

DANCE in Cardigan Hall, Easter Monday night. Luncheon.

OPENING DANCE Beaver Hall, Montague, Tuesday, April 20. Don Messer's orchestra. Admission 50 cents. Regular dance Saturday, April 24.

LEAVES FOR SAINT JOHN—Mayor B. H. Yeo, Montague, left yesterday for an extended visit to Saint John, N. B. During his absence Major Doug McGowan will be acting mayor of the town.

NOTICE—You fishermen! Get out there and get a big one, for on Thursday, April 15, the Mabon Drug Company, Montague, is offering, as in the past, a grand prize of $500 worth of the finest fishing gear to the local angler who brings to us for inspection, weighing and measuring, the largest trout taken legally on opening day. Good luck, fellas!!

GIRL GUIDES MEETING—The regular meeting of the First Montague Girl Guides Company was held Monday evening at the Legion hall under Guides Beck and Power. Second class Guides continued with the study of semaphore, while the new members studied tenderfoot tests. Mrs. Archie Hillehey conducted a sewing class. Games and contests were played after which the meeting closed with taps.

PERSONALS
Mr. and Mrs. Miles MacKinnon, Whim Road, were recent visitors to Charlottetown.

The many friends of Mrs. John Clair, Montague, will be sorry to hear that she is confined to her home for a few days due to illness.

Mr. Tommy Murphy, St. Mary's Road, left last week for Halifax where he is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Campbell returned to their home in Commercial Cross after spending the winter months vacationing in Miami, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald MacLean, Charlottetown, recently visited Mrs. MacLean's father, Mr. John Campbell, Whim Road.

Mrs. Cleve Craswell, Charlottetown, was a recent visitor to Montague visiting her many friends here.

Mrs. Webb Nicholson, Whim Road, recently visited with her mother, Mrs. Priscilla Shaw in Brudenell.

Mr. and Mrs. William Giddings and daughter Peggy and three sons, Percy, Billy and Raye of Charlottetown, spent the week-end with Mrs. Giddings' mother, Mrs. Thomas Murphy, St. Mary's Road.

Miss Theresa McAree, who has been employed at the Haven Restaurant, Montague, for the past several months, has accepted a position with Hillehey and Vandierstine, Montague.

Montague C.W.L. Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Montague Sub Division C. W. L. was held last week at the home of Mrs. Levi Power with a good attendance of members. The president, Mrs. F. L. Coyne opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report showed a substantial increase in funds owing to the weekly parties being held in the homes. The correspondence was read by the secretary, Mrs. Levi Power. A letter was read from the Catholic Girls Scholarship Association per Miss Dorothy Noonan, secretary-treasurer, and one from Miss Catherine Praught, provincial convener of lay retreats. It was decided to sponsor a show at Yeo's Theatre in the near future, and all were asked to contribute fudge. The ladies volunteered to clean the church for the Easter season, and purchase flowers to be placed on the altar for Easter. The next meeting, being the annual meeting, will be held in the church vestry. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

PRINCE EDWARD TO-DAY

GARY COOPER in "RETURN TO PARADISE" SPECIAL SHORTS — SHOWS 3:30-7-9

"THIS THEATRE AND ALL F. G. SPENCER CO. LTD. THEATRES, AS USUAL, WILL BE CLOSED ON GOOD FRIDAY".

2 DAYS — THURS. AND SAT.

HIGH ADVENTURE! FORBIDDEN LOVE!
ROGUES MARCH
PETER RICHARD LAW FORD GREENE RULE
PLUS
NEWS - PETE SMITH COMEDY ANIMAL COMEDY - CARTOON

TONIGHT'S THRILL PACKED MIDNIGHT SHOW—11:30 P. M.
England's Famed Fighter Pilots in "HAWKS IN THE SUN"

Continued from page 1

Premier Macdonald
ered the chair. A sprig of heather taken from his Winwick home here was the only decoration on his desk.

Funeral Monday
Funeral services for Premier Macdonald will be held Monday at 10 a.m. AST in Saint Mary's Basilica here. The body of the Liberal leader will lie in state in the Red Chamber, the old Upper House of the legislature, at Province House from Friday until the funeral.

Burial will be in the Gate of Heaven cemetery at Sackville on the city's outskirts. Premier Macdonald's political life was one that marked him as one of the nation's outstanding statesmen. The intense, silver-haired Liberal government leader died in Victoria General Hospital at 1:50 a.m. AST to end a public career that began in 1933 when he was literally conscripted to revitalize a badly battered Liberal party.

Mr. Macdonald entered hospital several days ago to be treated for what was described as "general fatigue." There were reports that he never completely recovered from a persistent cold contracted during a visit to Britain last fall.

Neither Mr. Macdonald's wife nor his four children were at the bedside when he died. Hospital authorities said he died "unexpectedly" in his sleep.

Health Minister Connolly said he "died quietly." Mr. Macdonald's death followed by only a few weeks that of Senator J. Walter Jones, former Liberal premier of Prince Edward Island and another of the Maritime-bred political figures whose vigorous prosecution of the Maritime viewpoint gave their names headline stature across the nation in the thirties and forties.

Took Highways Portfolio
Observers attending legislature sittings last week remarked on the premier's tired appearance and there was widespread speculation then that he might shortly have to take a prolonged rest from duties made more arduous by his recent acquisition of the highways portfolio.

Mr. Macdonald was born of poor parents in an isolated Cape Breton village. He took with him when he left the rugged highlands of Inverness county a Scot's love of tradition, ceremony and history.

He ordinarily exhibited an outward calm in his dealings with those near him but Nova Scotians admired and respected a fighting spirit that made its most memorable impression during the Second World War when he clashed with the late Mackenzie King over the bitter conscription issue.

Mr. Macdonald openly supported fellow Nova Scotian Col. J. L. Ralston on that contentious dispute and eventually won his argument that volunteers alone were not enough to reinforce Canadian forces overseas during the latter stages of the war.

The premier made a pilgrimage to Scotland only last year to tramp for the last time the hillsides and glens which his parents had left many years before. His fondness for ceremony was apparent when he solemnly scattered a handful of Nova Scotia soil from the ramparts of Edinburgh Castle.

Mr. Macdonald headed the Canadian navy department which emerged early in the war when this country had a naval service of only 2,000 men and a half-dozen made known the public will be in a position to fairly judge just what kind of a job we have done."

CAPITOL

NOW SHOWING "GIRLS IN THE NIGHT" Adult Entertainment

This Theatre and all F. G. Spencer Co. Ltd. Theatres, as usual, will be closed Good Friday.

THURSDAY - SATURDAY GENE HITS THE DANGER TRAIL!

GENE AUTRY THE CHAMPION
LAST OF THE PONY RIDERS
ALSO SHUR-GAIN AMATEUR CALCADE ON OUR STAGE
THURSDAY NIGHT
Between Shows 9:00-9:30

New Serial—Chapter No. 1 "JUNGLE RAIDERS" ships.

Under his leadership the RCN expanded into a formidable force of 500 ships manned and supported by 50,000 personnel.

Mr. Macdonald made several wartime trips to Europe and sailed with the stubby little convoy jetties across the Atlantic. His war years in the cabinet were marred by his clashes with Mackenzie King and he was happy to resume the leadership of the Nova Scotia Liberal party when the war was over.

Election Slogans Click

He returned to Nova Scotia with the ringing political motto "Angus L's Back" and won a resounding vote of confidence in the first test of his leadership. His next election followed a similar pattern when the motto was "All's Well With Angus L."

Back in his native Cape Breton highlands he again practiced Gaelic and appeared at the mod and highland games with his kilts and glengarry.

Observers recalled the time years before when he played host to Rt. Hon. Ramsay Macdonald, then British prime minister. He floored the famous Scot by giving the address of welcome in Gaelic just to make him feel at home, and wringing from the British leader the embarrassed admission that he didn't speak Gaelic.

Mr. Macdonald, who became premier of Nova Scotia in 1933 at the age of 43, had the unique distinction of being selected leader without ever having had a seat in the legislature, or any real experience in public life. At that time he was the youngest premier in Canada.

His father's people, Scottish Roman Catholics, came from Inverness more than 120 years ago. His grandfather was for many years Speaker of the Prince Edward Island Legislature and at the time of his death represented an Island constituency in the House of Commons.

Continued from page 1

Gouzenko

6. He had seen messages referring to a wartime "reserve" spy network in the U.S., whose members stood by and operated only when active members went out of action. He had no details.

Scientist Mentioned

At one point, Gouzenko mentioned the surname of an American scientist—deleted from the transcript—and it was not clear from the record whether or not this information previously had been given to the 1945-46 Canadian royal commission on espionage. He said Allan Nunn May, a British scientist working in Canada who was convicted of complicity in atomic espionage, had referred to this man.

The point was not followed up in the questioning. Gouzenko said he knew nothing of Harry Dexter White, former U.S. director of the international monetary fund and a suspected Soviet agent, now dead.

Deletions Minor

Gouzenko was asked if he had ever heard that the FBI wanted to make arrests in the U.S. as the result of his first revelations but had been prevented by other U.S. authorities.

He said he had never heard that but he said he knew there had been an opportunity to arrest one of those named, who "skipped away."

As disclosed in the royal commission report, this was a Russian undercover agent in Los Angeles going under the name of Ignacy Witczak, who was using a spurious Canadian passport obtained by the spy ring.

In tabling the report Tuesday, Justice Minister Garson said the "minor" deletions were made to eliminate references which might jeopardize Canadian security investigations in Canada or might be open to question on grounds of "international propriety as relating primarily to the interests of a third country."

The deletions in substance total 24 words. They consist of the names of five persons, the address of one, the name of an organization and a 10-word phrase.

Eight more words, consisting of duplications of some of these names, also are cut out.

Urges Ottawa

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Other Problems

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Continued from page 1

Urges Ottawa
Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

Any such conference should consider some of the pressing economic problems such as unemployment, grain surpluses and the problems facing agriculture. It should not be limited to hearing "the beefs of one certain provincial premier."

Mr. Argue, however, urged Mr. St. Laurent to make a statement on the controversial question of federal and provincial taxation rights.

MORTGAGE LOANS

under the provisions of THE NATIONAL HOUSING ACT, 1954, may now be arranged through any branch of the Royal Bank

Our Managers will be glad to discuss details with you

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

His milk is fresher—

For thrifty Window Cleaning use grit-free BON AMI CAKE

IT POLISHES WINDOWS AND MIRRORS AS YOU CLEAN!

—because of this pipeline on wheels!

Modern milking practices and pasteurization plus speed and efficient transit ensure you of your regular delivery of health-giving milk—as fresh and pure as Canada's great dairy industry can make it.

Canada's trucking industry plays a major role in the "milk run" from the farm to dairy to your doorstep. Daily, throughout the country, trucks pick up fresh milk from the farm yards, rush it to nearby dairies or perhaps to the railway station for shipment. Once pasteurized and bottled for delivery, the milk is again loaded on fleets of trucks—and in a matter of a few hours an entire community is supplied with fresh milk.

Most of us take it all for granted. But the daily "milk run" is just one of the important tasks of the trucking industry which helps keep Canada, her people and her commerce "on the move!"

A SALUTE TO CANADA'S TRUCKING INDUSTRY

From the Makers of

DUNLOP TIRES

FOUNDERS OF THE PNEUMATIC TIRE AND FOAM RUBBER INDUSTRIES.

GET BON AMI CAKE TODAY!
See how this grit-free cleanser quickly gives a super-shine to your windows, mirrors, tiling, glass shelves and metal fixtures. Try it today!

"hasn't scratched yet!"

To control mastitis (garget)

PENICILLIN "BOO-JEES"
The practical mastitis treatment Ready to use — no syringe or solution needed

No. 2901—25,000 Int. Units
Package of 6.....$1.50
No. 2907—50,000 Int. Units
Package of 6.....$2.00

MABON DRUG CO.
MONTAGUE

YOUR ALUMA KRAFT ALUMINUM AWNING DEALER

CHANDLER BROS.
Dial 6557
CHARLOTTETOWN