RESCUERS

cause the rescue workers were going through almost solid rock. The steam shovel was used to scoop out the soft parts but most of the work was being done by dynamite and the compressors.

Boring at the rate of four feet an hour, the diamond drill was down 26 feet in a hole through which messages, food and water were to be dropped in hopes the entombed men still lived. Another 24 hours would be required to complete the bore, the engineers said.

"Shaft of Death"
Working steadily in the "shaft of death," direct from the surface to the 141-foot level, another crew was down 20 feet in rock formation they would be penetrating with compressors for more than a week. They were timbering the shaft as they progressed, to protect themselves from further avalanches.

The dynamite blast in the new opening to the Meagher shaft was expected to be the last big explosion required before concentrating on a narrow tunnel through which one man could be lowered to report on prospects of entering the mine. It would be set off early tomorrow morning, the engineers said.

After watching the rescue workers all day, Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Magill, wives of the trapped owners of the mine, retired tonight to the company office which had been made comfortable for them with beds brought out from Halifax.
There they conferred tonight with mine manager F. D. Henderson and Mr. Robertson's brother, C. H. Ivey, K.C., regarding the possibilities of getting the men out alive.

Still a Chance
Sleepless and worried, Henderson still declared there was a chance. Wood smoke seen rising from crevices over the mine Monday and Tuesday was evidence that at least one of the three had survived the cave-in and had started a small fire as a signal.

"I'd give my right arm to get those men up the mine tomorrow," Henderson told Mrs. Robertson.
"We know you and the rest of the men are doing everything possible," she replied, urging the weary manager to get some sleep.
Mr. Ivey said he was well pleased with progress made during the night and added that the women had been cheered by news that experienced rock miners from Ontario would be here tomorrow.

The women expressed anxiety about the rescue workers and before the mine manager left their quarters they went over the list of food supplies available. Satisfied that the men were well provided for, they tried to rest.
All day they had watched the operations at the mine, sometimes discouraged, sometimes hopeful.
"They can probably hear the blasting, ma'am," a veteran miner told them, and the effort at optimism appeared to be helpful.
Mrs. Magill, who had explored the mine with her husband in January, said she had not given up hope.
"They will still be alive if the men reach them by Saturday," she declared.

Will Continue Survey Program
OTTAWA, April 16—The intensive surveys program of the Dominion Department of Mines, inaugurated last summer will be continued this year departmental officials said today.

This will be welcomed by university students anxious for work during the summer holidays. Last year about 800 science undergraduates were given jobs in this work and it is expected almost as many will be needed this year.
The surveys will start earlier this season and accordingly somewhat fewer men will be required, but they will be in the field longer. The money was not available last year until late in June and the parties were not in the field until July.

Reach Gibraltar
LONDON, April 16—The Admiralty took additional precautions in the Mediterranean tonight, announcing 15 especially designed ships classified as mine-sweeping trawlers, a new, secret type of anti-submarine weapon, have reached Gibraltar from England in the past week.

Naval observers estimated there are now 190 warships in and near the Mediterranean, although the tonnage is probably slightly less than at the height of the crisis in 1935. Several large battleships have been pulled out and replaced by numerous smaller craft.
At the same time the Anglo-Franco-Belgian general staff talks were concluded. No announcement was made, and observers, surprised at their brevity, believed nothing very substantial was worked out in the two-day sessions.

A white paper giving correspondence in connection with the alleged Italian bombing of a British Red Cross unit at Quorum, Ethiopia, in March, is to be issued tomorrow.
Most of the mine-sweeping trawlers now at Gibraltar left the Port of Spain on Easter Sunday. Five destroyers, meanwhile, arrived at Gibraltar from the Eastern Mediterranean.

Mine-sweepers, designed primarily for cutting under-water mines from their moorings, are equipped with depth charges, that is, huge bombs which are exploded under water by time fuses. Depth bombs are the outstanding armament devised against submerged submarines.

MAY SHELVE REFORM LEGISLATION

The resolution which appeared in the name of Justice Minister Lapointe contained a petition, which would also have to be carried in the Senate, asking the British Parliament to amend the British North America Act to the extent that the Dominion might be empowered to lend money to the provinces and accept specific collateral in the form of subsidies and other definite revenues.
It was also proposed to amend the act so as to legalize imposition by the provinces of certain indirect forms of taxation such as amusement and entertainment taxes which are already in force.

This resolution was not formulated until unanimous agreement had been obtained from the provinces. Before it could be moved in the House, however, Premier Aberhart of Alberta announced he would not be bound by the proposed new set-up for borrowing from the Dominion. He maintained that position to the extent of defaulting a bond maturely on April 1, Premier Pattullo of British Columbia also raised objections.

Provinces Object

Finance Minister Dunning, sponsor of the plan, then took the stand that there was little use in proceeding with the petition to Westminster when the provinces most concerned were not prepared to abide by the plan. It is expected he will have further conferences with the borrowing provinces in an effort to obtain new agreement on this scheme or on some other that may be advanced.

There will be a constitutional debate in the Senate, however. Senator Lynch-Staunton has given notice that he will raise the question as to what steps are proposed to obtain constitutional autonomy for Canada.

Decision of the Supreme Court of Canada on the constitutional status of a series of eight pieces of legislation adopted by the government of former Premier Bennett is not expected until later in the session. The question was argued in January but the judges handled a heavy calendar of cases at that session and judgments will be delayed.

The statutes include the Employment Insurance Act, several acts dealing with hours of work, working conditions and the weekly day of rest measures arising from the report of the price-spreads commission and the Farmers Creditors Arrangement Act.

Showdown Today

(1) Italy will not have regular League participation in peace conversations with Ethiopia although willing that the League should be kept informed of their progress;
(2) Italy is very reluctant even to say what the peace terms are, except direct to the Ethiopians;
(3) Italy will only conclude an Armistice with the Ethiopians on the field. She will not consent to peace conversations being held at Geneva, but suggests Ouchy or Lausanne;

(4) Italy will not agree to conclude an armistice now.
Whether there is to be conciliation or not must be settled absolutely and finally tomorrow, British circles commented as members of the committee turned towards their hotels.

Denies Communism Rules In Spain
(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
MADRID, April 16—A vigorous denial that Spain is heading for Communism was made by Premier Manuel Azana before parliament today in reply to monarchist charges that the Leftist government is "standing idly by while Communists are carrying out a program to implant the Soviet regime."

The Premier asserted the government would "take every means to ensure a continuation of democracy" and "has no intention of permitting Communists to carry out their program. That would mean the death of Spain."

On motion of the Premier the House went into committee with Mr. Wright in the chair on "an Act to regulate assistance for the re-establishment of Needy Farmers and Fishermen."

The bill provides that (1) the Lieutenant Governor in Council may from time to time make regulations for the administration of any fund which may be appropriated or provided to assist in the re-establishment of needy farmers and fishermen; (2) Such regulations may govern the manner in which such funds may be distributed or expended, the form of security, if any, to be taken for advance of cash or goods, the title of goods or chattels furnished or supplied to farmers or fishermen, and all other matters concerning the administration of such funds; (3) Such regulations shall come into effect upon being published in the Royal Gazette, and thereupon shall have the same force and effect as if they formed a part of this Act.

The Government, the Premier explained, intends to ask the House for an appropriation of $8,000 to provide assistance in the re-establishment of needy farmers. The Government is also urging on the Dominion Government the advisability of providing a similar fund to assist in re-establishing needy fishermen. It will be necessary that certain regulations be made as to the manner in which such funds will be distributed. As the amount or nature of the funds is not yet ascertained, it is impossible for the House to fix any definite rules. "So we are asking the House to empower the Lieutenant Governor in Council to make such regulations as may be necessary for the administration of such funds."

Beautiful Easter Pageant Presented At Kensington

The seating capacity of the United Church, Kensington, was taxed to its utmost on Easter Sunday evening, April 12th, when a beautiful Easter pageant, entitled "Welcome Happy Morning" was presented by the young people of the church under the direction of Mrs. Harold Laird.

This dramatic presentation was given in a spirit of worship which was further maintained by a spirit of reverence in the opening devotional period, led by the pastor, Rev. B. C. Saller, and the scripture reading of that first Resurrection morning, so wonderfully told by the Apostle John, chapter 20, 1-17. The day of Resurrection is indeed a happy morning, and the hymn of this name is used as a theme throughout the pageant. It is a happy morning for the faithful women who came to the tomb, and for Mary Magdalene. It is a morning whose vision of victory sustains the early Christians through their persecutions, and it inspires the crusaders of old.

Through all ages it has been a morning of freedom for the fettered, of a joyous hope for childhood, youth, and for all who follow a risen Redeemer. The Angel of the Garden is likewise the Angel of His Holy Hill, who appears, reminding them that when the Lord left the earth His last command was to win the world for Him, and therefore his followers should go forth, that all might know the hope, the peace, the joyous victory of Easter.

A number of appropriate choruses were interspersed throughout, the theme song "Welcome Happy Morning," "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," "Faith of Our Fathers," "The Church's One Foundation," "O Jesus I Have Promised," and "Tell Me the Story of Jesus." This last one was sung by little girls, Jessie Clark, Mildred Clark, George Proffitt, Glen MacKay, Jean Mause, Ione MacDonald and Jean MacDonald.

The special solos given, "In the Garden," by Mrs. Preston Kennedy, "Master 'Tis Thyself" by Miss Dorothy MacKenzie, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer" by Mr. Harold Laird, "Angel of the Garden" by Mr. Roscoe Walker, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" by Mr. Arnold Taylor, were all rendered with sweetness and effect.

The principal characters were well represented. The chief character, "The Spirit of Easter Joy," was impersonated by Miss Ruth Mause, and is deserving of special mention for the fine manner in which she sustained the leading part throughout. Other characters taken depicting "The Spirit of Service" by Miss Jennie Payne, "The Angel of the Garden" by Miss Ethel Stewart, "The Church" by Miss Dorothy MacKenzie, "Mary, the Mother of James" by Mrs. James McKinnon, "Salome" by Miss Hattie Clark, "Joanna" by Miss Nora Taylor, "Mary Magdalene" by Miss Norma Clark and "Youth" by Miss Rita Clark, were all vividly portrayed.

Other group characters were "The Three Captives," Misses Laura Hamilton, Mary Forbes and Margaret Cousins; "The Early Christians," David Murphy, Arnold Taylor, Glen Colton, Gerald MacKenzie, Keir Duggan and Leaman Caseley; "The Crusaders," Laird MacDonald, Elmer Chapman, Athol Colton, Herman Mayne, Keith Kennedy, Keith Mayne, Oliver Burns and Keith Hardy.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF NEEDY FARMERS AND FISHERMEN
On motion of the Premier the House went into committee with Mr. Wright in the chair on "an Act to regulate assistance for the re-establishment of Needy Farmers and Fishermen."

The bill provides that (1) the Lieutenant Governor in Council may from time to time make regulations for the administration of any fund which may be appropriated or provided to assist in the re-establishment of needy farmers and fishermen; (2) Such regulations may govern the manner in which such funds may be distributed or expended, the form of security, if any, to be taken for advance of cash or goods, the title of goods or chattels furnished or supplied to farmers or fishermen, and all other matters concerning the administration of such funds; (3) Such regulations shall come into effect upon being published in the Royal Gazette, and thereupon shall have the same force and effect as if they formed a part of this Act.

The Government is also urging on the Dominion Government the advisability of providing a similar fund to assist in re-establishing needy fishermen. "So we are asking the House to empower the Lieutenant Governor in Council to make such regulations as may be necessary for the administration of such funds."

On motion of Hon. Mr. Dennis the House went into committee with Mr. Stewart in the chair on an Act to provide for the inspection and enrollment of stallions.

The bill provides for the keeping of a register by the Agricultural Department for the inspection and enrollment of stallions, the fee for certificate of such enrollment being $2. No person shall "stand, travel, advertise, either by poster or in a newspaper or otherwise by printing, or offer for service, or use for service any stallion unless and until such stallion has been duly enrolled in the register for the coming year."

Hon. J. A. Campbell asked if Starlight Lagel or "Black Horse" would be so enrolled. (Laughter.) Hon. Mr. Dennis replied in the affirmative.
Mr. Jones said the breeders association as a rule carry on their own inspection and they find it very difficult to obtain inspectors who are qualified for the task. There is nothing in this Act to say how the inspector of stallions is to be appointed. Who is going to select him? There are perhaps five or six qualified inspectors in Canada. "Is there anyone qualified in this Province? I doubt it. And if a qualified man comes down here as inspector, and his inspection is appealed from, where are you going to go for another inspector?"

After some discussion on this point, Mr. Jones asked if it was the intention to bring in similar legislation respecting compulsory bull inspection.
Hon. Mr. Dennis: "We would like to."
Mr. Jones: "The bovine species is more important than horses."
Hon. Mr. Dennis: "We haven't just started on cattle yet."

Seventy members expressed the view that the fee in this case should be substantially raised. It was finally decided to let it stand unchanged.

The bill after further discussion was reported agreed to.

Dairymen's Association

On motion of Hon. Mr. Dennis the House went into committee with Mr. Wright in the chair on an Act to amend an Act to incorporate the Prince Edward Island Dairymen's Association.

The amendments, the promoter explained, had been asked for by the Association. They were agreed to without discussion.

Succession Duty Act

On motion of the Premier the House went into committee with Mr. Poley in the chair on an Act to amend the Succession Duty Act, 1925.

Sec. 1 deals with money received or payable under insurance policies. The Premier explained that up to two years ago no effort was made to collect succession duty if the estate passed to a preferred beneficiary. In 1931 the Government attempted to collect such duties but through some inconsistencies in the Act disputes arose in the Surrogate Court.

Sec. 2 deletes from the existing statute the clause exempting estates under $3,500 in value.

Sec. 3 (b) increases the succession duty on estates over $8,000 passing outside the immediate family of the deceased. The former rate, the Premier said, was 12 per cent on estates up to $20,000, and 15 per cent on those over $20,000. The proposed amendment is to make a flat rate of 20 per cent on all such estates between $10,000 and $100,000.

Further amendments deal with inventories filed by executors and administrators, etc.
The bill was reported agreed to.

STALLION ENROLLMENT ACT

On motion of Hon. Mr. Dennis the House went into committee with Mr. Stewart in the chair on an Act to provide for the inspection and enrollment of stallions.

Three Youths Escape Jail
(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
GUELPH, Ont., April 16.—Police dragnets were spread through Southern Ontario tonight to catch three youths who escaped from Wellington County jail here today. The men overpowered acting turnkey W. C. Bodycott, struck him on the head with his "billy" and used his keys to open the jail's front door to gain their freedom. They were reported as seen near Stratford tonight.

Making their way through back lanes, the men entered a garage and stole an automobile to make good their getaway. The trio jumped on Bodycott when he entered their cage in the cell block to bring them their breakfast.
The men, Russell Wessinger, 22, Edward Johnson, 21, and Charles Williams, 19, of Toronto, were confined in jail facing charges of automobile theft and breaking and entering three Guelph garages. They were remanded a few days ago after leading police on a wild automobile chase down the Guelph-Toronto highway.

On motion of the Premier the House went into committee with Mr. Mustard in the chair on second reading of an Act to amend the Stipendiary Magistrate's Act.
Sec. 1 provides that each Stipendiary Magistrate "shall have jurisdiction to act in cases arising in incorporated cities and towns within their respective counties, including the City of Charlottetown and the Town of Summerside, notwithstanding anything contained in any statute of this Province relating to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Stipendiary Magistrate of such city or town."
This provision, the Premier said, was for the purpose of removing "an ambiguity" which occurred in the Act passed in 1923. It carried without discussion.
Sec. 2 provides: "Any information for an offence against any Statute of the Province of Prince Edward Island may be laid and any summons, warrant, or subpoena thereupon, may be issued before the Stipendiary Magistrate for the County wherein the offence is alleged to have been committed, whether the said Magistrate is then within the said County or within another County of the Province."
"At the present time," said the Premier, "there is no person in King's County who is technically qualified to hold the position of Stipendiary Magistrate and it is inconvenient for the Magistrate to go from Charlottetown to King's County for the purpose of taking information and issuing summonses. We feel that the accused is not in any way prejudiced if the information is laid in Charlottetown and the summonses issued here, but it still remains that the Stipendiary Magistrate must be within King's County before he can hear or determine the case."
The section was passed without further discussion.
Premier Campbell then moved, as a further amendment not printed in the bill that Sec. 4 of the existing Act (22 Geo. 5, Cap. 5) be amended by striking out all the words of the section following the word "behaviour" in the second line thereof and substituting the words "during pleasure or until the Lieutenant Governor in Council shall have appointed another Magistrate in his stead."
"As the Act stands now," the Premier said in explanation, "sometimes it is not possible to dismiss— to dispense with the services of a Stipendiary Magistrate except for misconduct. It may be and is found sometimes to be convenient or proper to appoint a successor to a Stipendiary Magistrate in other circumstances, and this simply provides that the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council may appoint one Magistrate and substitute him for another. I move that the section be added as Sec. 5 of this Act."
Motion carried without discussion.
The Premier further moved that the Act be amended to enable Justices of the Peace of at least six years' standing to be appointed Stipendiary Magistrates. Motion carried.
The bill was then reported agreed to.
The Premier introduced an Act to amend an Act respecting the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities. It was received and read a first time.
The House, at 6 o'clock, took recess until 8 p. m.
