A Quaint Picture of Harvey.

"He (William Harvey) was not tall, but of the lowest stature, round faced, olivaster complexion; little eye, round, very black, full of spirit; his hair was black as a raven, but quite white 20 years before he died. I have heard him say, that after his book of the Circulation of the Blood came out, that he felt mightily in his practice, and that 'twas believed by the vulgar that he was crack-brained; and all the physicians were against his opinion, and envied him; many wrote against him. With much ado at last, in about 20 or 30 years time, it was received in all the Universities in the world; and, as Mr. Hobbes says in his book 'De Corpore,' he is the only man, perhaps, that ever lived to see his own doctrine established in his lifetime."

"He was much and often troubled with the gowte, and his way of cure was thus; he would then sit with his legges bare, if it were frost, on the leads of Cockaine house, putt them into a payle of water, till he was almost dead with cold, and betake himselfe to his stove, and so 'twas gone. He was hot-headed, and his thoughts working would many times keepe him from sleepe; he told me that then his way was to rise out of his bed and walke about his chamber in his shirt till he was pretty coole, i. e., till he began to have a horror, and then returne to bed, and sleepe very comfortably."—Aubrey's "Lives."

The Original Siamese Twins.

The sleepy village of Biddenden, not far from Tenterden, celebrates yearly the memory of the two maids of that ancient hamlet who were the original precursors of the Siamese twins. In life they were joined together by a mysterious cord of flesh, and they died on the same day, leaving their property to be distributed among the poor of the parish and among all who care to apply for a dole of bread and cheese on Easter day. This benefaction has been in existence for six or seven centuries, and at present its value is about $200 a year.

Formerly the doles consisted of bread and cheese and ale, but the latter produced so much hilarity in the village that it was abolished, and the charity is now limited to the two first mentioned nutritive articles. The bread is made up in the form of cakes, bearing a rude representation of the twin maids of Biddenden, and are generally preserved as curiosities by the recipients. They are baked very hard and are admirably adapted to give work to dentists by breaking the molars of those who attempt to penetrate their mysteries. The poor of the parish as distinguished from necessitous strangers are supplied with ordinary quarter loaves and cheese.—London Telegraph.

After coughs and colds the germs of consumption often gain a foothold.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites will not cure every case; but, if taken in time, it will cure many.

Even when the disease is farther advanced, some remarkable cures are effected. In the most advanced stages it prolongs life, and makes the days far more comfortable. Everyone suffering from consumption needs this food tonic.

Shoplifting.

Nothing has done so much to encourage stealing (shoplifting) as the modern department stores and their methods. The problem presented is a difficult one with which to deal, but while merchants have a right to display their goods the public also has rights and duties in the matter. If a banker dumps his cash on tables outside his desk railings and lets people handle it at will, he would not get much sympathy when he complained that it had been stolen, and if he continued the practice because these losses were more than offset by the increased profits which the display resulted in, as is the case with the department stores, there would be much justice in the claim that he had no right to make profits by any method which tended to debauch the public. In short, it may fairly be maintained that it is a prime duty of every citizen to exercise reasonable diligence in safeguarding his own property, and that if he neglects this he becomes in a measure a menace to society.—International Magazine.

The Dome of St. Paul's.

We do not believe there is any truth in the alarming rumor that there is some uneasiness in expert quarters in regard to the stability of the dome of St. Paul's. We imagine that the only substratum of fact is this: It is known that a huge iron chain is imbedded in the stonework of the drum of the dome. An eminent architect some time since amused himself by describing the consequences which might ensue if the water were to reach this chain. There is no reason to suppose that such a thing has occurred; it is likely to occur, and the newly appointed surveyors, Messrs. Somers Clarke and J. T. Middlethwaite, are fully alive to the desirability of finding and examining the chain. The first difficulty appears to be that its exact locality is somewhat uncertain. The second will be to get at it effectively when it is discovered.—London Saturday Review.

Family Economy.

Uncle (to the children, who have just had a dose of cod liver oil all around)—Well, do you like cod liver oil?

Children—Oh, no, but mamma gives us 5 cents for every spoonful.

Uncle—And then do you buy something nice?

Children—No, mamma puts it into the savings bank.

Uncle—And then you buy something by and by?

Children—No, mamma buys more cod liver oil with it!—Fliegende Blätter.

Discouraging.

Would Be Suitor—Good morning Miss Brown. Quite an opportune meeting, indeed. I have been waiting for a chance to ask when it would be agreeable for me to call on you.

Miss Brown—Oh, you are at liberty to make your own selection.

Would Be Suitor—Thanks. By the way, I see that you have been getting a new horse and carriage.

Miss Brown—Yes. Come around soon and we'll take great pleasure in driving you out.

His New Leg.

In a city not many miles from Troy is an organization which believes in cures by faith. The president is a woman, zealous of good works. For some weeks she had observed a worthy appearing elderly man daily going by her home, and noticed that he walked considerably lame. She thought him a subject of prayerful consideration and began daily prayers in his behalf. One morning soon after she noticed him going by, apparently free from any lameness, and ventured to speak to him of this fact.

"Yes," he responded, "I do get along a good deal better today than for many days past. My old cork leg had got somewhat out of good motion, and yesterday I obtained a new one."

The Nervous Preacher.

In preaching his extempore trial sermon before Bishop Tait and Dean Stanley a candidate for priest's orders grew very nervous and stammered, "I will drive my congregation into two—the converted and the unconverted."

This proved too much for the bishop's sense of humor; and he exclaimed, "I think, sir, as there are only two of us, you had better say which is which."

Greedy.

Office Boy—Please, sir, can't I go to dinner now? It's almost an hour past my time, and I'm awfully hungry?

Employer—Hungry? Well, I wonder if anybody ever saw such a greedy boy. Here you have been licking envelopes and postage stamps all the forenoon and yet you complain of being hungry!—Pearson's Weekly.

A plant grows in Assam the botanical name of which is Gynemna sylvestre and which has the peculiar property when chewed of temporarily neutralizing the sense of taste as regards sweet and bitter things, while sour and saline substances remain unaltered. The Hindoos claim that the plant is an antidote to snake bite.

THE ONLY HOPE!

For Victims of Bright's Disease is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Not a day passes on which the newspapers do not record the death of one or more persons from Bright's Disease. Already its victims number hundreds of thousands. Day by day the awful total grows larger. No class is safe from this destroyer. War and intemperance, with all their miseries and fatalities, are not responsible for as many deaths as have been caused by Bright's Disease. Yet, there is a way of resisting it; of drawing its poisoned fangs, and making it as harmless as a summer breeze. That great medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills, has cured thousands of the worst cases. It never fails to cure, hopeless as the case may seem.

Would you safely shield your loved ones from the fatal grip of this curse of mankind—Bright's Disease? Then use Dodd's Kidney Pills, the only cure on earth for this disease.

THAT ROUNDED CURVE.

"Fit-Reform" coats are moulded into the shape of chest, shoulders and collar, by hand stitching, with needle and thread.

Cheap "Custom made," and all other "Ready made" clothing is merely pressed into a semblance of this form, with a hot flat iron.

One, being linen stayed throughout, taped at the edges, and worked into concavity by silk stitching, keeps its shape while the cloth lasts.

The other, loses its form the first day it is worn. There is a little difference in the cost, but an enormous difference in the wear and appearance of these two kinds.

"Fit-Reform" brand, and makers' price in left breast pocket of every genuine F.-R. coat.
