IN MEMORIAM

MARY PATRICIA MCKENNA

After a lingering illness and despite the best of medical skill, on September 27, 1952, at the Charlottetown Hospital Mary Patricia McKenna departed this life for one where there is neither suffering nor pain; "For we know if our earthly house of this habitation be dissolved, that we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in heaven."

It will long remain in the memory of those who knew her more intimately with what truly Christian fortitude she bore the sufferings of those final years and months in this vale of tears. Possessed of many fine qualities of mind and heart, never was she known to murmur or complain. Always will she be remembered as one who ever looked upon the brighter side of life.

Her largely attended funeral was held on September 30 from St. Malachy's Church, Kinkora. If there be anything except the Holy Mass itself that could cause her soul to rejoice, then nothing could bring her more bliss on that day than the large concourse of relatives, friends, and acquaintances who came to pay their last respects and assist at the Funeral Mass — the same Holy Sacrifice that she attended so faithfully, even to the Sunday preceding her death.

Solemn Mass of Requiem was offered by her brother, Rev. Leonard McKenna, assisted by Rev. Claude Shea and Rev. Preston Hammill as deacon and subdeacon respectively. Rev. Eric Robin was Master of Ceremonies and Rev. Parnell Wood thurifier. Present in the sanctuary were the following members of the clergy: Rev. Francis McQuaid, Kinkora; Rev. Patrick Walsh, Palmer Road; Rev. Louis Callaghan, Indian River; Rev. Eugene Murray, Summerfield; Rev. Leonard MacDonald, Wellington; Rev. J. W. McCardle, Montague; Rev. Wilfred Keefe, Rollo Bay; Rev. W. D. MacDonald, Grand River; Rev. Kenneth MacMillan, Kelly's Cross, Rev. T. P. Butler, Fort Augustus, and Rev. William Simpson of St. Dunstan's Extension Dept., assisted the choir.

Pallbearers were the four brothers — Louis, Maurice, Charles and Austin, and the two brothers-in-law, Russell Noonan and Thomas McAvinn.

BURGESS BEDTIME

strange legless stranger turned into that branched path. A moment later, the old mother Mouse came racing out of that path with two of the babies clinging to her. If ever there was a frightened Mouse it was she. She brushed past Mite, the two babies still clinging to her. The stranger had disappeared in that home. Presently he returned. Somehow he had a satisfied look. Mite turned and took to his heels. Somehow he knew without being told, that there were no longer any babies in that home visited by the black stranger. Also, he knew that he had discovered one more enemy to watch out for.

Mite ran as fast as he knew how. First along one little path, then another and another. The little paths crossed and recrossed through the grass. Quite by accident he came upon the mother Mouse and her two babies.

"Has he gone away?" asked Mother Mouse, in a trembling squeaky voice.

"I don't know. I didn't stop to see. Who is he, anyway?" said Mite

"He is Prowler the Blacksnake," squeaked Mother Mouse. "And if you are wise, you'll keep out of his way. He swallows folks like you and me whole."

The young Mouse shivered. He didn't like the thought of being swallowed whole. Somehow, it seemed worse than being caught by teeth or claws. Here was one more enemy to watch out for.
