

A Song of Easter.

SING, children, sing!
 And the lily censers swing;
 Sing that life and joy are waking and that Death no more is king.
 Sing the happy, happy tumult of the slowly
 brightening Spring;
 Sing, little children sing;
 Sing, children sing!
 Winter wild has taken wing,
 Fill the air with the sweet tidings till the frosty echoes ring!
 Along the eaves the icicles no longer glittering cling;
 And the crocuses in the garden lift its bright
 face to the sun,
 And in the meadows softly the brooks begin to run;
 And the golden catkins swing
 In the warm airs of spring;
 Sing, little children, sing!
 Sing, children, sing!
 The lilies white you bring
 In the joyous Easter morning for hope are blossoming;
 And as the earth her shroud of snow from off
 her breast doth fling,
 May we cast our fetters off in God's eternal Spring.
 So may we find release at last from sorrow and
 from pain,
 So may we find our childhood's calm, delicious dawn again,
 Sweet are your eyes, O little ones, that look
 with smiling grace,
 Without a shade of doubt or fear into the Fu-ture's face!
 Sing, sing in happy chorus, with joyful voices
 tell
 That death is life, and God is good, and all things shall be well;
 That bitter days shall cease
 In warmth and light and peace,—
 That Winter yields to Spring,—
 Sing, little children, sing!
Celia Thaxter; St. Nicholas for April.

A Londoner recently told a reporter of Whitehall Review of one of those awkward contretemps which, happily, are of rare occurrence. He was travelling in Somersetshire, and had for his companions a reverend gentleman with his wife daughter and maid. Conversation after a while became mutual, and the Londoner opened the subject of education among other things. Said he to the reverend gentleman, "A curious question was put to my sister when at school as a test question at an examination, 'What is the name of the female fox?'—and curiously, although my sister had been born and bred in the country, and her companions at school likewise, none of them could answer the question. The answer was 'Vixen.'" The Londoner no sooner said this than he observed a cloud gather over the lady's brow; the daughter blushed, the maid looked confused, while the clergyman stared at him. Ignorant that he had given utterance to anything indecorous, or likely to cause this sudden change, he began to feel very much embarrassed, and was only aware of the extent of his iniquity when his clerical vis-à-vis handed him a card wherein to his horror he read, "Rev. — Fox — Rectory — Dorsetshire." He of course tendered a profusion of apologies, and avowed his entire ignorance of the name previously (which was a fact); but it was no good, conversation was impossible afterwards.

When Mrs. Emma Stricker's will was opened in New York the other day there was a lot of surprised people around. Her relatives received little or nothing, but fortunately they are pretty well off. She had, however, devised about $225,000 in charity. She left the Rev. Dr. Houghton, of the "Little Church around the Corner," $500 for himself and $10,000 for his church, and she left large sums to "Homes," Orphan Asylums, and Societies, giving to fully twenty different organizations. For the past year Mrs. Stricker has been an invalid, and had been kindly cared for by some lady friends, to them and their children she left almost all her money over and above her charitable gifts. She had once been a great belle in New York, and until her death kept a box in the Music Hall, but of late years her associations have been almost wholly with philanthropic persons.

WHAT TO RAISE.—At a meeting of the farmers of Northampton, Mass., to discuss the question, "What is the most profitable crop for us to raise this year?" Mr. A. T. Lilly, treasurer of the Nonotuck Silk Company, said that he would be one of one hundred men to raise an acre of sugar beets, and that he would be willing to deposit $100 in the bank to be paid to the man who could show the largest yield on an acre. During his remarks he said: "Sugar I can eat, but tobacco I cannot." When I come to my deathbed I wish to feel that I have done everything possible to benefit mankind and nothing to harm them; therefore I wish to encourage this industry in the hope that it may yet largely supersede the culture of tobacco among us.

There is a well in Kensington, N. H., which is thirty feet deep, and which was dug in one instant by lightning. The hole is as large round as a barrel, and was formed without throwing out any earth.

A Nashville mule driven by a boy was frightened by a dead hog in the street, ran away, and threw the boy, and the boy's father is suing the city for $5,000 damages.

MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS.
 The Greatest Medical Discovery since the Creation of Man, or since the Commencement of the Christian Era.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS are acknowledged by all who have used them, to act quicker than any other plaster they ever before tried, and that one of these plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different: the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

Physicians in all ages have thoroughly tested and well know the effect of Capsicum; and it has always been more or less used as a medical agent for an outward application; but it is only of very recent date that its advantages in a porous plaster have been discovered. Being, however, convinced of the wonderful cures effected by DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS, and their superiority over all other plasters, they now actually prescribe them, in their practice, for such diseases as rheumatism, pain in the side and back, and all such cases as have required the use of plasters or liniment. After you have tried other plasters and liniments, and they have failed, and you want a certain cure, ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER. You can hardly believe your own convictions of its wonderful effects. Although powerful and quick in its action, you can rely on its safety for the most delicate person to wear, as it is free from lead and other poisonous material commonly used in the manufacture of ordinary plasters. One trial is a sufficient guarantee of its merits, and one plaster will sell hundreds to your friends.

Ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and take no other; or, on receipt of 25 cents for one, $1 for five, or $2 for a dozen, they will be mailed, post paid, to any address in the United States or Canada.

CATARRH. Constitutional Catarrh Remedy CURES CATARRH.

Hear what a Reverend Gentleman says of the Constitutional Remedy.

T. J. B. HARDING, Esq., Brockville, Ont.:—
 "DEAR SIR—It is now two years since your 'Constitutional Catarrh Remedy' was introduced to me. I have waited this long to see if the cure would remain permanent before doing this, my duty, to you, as at first the happy effects seemed to me to be 'too good to be true.'"

I was afflicted in my head for years before I suspected it to be Catarrh. In reading in your Circular I saw my case described in many particulars. The inward "drop" from the head had become very disagreeable, and a choking sensation often preventing me from lying long. I would feel like smothering and be compelled to sit up in the bed. My health and spirits were seriously affected. When your agent came to Walkertown in August, 1876, I secured three bottles. Before I had used a quarter of the contents of one bottle I found decided relief, and when I had used two bottles and a third, I quit taking it, feeling quite cured of that ailment, and have not used any since until of late I have taken some for a cold in my head.

A sense of duty to sufferers from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, prompts me to send you this Certificate, unsolicited, with leave to make what use of it you may see proper. Yours truly,
