translation of the following Stanza of Horace, which occurred in my task this morning, you are welcome to insert it in your paper:—

"Fortuna sacro lata negotio, et Ludum insolentem ludere pertinax, Transmutat incertos honores, Nunc mihi, nunc alii benigna."

Fortune rejoicing in "an awkward fix," Insults us oft by playing scurvy tricks; Thus when she finds Green will not pay his fee For seat in Council, offers it to me.

I am, Sir, yours,

JUVENIS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLONIAL HERALD.

Sir;—The anniversary of the Three Rivers Temperance Society was held in the Brudenell River School-house on the 1st inst., when about one hundred individuals collected to celebrate that event. After the business of the Society had been gone through, the company sat down comfortably to an excellent cup of Tea—their usual pledge of union—and enjoyed their entertainment with great delight. Whoever would compare that quiet yet lively feast with one into which the intoxicating bowl would be introduced, though it might not be indulged in, further than to produce what the polite world would call hilarity, would have to acknowledge the supreme delight enjoyed by the former, over that which could be expected to be enjoyed at the latter.

The Society numbers upwards of two hundred—a number of respectable individuals from Georgetown having joined us—and we are proud to believe, that in point of strict conformity to the Rules, it is second to none on the Island. We regret to know, that the state of the roads deprived many from the country of the satisfaction of attending the late Meeting held in the National School-room; but we hail with satisfaction the proceedings of that Meeting, and the Resolutions adopted by it; and most heartily will we assist in any measure which may tend to promote that good cause throughout the Colony.

Our Office-bearers for the present year are— Arthur Owen, President. Neil Shaw, Vice President. John MacNeill, Secretary. Brudenell River, January 18th, 1841.

PORT HOOD, Dec. 11.—The three masted schr. Novelty, belonging to Messrs. J. Cunard & Co. of Miramichi, bound to Cork, experienced very severe weather in the Gulf, carrying away her rudder and best bow anchor. They then got out sweeps, expecting by this means to be able to get into the Gut of Canso. From the unmanageable character of the vessel, she drifted off Mabou, when the crew, worn down by suffering and fatigue, were running her on shore—considering it better, by this course, to save the cargo and materials than to abandon her. When almost on shore, she was boarded by J. L. Tremain, Esq. agent for Lloyd's, who unwilling to see the vessel destroyed while there remained a single hope of saving her, ordered the kedg to be let go, when all hands left her for the night. Next day she was boarded and got under weigh, in the hope of making Mabou harbour, but the wind veering round, she went on shore near the mouth of Mabou River. Mr. Tremain, being determined not to give her up while in sight of the harbour, proceeded, notwithstanding the surf, to unload her. After working incessantly day and night for some time, with almost incredible labor and fatigue, the weather being severe, they succeeded in getting all the deals on shore. They then attempted to get her into the river, and after the most strenuous efforts, were successful. The vessel and cargo are both in a place of safety. The saving of the vessel is wholly owing to the almost unparalleled exertions of Mr. Tremain, who was ever present, assisting at the work, and using the utmost efforts to prevent the labourers, worn down by their protracted labour, and the severity of the weather, from giving up in despair.—Cape Breton Advocate.

"Far from me be the iron heart, that for such a defect (that is, of Episcopacy) I should think any one of them (the reformed Churches) to be cut off from our communion, or with certain raving writers among us, think them to possess no valid sacraments, and so pronounce them scarcely christian."—Archbishop Wake.
