Entertains At Rotary Luncheon

Mr. Henry B. MacLean of Vancouver was the guest speaker at Rotary yesterday. He was substituted for Mr. John Badger of the Public Relations Department of the Swiss Watch Guild, who due to illness was unable to be present. Mr. MacLean who is widely known throughout Canada for the institution of the MacLean Method of writing, entertained his audience with some very clever words of magic which were appropriately spun with a distinctive type of humor.

Co-chairman for the meeting were Mr. Roy Cudmore and Mr. Russel Cruickshank. Rotarian Gordon Kerr assumed the Presidency of the Rotary Club and was introduced by the retiring president, Dr. George Fisher. A pleasing feature of the luncheon was a tribute paid by Canon Eshay of England who during his stay on the island was the guest at six Rotary meetings. Canon Eshay spoke feelingly of the hospitality extended him during his visits to the local club and in appreciation presented the President, Frank Curtis with the Club Banner of Litchfield Club in England.

Guests of Rotary introduced by Ralph Jones were: S.A. Young, Fredericton, N.B.; Canon S.G.B. Exham, Litchfield, England; G.W. MacLeod, Moncton; Gordon Welner, City; Judge Walter E. Darby Summerside; Donald MacIntyre, City; D.J. Kingsbury, Montreal; Harold Milligan, Summerside.

Speaks On Work Of Christian Training Centre

The need for a Christian Training Centre in the Atlantic Provinces was explained last night by Rev. John T. Stewart, principal of the Atlantic Christian Training Centre at Tatamagouche, N.S., at the monthly meeting of Trinity Men's Association. He told of the growing need for trained leaders in church work and recalled that the Atlantic Training Centre is the last of four which have been established across Canada. Rev. Mr. Stewart made an urgent appeal to the laymen of the Church to support the organization pointing out he did that it will cost the Government $65,000,000 to build the Army Camp at Camp Gagetown; $70,000 to train a jet pilot and $45,000 to train a soldier in the Army. The speaker said that laymen of the Church as never before, are coming to the fore and a marked revitalization was evident among them. The training centre at Tatamagouche is open to lay leaders of all age levels but is particularly attractive to young people trying to find their vocation in life. Rev. Mr. Stewart was introduced by Prof. Gordon Bennett and thanked by Mr. Stewart Pierce. The President of Trinity Men's Association, Mr. Kenneth Parker, occupied the chair at last night's meeting which was the first of the kind in the province. The meeting opened with a prayer by Dr. G. ## Marvel No One Killed In Quebec Train Wreck

RIVIERE BEAUDETTE, Que. (CP)—The train wreck started with the scream of steel on steel and ended with the whimpering of women and children. That was the story told Monday by the 505 passengers of the CPR-CNR's Toronto-Montreal No. 6 express which came to grief here last night when it collided with a car at a level crossing. (First reports minutes after the wreck said in error that two persons were killed.) Fear and shock was followed by confusion that lasted an hour, but there was no panic, eye-witnesses said. Many of the passengers marvelled that none was killed. Some 40 were injured, 11 seriously enough to be held in hospital, but none was reported in serious condition. One uninjured passenger was only nine days old. Men grabbed emergency axes and hacked their way from buckled cars. Passengers praised crew members, and crew members praised passengers for courage. NINE CARS DERAILED

Nine of No. 6's 15 cars were flung from the rails, one toppling to its side. The steam locomotive slipped from the rails but remained upright; the automobile "rolled up" like paper under its cow-catcher. Hailed as a hero was this town's police chief, Gilles Bourbonnais, who broke into a wrecked coach and backed their way from buckled cars. Passengers praised crew members, and crew members praised passengers for courage. NINE CARS DERAILED

Katie Regains Strength After Mountain Climb

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Katie whipped across the big island of Hispaniola Monday, causing heavy damage, then spun into new power 700 miles east southeast of Miami.

Mountains of Hispaniola reaching to 7,000 feet staggered the season's 11th tropical storm but at 5 p.m. EST the Miami weather bureau said Katie "is becoming more organized and regaining strength." At that time the centre of the storm was about 50 miles east-northeast of Turks Island, two dots of land with about 2,000 inhabitants and several smaller uninhabited islets.

Katie was moving north-northeast at about 18 miles an hour and had winds of hurricane force (75 miles an hour) over a small area near the centre. Gales extended outward 50 miles to the east and 30 miles to the west.

Katie heavily damaged two small towns straddling the Haitian-Dominican border. These two countries share the island just east of Cuba, and pulled at least two injured passengers to safety, then aided the train crew in removing other occupants.

The passengers, recovering from daze and shock, remembered the accident in many different ways. One wide-eyed girl could remember only "an odd silence and a whimpering woman." She said nothing at all about the scream striding metal that other passengers heard when engineer Gerald Collard slammed on the brakes as he saw the stalled automobile. Another passenger remembered being fascinated to see a baby hanging from a baggage rack, thrown there by the crash. The smash came at 9:30 p.m. when the train out of Toronto was 60 miles from Montreal, roaring through this town which is not a stop.

The Ottawa-bound automobile had stalled on the crossing and Gerald Sincennes, 25, of Eastview, an Ottawa suburb, was unable to get it going again. His fiancée, Jacqueline Carriere, 24, "froze" in terror in the car, the third passenger, Fernand Parent, 26, grabbed the girl and threw her into a ditch as the train approached. Sincennes, who had tried desperately to push the car from the rails, jumped clear seconds before the crash.
