Looking At Recreation For Youth

(By Donna Shaw)

How many times do you find yourself saying, "If I only had something to do!" when you're faced with some spare time? Actually, free time is a wonderful thing, but doesn't it get to be sort of a bug-a-bear when you can't seem to find anything exciting to do with it? The other day the writer decided to find out what really was going on in this city of ours, and after digging down deep into the subject, we came up with a surprising number of answers. This time let's take a look at the kids.

Our "Johnny's" and "Sues" are kept pretty busy with school most of the time, but when the school bell rings those young students make for the great outdoors like a herd of wild horses let out of corral, which is, after all, a perfectly natural reaction.

Did you ever wonder why athletics are a part of the activities of schools and colleges? At this point some guy would grumble, "They're just a waste of time. They should be abolished. Kids can't study and play games too!" Now you and I know that Gloomie Gus couldn't be farther from right, because athletics not only provide school children with the fun and recreation that anyone needs to keep going on an even keel, but they help develop strong health and alert minds. They teach participants good sportsmanship and fair play, and the ability to work, and get along, as well as giving confidence and a feeling of well-being. Only when athletes are taken too seriously and carried too far is there any cause to doubt the great benefit to all those who participate in them.

As well as out-door play, recreation includes the games children play indoors—during rest periods in school, or when attending almost any youth organization, children play games. Besides being fun, games have a valuable influence on the players. Association with other boys and girls, in itself, helps children adjust themselves to the world around them. By playing and winning, they learn to take success in stride. By playing and losing, they learn to be good sports.

Recreation consists of another side which is neither athletics nor games but lots of fun nonetheless. Under this classification come singing, music appreciation, reading, learning to play a musical instrument, art lessons, acting in plays, dancing, and hobbies of all kinds. Although most of these things must be learned they can never be classified as work. (Anything that is allowed to become an unpleasant duty, though, is no longer recreation!) These activities, besides being wonderful pastimes, develop latent talents and sometimes even become the stepping stones to successful careers. Most important of all, though, is the fact that they create a great deal of happiness, and the old saying that busy people are happy people certainly applies in this case.

Now let's take a look in at the schools and see what the kids are doing for recreation: Most of the larger schools have hockey practice for the older pupils, and, of course, the Department of Physical Fitness has taken over the training of tots from seven on up—to see this in action take a walk down to the Forum some Saturday evening.

At Notre Dame Convent, where many of the students live right at the school, games such as checkers, ping-pong, nine-pins are in play during rest periods. The smaller children love to sing and do musical gymnastics while one of the Sisters plays the piano for them.

In many schools, Monday and Tuesday mornings are looked forward to in the lower grades because of the radio programs that come over the public address systems. When speaking of these, Mr. Charles Hine, Principal of West Kent School, stated that he considered these the very best C.B.C. school broadcasts for children. They are called "Airways of Song" and "Playtime". These are especially valuable for schools unable to secure the services of a music teacher, as is the predicament of the West Kent School at the present time.

The Forum and the Holy Redeemer Rink have set aside time for children's "skates" out of their busy schedules.

The movie theatres put on special shows for children on Saturday mornings.

At the Y.M.C.A. little folks have an opportunity to attend two gym periods during the week, where they play all sorts of ball games and run relay races, and on Saturday mornings both boys and girls attend a special gym class after which movies are sometimes shown. On Friday nights four "Grad-Y" clubs meet. They include members from nine to 11 years of age, and carry on many activities such as skating, painting, figurines, leather craft, attending movies, bowling, or whatever the clubs decide to do.

There are also model aircraft and leathercraft courses open to all. Miss Martin of the Y.M.C.A. told me that small boys and girls bowl on Mondays, Tuesdays and Saturdays at a reduced rate, "and," she said, "you'll even see little eight-year-olds down here so small that you'd swear the ball would tumble right out of their hands!" This organization has a lot of plans for the future which are now only in their early stages.

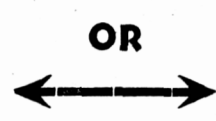

So has the new Community Center of the Holy Redeemer Parish, but their plans are in an organizational stage at present, and no

Sport Echoes From Prince County

The Campbells are up-and-comers in 'Two sons of Prince Edward Island's Chief Justice, Thane A. Campbell, battled it out for the Island school boys' curling championship in Summerside Saturday, after two Charlottetown rinks had fallen by the wayside.

The older brother, Alexander, and his trio of helpers, Derwyn Huestis, Wyman Miller, and Clive Macdonald came out on top. With a Campbell directing the attack, and a Macdonald bringing up the rear, the Massacre of Glencoe must be pretty well forgotten.

The younger Campbell, Melville, didn't bring home the marbles, but he and his cohorts, David Silliphant, Garth Jenkins, and Bennett Clough were the real Cinderella team of the series. Their fondest supporters didn't expect them to win any games, but their fighting spirit carried them right to the finals. It was they who virtually eliminated both of the Charlottetown teams. They defeated the first team 14-11, and after the Capital City fours played each other with one bound to be eliminated, Mel, Campbell's scrappy broom wielder outlasted the survivors in a bitter, nip-and-tuck struggle which must have sapped some of the boys' energy. It is any wonder they were sitting ducks for brother Alex's sharpshooters when they played them less than two hours later?

This does not take anything away from the victors. They're a strong, evenly-balanced team and should bring credit to themselves, to the Town of Summerside, and to Prince Edward Island when they play the rinks of the other provinces in the Dominion school-boys curling bonspiel which begins in Moncton on February 18th. They won three straight games without a loss, and were never crowded. They finished under wraps each occasion. Good luck to them as they go after Dominion honors next week.

The Charlottetown boys took their defeat gallantly. Was talking to Morris Jenkins, mate of the team which went as far as the semi-finals. He thought it might be a good thing for the boys' game to have Summerside represented in the Dominion bonspiel this year after Charlottetown had represented the province for two years.

Saw three Major hockey games recently and all of them produced crowd-pleasing hockey. The two with Glace Bay were among the very best played at the Forum this season, and the one with Moncton produced a lot of thrilling plays too. Leo Lamoureux was with us in the press box, pacing definite schedule has as yet been worked out.

Somewhere in the background of all these activities is the Department of Physical Fitness, which is doing a large job on a small amount of money and doing it well.

To sum up what the smaller members of the community are doing with their spare time this winter, the Mother Superior of St. Joseph's Convent stated, "They play games, just like the ones we used to play, with a few new ones added." And Colonel L.W. Lowther of Prince Street School said, "In winter most of the small children play in the snow, and, of course," he added, "we all do a little snow-balling!"

Lepine Wins First Heat In Dog Derby

OTTAWA, Feb. 11 (CP)—Wilf Lepine, 31-year-old Quebec City musher who captured the 1950 International Sled Dog Derby, today won the first heat in the 1952 three-day classic.

His unofficial time for the 20-mile heat was two hours, eight minutes and 48 seconds. The daily heats were previously scheduled for 33 1-3 miles but derby officials were forced to change a section of the course because of snow conditions.

The floor like a man about to become a father. Lamoureux belongs with such fighting spirits as Leo Durocher, Johnny Evers, Eddie Shore, and Rocket Richards. They get into trouble as naturally as they breathe because of their fierce will to win. Always thorns in the sides of umpires, referees and League presidents, they are nevertheless the boys who put color into the games and keep the cash customers clicking the turnstiles.

What was to have been a walk-over semi-final series for the Freetown Royals league leaders of the South Shore League, over the Summerside High School, tall-enders, has developed into as close a series as one could hope to see. Two tie games, 8-8 and 3-3, have been played, and the Royals now realize that the Sum HI kids are no mean adversaries.

The High School boys seem to rise to the occasion when the big chips are down. Coach Schurman has his charges hitting on all cylinders now, and they will be hard to beat.

Ubrico Holds Long Lead In Scoring Race

Johnny Ubrico, 27 year old centreman of the Saint John Beavers remained nine points out in front during the past week in the race for M. M. H. L. point scoring honors.

Ubrico has 34 goals and 43 assists for a total of 77 points, nine more than runner-up Bud Polle of the Glace Bay Miners. Willie Marshall of the Islanders and Len Haley of the Miners are tied for third place with 67 points.

Centreman Billy Watson of Halifax made the biggest gain during the week to move up to fifth place with 66 points. Kenny Watson is in sixth place with 65 points and team-mate Tom Smelle in seventh with 64.
