 mean — just for a change of scene and a rest!" "Not off the Island" James amended gravely "but down to the mangel field. Wouldn't that be a pleasant outing for her?" And so it followed "as the night day," without question or regret, and wholly because a lone farmer at work in a wide field ever presents a challenge to his wife's pily and industry, we came at times to join him there, enjoying the blue and gold of the speeding October hours, loving the scent of the good earth as together we harvested "the ffulness thereof." Plunging the depths of a comradeship of long years, encouraging his plan that come another spring "we'll push back that other barn, Ellen and so as to have plenty of room for housing the crops and cattle, we could add a shed to it."

 Chatting of fields and stock, of plowing and wintering and those matters dear to the heart of an husbandman, regarding these of course from the farmers' point of view which allows for no cessation, for does not one generation in passing leave the continuation of its hopes to the next? Thus was part of our holiday spent.

 first sight; sometimes it takes quite a bit of coaxing. Since your friend is endowed with so many admirable qualities, why not be frank with him? Tell him you haven't known him long enough to love him, but that you admire him and enjoy his company. If he is satisfied with the possibility of winning you, continue the friendship.
DEAR MISS DIX: I have a girl friend who is very dear to me. My mother will not let me go to her home because several of her uncles have died of tuberculosis and her father is said to have it. My mother lets her come to my home (not too freely) and I can't tell my friend why I can't visit her. As I'm only 14 I like to have fun with girls my own age.
 DORIS
ANSWER: In order not to judge the case too harshly, your mother should have a talk with your family doctor on the situation. If his conclusion agrees with mother's, why not tell your friend frankly why you cannot go to her home? Illness is something no one can help and your mother's concern for you certainly shouldn't be held against either of you.

MR. MARCEL TREMPE . . .

Mr. Trempe, I understand you are a regular purchaser of Canada Savings Bonds. Why do you buy them?
 They're all for my boys, later on.

Did you buy your bonds at work? I mean from deductions from your pay?

No, I bought them from my bank. I transferred the money from my savings account into Canada Savings Bonds. I always work to a budget for the sake of my family; that is, so much is for living expenses, so much for clothing, and so much for recreation and vacation, and so much for savings. I think Canada Savings Bonds provide the best way to save. I paid cash for my bonds and they are there, safe, for when I need them.

Do you figure they will come in handy in case of sickness in the family, or perhaps to help you in your old age?

Not for me. I have the hospital plan for sickness and accident protection, and the old age pension plan, too. I have all that. My Canada Savings Bonds are all for my boys, for their education. The interest from the bonds will help with the expenses of ordinary schooling, and then the bonds themselves will provide the money for the boys to go to university. I want them to have the best, and with the bonds, I am budgeting for it now.

- NOW BETTER THAN EVER
- Canada Savings Bonds—6th Series—mature in 10 years and 9 months from date of issue and bear ten 3/4% coupons. The first coupon covers 1 year and 9 months and is payable on August 1st, 1953; subsequent coupons come due August 1st yearly thereafter until maturity. If cashed before August 1st, 1953, simple interest is paid at 2% per year, calculated monthly. If held to maturity the overall yield is equivalent to 3.21% per year. The limit for holdings in any one name is $5,000 in the 6th Series. The bonds are cashable at full face value, plus interest at any time at any bank in Canada. They are registered in the owner's name. They are non-assignable and non-transferable.

Mr. Marcel Trempe, at 31, is the father of three small boys of pre-school age. Mr. Trempe and his pretty brunette wife live in a smartly furnished upper flat at 1651 Lajoie Street, a pleasant suburban avenue in Trois Rivieres, Quebec. Mr. Trempe is a laboratory technician working on production controls in the Wayagamack paper-making plant, a job he has held for ten years. He is one of more than a million Canadians who save regularly with Canada Savings Bonds.*
