A Hopeless Invalid.

SUCH WAS THE CONDITION OF MISS RODD, OF BROOKLIN.

An Editor Relates the Story of Her Illness and How a Remarkable Change in Her Condition was Brought About.

From the Gazette, Whitby, Ont.

For some five years the editor of this journal has made weekly visits to Brooklin in search of news. One of his earliest recollections of the village was in noting that Miss Levina Rodd was very ill. Miss Rodd was well known, and as week after week rolled round, it was natural to ask how she was getting on, and the reply always came that she was no better. Time went on and it became a settled fact that Miss Rodd was a confirmed invalid and that such she would continue until a kind Providence took mercy on her by allowing death to end her sufferings. None of the villagers anticipated any other ending. Our astonishment can be better imagined than described, therefore, when Miss Bert Wells hailed us one morning with "Well, editor, we have some news for you today." "What is it?" "Why, Miss Rodd has gone on a visit to Columbus friends." "Why, I thought she was a confirmed invalid?" "So she was, but she has been improving so much lately that she is now able to help herself a good deal; and it was thought a change of scene would do her good." "That is certainly news," replied the quill-pusher, "and good news too; but what cured her?" "Dr Williams Pink Pills," replied Mrs. Wells. We then decided to ask Miss Rodd upon her return for an interview; but it was some time before it took place, owing to the limited time at our disposal between trains, and partly owing to a desire to wait and see if the improvement was likely to prove permanent. However after many put-offs, we finally called at the home Miss Doolittle, a sister of Miss Rodd's, who has carefully cared for her during the long illness. At the request of the editor Miss Rodd made the following statement: "I am fifty years of age and have lived in Brooklin ten years. Five years ago I was taken ill with acute rheumatism and have not done a day's work since. The trouble began with my feet and the swelling extended to my arms, wrists and shoulders, and finally settled in my neck. I had such pain that I was obliged to use a walking stick to ease me in moving about and two and a half years ago the stick had to make way for a crutch. At this time I used to get up a little each day, but it was not long before I was denied even this privilege, and the next six months I was perfectly helpless and bed-ridden. I could not even turn my head or put a cup of tea to my mouth. I got completely discouraged after ineffectually being treated by two physicians and trying the different medicines recommended for my ailment. While I was in this helpless condition my niece came in one day and prevailed upon me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking two boxes I felt a slight change for the better so I continued to take them, with the effect that I continued to improve slowly ever since. I now sleep well, have a good appetite and have gained in flesh. I can stand now, walk about and even get in and out of the buggy upon the occasion of my late visit to Columbus. Since that time, too, I feel stronger and my reason for still using a crutch is on account of my knees being weak and a desire to not overtax my strength. Jubilee Day was the first time in twenty-one months that I was able to put my foot outside the door and I am satisfied had I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the first place instead of the other medicines used, I would have been spared much suffering. I am sure I owe my improvement to these Pills alone. Mrs. Doolittle, who, as we have previously stated, attended her sister through her trying illness, was equally strong in her recommendations as to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills having effected the radical change, and the three of us agreed that it would be only just that this case should be brought to the notice of suffering humanity in the hope that it might prove a blessing to more than Miss Rodd, who still continues to improve and who hopes to again be able to do her full day's work at no distant date. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system: Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapping bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

FIRING ON THE MOB.

The Scene After the Death-Dealing Volley had Done Its Work.

The yelling mass below neared the walls. A whistle pierced the tumult. From the windows jetted swift lines of flame, and a shattering volley tore the air.

A crash, and then stillness on the mob, an intense hush, a swift paralysis; a blue gray smoke cloud floated up the walls and out over the jailyard. Men gasped, then held their breath. From their nests in the eaves startled sparrows flew above the crowd with frightened wittings.

In the jail corridor sounded the clink, clink of empty shells falling to the floor as nervous fingers fumbled at boxes or shoved fresh cartridges home with a snap snapping of breechlocks, while staring eyes were fixed upon the scene outside.

From below came a new sound, the noise of agony. On the outskirts of the crowd men were running. The mob surged back from the jail walls. In the space left clear lay prostrate forms outstretched or huddled in attitudes of grotesque horror on the stone paved way. One figure half arose, wavered backward and then fell toward the retreating mob with a gasping cry. Men running back from the crowd with apprehensive glances at the windows carried off the limp forms. In the crowd men bore up other men who reeled and staggered to and fro.

The corridor was very still. The guard stood in silence. Here and there one drew a long breath, with a slow heaving of the chest and a lifting of the shoulders. Turning their eyes with an effort from the mob, they glanced at each other as though seeking confirmation for their thoughts, to be assured that all this thing had happened, that the dark forms on the pavement below had been a grim reality. A slight, pale faced private threw his rifle to the floor and turned his face from the window, with a burst of shuddering sobs. Others swore apparently at nothing and busied themselves with their weapons. No one paid any heed to the private who wept except that his next rank man stooped and picked up his rifle. The smell of burned powder hung in the air.—H. H. Bennett in Lippincott's.

Doghouses and Dog Kennels.

Doghouse is the name applied to a house made for a dog to live in out of doors; dog kennel to a house or box built for a dog's quarters indoors. The doghouse is likely to be for a big dog; the kennel, in private houses, for a little dog. There are few doghouses used in the city, and in proportion to the number of pet dogs not a great many kennels, but still the number of kennels in the aggregate is considerable.

Doghouses are made with a sloping roof to shed rain. No such necessity exists in the case of the kennel, and kennels are always made with a flat top. Things may be placed on top of them. The kennel is practically an oblong box made of yellow or white pine or of whitewood, and customarily painted white and without ornamentation. The kennel has a grated opening in the top for purposes of ventilation, with a cover to put over to prevent draft. Formerly the doors of such kennels were made of wire cloth; now they are all made with bars of a very small sized gas piping.

The kennel of this kind is so made that it is raised at the corners enough to make the bottom clear the floor, and it is often mounted on casters, so that it can be conveniently moved about from room to room. Such kennels are made by carpenters, and they cost $5 to $10 each, according to the size.—New York Sun.

A LOVER'S LETTER

That Saved the Life of His Affianced Bride.

She Was Dying With Bright's Disease—Her Lover Induced Her to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills—Read What the Result Was.

St. JOHN, N. B., June 4.—Following is a copy of a letter written by a young man of this city to his affianced bride, who was dying with Bright's Disease, and who had refused to carry out the engagement on that account. The writer has given authority to use the letter, and the maiden acted on his advice, recovered, and is to be married to him on Monday.

"My Dear—, You refuse to carry out our betrothal, because, you say, you cannot live more than a few months, and will not allow me to tie myself to a human wreck.

"Now I do not agree with your doctor, who told you Bright's Disease is incurable. The disease is caused by impure blood. The kidneys have become unable to drain all the poisonous waste matter from the blood. Nothing is more poisonous than this dead animal tissue. Carried to every part of the body by the blood, it clogs up every passage and pore of the system, deposits itself around the muscles and in the joints, deranging every organ, and causing various diseases, one of which is Bright's Disease.

"The disease being caused by disordered kidneys sending impure blood through the system, restore the kidneys, and the blood becomes pure, and the disease vanishes. Can you do this?"

"You can.

"I send you a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Use them according to directions and you'll live for years to laugh at doc or who told you you must die—Ever yours, Harry."

She took Harry's advice. She will be married on Monday. So much for Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists, at 40 cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or sent, on receipt of price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co; Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Painless - Dentistry

A WORD TO THE CARELESS

Many persons do not value their teeth. If they have the toothache their first and only thought is to have the tooth extracted. Just a few words on that point, they go and have it taken out, that is the last of that tooth; they cannot get it back again. Another tooth will begin troubling; out it goes, too, and soon after a while the person cannot masticate food; consequence is their health becomes impaired; then they pay doctors bills, buy medicine, etc., and as a last resort they get artificial teeth. Now look at the question from a business standpoint. In the first place what would be the cost to save the tooth and keep it good for a lifetime? Perhaps $1.00, and you will have your own teeth in your head, and they were most certainly put there for use. Now think of this—if you had a wart on your finger, that troubled you, would you have the finger cut off to remove the wart? Why certainly not. Well, why loose a tooth to remove an ache. We can stop toothache and save the tooth, and guarantee them never to ache again.

Artificial Teeth

must be good to be satisfactory. We guarantee satisfaction or we don't want your money.
