The problem of provincial expenditure for social services they could not afford and relief of unemployed who refused to work.

The joint address which was adopted in the House of Commons without division, was a petition to the British Parliament to amend the British North America Act in two respects.

Under the constitution provinces may impose only direct taxes and the indirect taxation field is restricted to the Dominion.

There was little debate on the long council phase of the address but Hon. Raoul Dandurand, government leader, declared from the floor that no motion could be accepted that would take anything away from the address.

Cites Danger

Opposition to the address had been based mainly on the conviction expressed by Mr. Meighen that to legalize imposition of indirect taxation to the provinces would be to make it possible for each province to set up what would be an effective tariff wall about itself and lead to disintegration of the Dominion.

Roving Arab Bands Attack British Troops

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) JERUSALEM, June 10—(C. P. Havas)—Six men, including a British constable, were injured today in a series of attacks launched by armed Arab bands on British troops and police in various parts of Palestine.

The constable was injured by a stone hurled during a clash with Arab demonstrators in Jerusalem. Roving Arab snipers ambushed a military patrol on the railway across Esdraelon Valley and damaged Jewish property. The patrol fought its way out after a brisk exchange of fire.

British troops and Arabs clashed

ment without a disastrous imposition of taxation."

Mr. Cahan said he did not think it mattered much whether the stock of the Bank of Canada was all owned by private shareholders, all by the government or some by the government and some by private individuals as was now proposed.

Government Control

There never was any doubt the Bank of Canada was under government control. The present government was taking steps to make that control more obvious.

"I have no strong objection to that," said Mr. Cahan. "But I do think the government should be protected from temporary emotional and passionate demands from its supporters and others for large increases in the issue of Dominion notes and for the use of those notes for other purposes than as a medium of exchange."

If inflationary proposals now being advanced were adopted they would reduce the value of the Canadian dollar to a few cents. They would reduce the value of all savings, all salaries, all wages, all pensions while increasing the cost of the necessities of life. All endowments of religious and charitable institutions, schools and universities would be cut to a fraction of their present value. It would place four-fifths of the people now self-supporting on government relief or charity.

Dealing for a moment with Social Credit theories, Mr. Cahan said he thought solution of the problem with which Social Credit was concerned "must await the solution of another problem which has concerned men for thousands of years, namely the problem of perpetual motion."

Social Crediters proposed to distribute purchasing power to the people as they needed it. Purchasing power was of little use unless there were goods to purchase and goods could only be produced by work. But if all people got purchasing power without work no one would do anything needed to produce goods, he said.

The only way such a system could be established even by a Social Credit government would be for the government to conscript labor, assign to each man and woman the work he was best suited for and compel him to perform the work. Any government that attempted to establish such a slave state would "simply ensure that the heads of the ministers would very shortly adorn the lamp-posts of the capital city."

William Hayhurst (S.C.-Vegreville) said the Social Credit theory did not contemplate pay without work. There was not enough work to go around. Farmers and manufacturers with modern machinery could produce all the goods needed and still there would not be enough work for all. Consequently it had become necessary to pay people whether they worked or not.

at Hebron, where five men were injured. The military camp at Nablus was the target of another attack.

Despite the troubled situation, Arab labourers have not quit work on military defence projects at Haifa or on the hydro-electric station at Dahraim.

HEARING COMPLETED

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, June 10.—Findings of a Nova Scotia government commission investigating the collapse of the Moose River gold mine will be made to the public soon after receipt of a sworn statement from Dr. D. E. Robertson, one of the three Toronto men trapped by the cave-in.

Barristers Donald G. Grant, counsel for the estate of Herman Magill, and J. A. Hanway, K.C., counsel for the government, completed today their summation of evidence taken by Deputy Minister of Mines Norman MacKenzie, Mr. Justice W. F. Carroll and J. H. Cunningham and it was made known the commission had completed its hearings except for the evidence Dr. Robertson has to offer.

Charged with fixing responsibility for the finding cause of the cave-in Easter Sunday night which trapped Dr. Robertson, Alfred Scadding and Herman Magill 141 feet underground for 10 days and caused the death of Magill, the commission was set up shortly before prorogation of the Nova Scotia Legislature May 2.

Harvester Head Tells Of Duty Effect On Prices

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, June 10.—The House Agriculture Committee inquiring into the cost of farm implements will resume the hearing of Charles R. Morrison of Chicago, President of the International Harvester Company tomorrow. Mr. Morrison gave evidence early today but this afternoon the session was taken up entirely by W. G. MacDonald, committee auditor.

Mr. MacDonald submitted figures dealing with the operations of International Harvester for the past 10 years.

Canadian customs regulations which empowered National Revenue Minister to fix the fair market value of importations into the Dominion had as a consequence the boosting of farm implement prices to Canadian farmers from 10 to 12 per cent higher than implements were sold in the United States, said Mr. Morrison. Telling Canadian authorities were not willing to allow the importers in Canada the 25 per cent discount which the International Company was willing to give, he said.

motorvessel could not continue her flight much longer without replenishing supplies.

The Girl Pat sailed from Grimsvik, England, early in April, supposedly bound for the North Sea fishing grounds. After she appeared at the Port of Corcubion, Spain, 10 days later, her owners filed charges of marine theft against the captain.

At Corcubion the chief engineer, G. F. Jefferson, was left ashore and the motorvessel sailed without clearance papers leaving an unpaid bill of $1,175 for supplies and repairs.

While the owners were hearing Captain Osborne's long suppressed desire to "live the life of Robinson Crusoe" the Girl Pat put into Dakar, Senegal, and sailed again without notifying the port authorities.

She was not reported again until today when the wireless message was received from the Lorraine Cross, but meanwhile London reported that before Captain Osborne set out he obtained maps and charts of an island where Captain Kidd's treasure and another board of gold, lost when a Spanish vessel foundered 20 years ago, were believed to be buried.

Seaman-Duncan Wedding Today

The marriage took place early this morning at Trinity United Church of Mr. Arthur B. Seaman, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seaman of Alberton, to Miss Edna Freocella Duncan, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Duncan, City. The Rev. Hugh Miller performed the ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives and friends.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Sheldon Duncan, looked exceedingly winsome, wearing a gown of turquoise blue lace with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Lona Duncan, sister of the bride, wore pink silk organza with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Russell Seaman. A reception at the bride's home attended by intimate friends followed the ceremony.

The directors of the company will be authorized to pay dividends not exceeding five per cent.

Three recommendations came before the members urging a survey of the church work with a view to economy and efficiency.

Heated Discussion

HAMILTON, June 10.—Sarnia Presbytery's overture recommending the minimum stipend for ministers be reduced to $1,600 and manse, injected some heat into discussions of the Presbyterian General Assembly today. The present figure is $1,800 and manse.

When he rose to second the motion A. A. McDonald of Charlottetown, P. E. I., declared he heard a remark he considered unwarranted. "I heard Rev. J. B. Skene say 'The man who seconds that ought to be shot,'" said Mr. McDonald. Mr. Skene is from Toronto.

In explaining why he favored the overture, Mr. McDonald said there were congregations calling a minister at $1,800 with an arrangement the return $400, $500 or $600.

To Survey Church Work

HAMILTON, Ont., June 10.—(C. P.)—A committee of 15 men, six ministers and nine laymen was appointed today to survey the entire work of the Presbyterian Church in Canada during the next year, to recommend any changes necessary to promote economy and efficiency.

The committee selected at the Presbyterian General Assembly, comprises the following ministers: Rev. Dr. J. S. Short, Barris, chair-man; Rev. Dr. James MacKay, London; Rev. R. A. Cranston, Welland; Rev. T. D. McCullough, Toronto; Rev. Dr. D. McDermid, Brockville; elders: D. M. Rowat, K. C. Montreal; John Thomson, Owen Sound, Ont.; J. A. MacLaren, Barrie, Ont.; R. M. Sedgewick, Toronto.

Assistant ministers: Hugh Munro, New Glasgow, N. S.; Dr. Frank Baird, Picton, N. S.; Rev. W. G. Brown, Saskatoon; W. A. Cameron, Vancouver. Assistant elders: Judge A. G. Farrell, Regina; Sheriff Ronald McVicar, Sydney, N. S.

The committee appointed to study the dissonance between the congregation of Prescott and the
