Emergency Food In Labrador

HALIFAX (CP)—An RCAF aircraft from Goose Bay Sunday dropped a ton of emergency food rations on a clearing near the south coast Labrador community of Old Fort, isolated for some time by Strait of Belle Isle ice.

Police and firefighters were searching tons of brick mortar debris for the body of Mrs. Susan Johnson, who apparently plunged some 40-feet from her fifth-floor bedroom when the building caved in.

Only the rear wall of the Harrison Avenue tenement withstood the collapse. Fire officials said the wall was tied to an adjoining building at each floor by iron fire escape platforms.

Diefenbaker Turns Sharpest Criticism On Prime Minister

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Alta. (CP) John Diefenbaker has accused Prime Minister St. Laurent of deliberately making a statement about the Progressive Conservative party which is "either frivolous or false or both."

What seemed like open civil war was averted as Brig-Gen. Leon Cantave walked out of Desallines barracks, followed by hundreds of his soldiers. Cantave had barricaded himself there Saturday.

This ended a threat of Col. Pierre Armand, who tried to take over Cantave's job as army chief of staff to smash the barracks with artillery and tanks.

Both Cantave and Armand were at Fignole's side at the inaugural ceremony.

Armand is to retire from the army. Its command remains under Cantave until a new army chief of staff is appointed.

This is expected to come soon. Col. Antonio Kebeval, commander of the southern military district, is rated most likely to get the job. Cantave indicated he will step out as soon as a new chief is chosen.

At Peace River, centre of a big northern farming area, he concentrated on wheat and on Trade Minister Howe, who is responsible for wheat marketings.

"There will be no improvement in the agricultural situation so long as Mr. Howe remains in the position of the dominant controller of the government," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

A Conservative government would act vigorously to restore wheat markets. And as one step it would make it clear to the United States that this country should not be shipping the bulk of its raw materials for processing in the U.S. while the U.S. wheat giveaway program was destroying Canadian wheat markets.

Civil Strife In Haiti Averted

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (CP) Daniel Fignole, 43, was inaugurated provisional president of this stormy Caribbean republic Sunday, ending for the moment a crisis that threatened to plunge the country into civil war.

Thousands of Haitians, workers and peasants, immediately took over the streets of this bullet-splattered capital in wild celebration. They rolled upon the grass surrounding the presidential palace and in the dusty streets.

Demonstrators fired hundreds of pistol shots into the air and blocked all traffic as they cried praises of Fignole, one of the presidential candidates.

Little Theatre Guild Winner Of Trophy In Drama Festival

The three-act play "Journey's End" by R.C. Sheriff, was presented Saturday night at St. Peter's Cathedral Hall by the Charlottetown Little Theatre Guild and won for this group the trophy awarded annually by the Drama Festival Association for the best play in Class 2D, open to any three-act play produced in any community of Prince Edward Island.

Described by the Adjudicator, Professor H.F. Sipprell, M.A., C.D.A. as "a stern play, a farce, almost the only, literary product arising out of World War One," this play involved an all male cast set in dugout near the Front Line. It attempted to portray the character of a young British company commander and his fellow officers as they reacted under the constant strain of war.

Other awards presented at the concluding session of the Drama Festival Trophy for the winner of Class 2A, one act play, royalty or non-royalty, open to any group, rural or urban, awarded to the Little Theatre Guild for "Lights Out"; the C.W.L. Trophy for the winner of Class 1B, three-

THREE FIRED FOR LAXITY

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek fired the garrison commander and two police chiefs Sunday for poor handling of Friday's anti-American riots.

The Nationalist Chinese president then asked U.S. Ambassador Karl L. Rankin to convey to President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles his profoundest regrets at the riots, in which the U.S. Embassy and information office were wrecked and 13 Americans hurt. Thirty-two Chinese also were hurt and one was killed.

The mob outbreak protested a U.S. court martial acquittal of Master Sgt. Robert R. Reynolds, 42, of Colorado, Md., accused of the voluntary manslaughter of a 33-year-old Chinese man. Reynolds told the court he caught the man looking through a bathroom window while his wife was taking a shower, and shot in self defence when the intruder came at him with a cudgel.

Chiang Acts After Riots

Chiang dismissed the Taipei garrison commander, Lt. Gen. Huang Chen-wu; the commander of military police, Lt. Gen. Liu Wei, and the chief commissioner of police of Formosa, Lt. Gen. Lo Kan.

But premier O. K. Yui's cabinet remained in office. Chiang rejected his resignation Saturday while the country's top watchdog body, the Contro Yuan, ordered an investigation to determine whether the authorities could have coped with the rioters better.

Named new garrison commander was Gen. Huang Chieh, commander-in-chief of the army, who will hold both posts. Named to succeed the military police commander and Formosa's chief police commissioner were their respective deputies, Maj. Gen. Wu Chih-Hsing and Maj. Gen. Chen Yu-ching.

U.S. ANGERED Chiang, who returned Saturday from his retreat at Sun Moon Lake in central Formosa, spent an hour with Rankin in a Sunday conference at the president's home.

The ambassador afterward told reporters Chiang had expressed his regrets about Friday's incidents. Rankin said he had asked the president for the meeting to impress upon him the seriousness with which the United States viewed the matter.

He pointed out, he said, that the police made no determined effort to disperse or discourage the mob when it first began to form or even afterwards. He told the reporters the Chinese should have had the means to cope with the situation much sooner. The rioting was crushed only after martial law was declared and three divisions of Nationalist troops moved in.

"We are all upset and angry over what happened," Rankin said. But he added he hoped the Chinese could make amends "and that in time relations will be as good as before."
