Boxer Captures First Pro Bout; And Dies Later

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Boxer Henry Alvin Brown won his first professional bout here Sunday night and died 10 minutes later.

Brown, 26, was sitting dazed on the canvas when the referee stepped over to raise his right glove at the end of the six-round bout.

He had been downed by a crashing left hook and a short right to the jaw from opponent Linton John. Brown fell heavily hitting his head on the canvas. He was lifted out of the ring and 10 minutes later two doctors pronounced him dead.

The fight, witnessed from the ringside by Brown's wife, mother of six, had gone Brown's way until the last round when John waded in in a desperate bid to snatch victory.

Referee Bill Brown consulted the judges walking across the ring to declare Brown the winner.

Big Brothers Ask Liston For Next Bout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big Brothers of the Washington area asked heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston to stage his second match with Floyd Patterson here and give some of the proceeds to help fight juvenile delinquency.

Liston, an ex-convict who first got into trouble as a youngster, replied from Philadelphia, "nothing can make me happier to accept this offer."

"The Big Brothers specialize in "man-to-boy" help for youngsters who lack a father, either because of death, divorce or desertion.
