MR. AND MRS. JOHN MORGAN LLEWELLYN

Adventist Church Is Scene Of Pretty Autumn Wedding

The Seventh - day Adventist Church, Charlottetown, was the scene of a lovely wedding recently when Pastor Phillip Moores united in marriage Clara Elizabeth Sharam, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sharam, Charlottetown, and John Morgan Llewellyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Llewellyn, Hamilton, Ontario.

The church was attractively decorated with baskets of mixed gladioli.

Miss Sue Brenton was organist and accompanied Miss Jeanie MacKinnon as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in her floor length gown of white taffeta, made on princess lines with yoke of imported French lace, and shoulder length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

The bride's attendants were her two sisters. Joan, as matron of honor, wore a street length dress of rose taffeta with matching hat, and carried a nosegay of yellow and white carnations. Emma, as bridesmaid, wore blue taffeta. Her nosegay was pink and white carnations. The two flower girls, little Joanne Scantlebury and Sharon Taylor, looked winsome in their short frocks of yellow taffeta. They carried baskets of mixed flowers.

David Llewellyn, brother of the groom, was best man and the ushers were Gerald Burgoyne and Henry Sharam.

Mrs. Sharam's dress was of mauve silk with black hat and white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations. Mrs. Llewellyn wore a blue flowered silk dress with beige accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for over 100 guests was held in the banquet room of the YMCA where many beautiful fall flowers were arranged tastefully about the room.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom, flanked by lighted tapers and attractively arranged sweet peas. Mrs. Malcolm MacKinnon and Mrs. Maurice Burgoyne poured, while friends and former classmates of the bride, a graduate of the P. E. I. Hospital School of Nursing, class of '57, assisted in serving. Miss Jeanie MacKinnon was in charge of the guest book, and Tom Scantlebury announced the guests.

During the reception a number of telegrams of congratulations were received from distant friends and relatives. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Bryer Jones, and was fittingly responded to by the groom.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn left on a honeymoon trip through Nova Scotia. For travelling the bride wore a powder blue wool suit with mink collar, white accessories and a white corsage.

Among the out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. James Llewellyn, Hamilton, Ontario; Miss Shirley Faulkes, Melrose, Mass.; Bill MacLean, Campbellton, N.B.; and Mrs. Victor Shipowick and family, Moncton, N.B.; Mrs. Ralph Sears and Donald, Moncton, N.B.

Prior to her marriage the bride was entertained at several showers where she received many useful and valuable gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn will reside in South Lancaster, Mass., where the groom is a student at Atlantic Union College.

Order's Biennial Convention Has Unity In Faith As Theme

The fourth biennial convention of the P. E. I. Branch of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons was held last week in Heartz Memorial Hall of Trinity Church, Charlottetown.

The theme of the convention was "Unity in Faith."

The morning session opened with the president, Mrs. Ira M. Brown, presiding. The convention guests were Mrs. A. Ray Vanderbeck, Kansas City, Missouri, international president, and Mrs. G. C. Poole, Saint John, N.B., Canadian national president. Mrs. Vanderbeck replied to the address of welcome given by Mrs. L. T. Lowther. Before committees were named the devotions were read by Mrs. L. H. Simmons.

A brief survey was made of the new Baptist Church and of Government House, where Mrs. Hyndman graciously showed the visitors interesting parts of the lovely home.

AFTERNOON SESSION

In the afternoon motion was passed that Miss Jennie Turner be thanked for the purple satin banner she made for the International Order. It was displayed in a prominent place during each session and its artistry was admired and appreciated.

A letter of appreciation from Hugh MacLean for his six weeks at Chautauqua was read.

The slate of officers was chosen for the next two years and installed at the evening session by Mrs. G.C. Poole. They were: Past president, Mrs. Ira M. Brown; president, Mrs. A. B. Bagnall; first vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Avard; second vice-president, Mrs. Sinclair Cutcliffe; third vice-president, Mrs. Ernest S. Coffin. Also secretary, Mrs. Roy Huestis; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Bearsto; silver cross chairman, Miss Olga Toombs.

The executive officers are: Excelsior circle, Mrs. Erskine Haywood; Melody circle, Miss Jeannie Whitehead; April Showers circle, Mrs. Clarence MacPhail; Silver Cross circle, Miss Helen Lockhart; Willing circle, Mrs. Clair Hodgson.

The nominating committee was convened by Mrs. Walter Auld, with Mrs. Roy Huestis, Miss Ethel Sutherland and Mrs. George Cudmore as members.

INFORMAL TALK

Mrs. A. Ray Vanderbeck gave an informal talk on the International Order and urged that the name The King's Daughters and Sons be used at all times with special emphasis on the "The." There are 1,488 circles in the International Order, four of which have been organized recently in Japan by Mark Tong, a Chautauqua student in 1957.

Mrs. Vanderbeck stressed the importance of reaching out beyond Trinity church where all circles are now organized. The organization is world wide and not limited to any church or area.

Mrs. G. C.Poole urged more interest in Silver Cross magazine subscriptions. Junior work is most necessary, she said. Canada has sent 50 students to Chautauqua—the first was sent in 1920."Norway House in Manitoba can use your talents in many ways and we should contact Newfoundland and Hawaii for new members." A question box period brought the afternoon session to a close.

At 5.30 p.m. a Memorial and Communion service was held in the Trinity Church auditorium with Rev. A. Frank MacLean presiding. The fellowship banquet honoring Mrs. Vanderbeck and Mrs. Poole was attended by 75 Daughters. The dinner was prepared and served by the W. A. of Trinity church. Rev. and Mrs. MacLean, Rev. R. S. Latimer and Hugh MacLean were seated at the head table.

Mrs. Vanderbeck, in her address, stated that before "we can go forward we must go backward." There are three purposes of the order: religious, philanthropic and education. The International organization has maintained for many years a home for incurables, Memphis, Tenn., a hospital school for retarded children in Tenn., a home for unwed mothers in Missouri, and a hospital in Wheeling, Va. Other smaller projects are the objectives of hundreds of members.

CANDLELIGHT CEREMONY

After the banquet there was a short program. Mr. MacLean was brief in his remarks. Mr. Latimer sang "How Great Thou Art" and Mr. Hugh MacLean gave interesting account of his experience at Chautauqua during the summer.

The candlelight ceremony of the reception of new members and the installation of officers was impressive. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Vanderbeck and Mrs. Poole — cups and saucers with the Island Lady Slipper Emblem. Mrs. Ira M. Brown was presented with a past president's pin by the local group, also with a cup and saucer bearing the facsimile of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Mrs. Mary Donald Deans, who had organized two circles in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, C.A. enlivened the session with some unusual poems.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Dahlias Flaunt Gay Colors As First Frost Approaches

In a happening unusual at Alderlea set so close to the fresh water of the millstream, our dahlias blossom as in summer. Gay and bright, they are an unfailing joy to the cooks as they flaunt their varied colors in border and yard about. Tonight, however, there is a threat of frost in the cool October air, which may mark the close of their season.

"We had a couple of September frosts that spoiled my lovely dahlias" the mistress of a thousand acre farm in a far Province of the West wrote recently. "We had a dry summer here until the last week of July and then rain—so much we couldn't get our crops off. It is snowing as I write. Last night it froze very hard so the situation is disheartening and discouraging in regard to our grain crop, and there's nothing at all we can do about it."

Blest are we Island farm folks who with only odd delays could gather hay in its season, grain in the blue and gold of the harvest days and other field-work in its time.

"Go to town with you Ellen? Why, what a simple question", James exclaimed at breakfast when an appointment appeared there for the youngsters of the family which could not sensibly be denied. Granddaughter and Mack would attend a dental clinic in the interests of keeping teeth healthy.

"And what are you going to town for, dear?" Granddaughter asked Alex.

"Ice cream!" he grinned, replying promptly.

"Yes, dear, ice cream" she nodded.

Now in town leaves drift away from the old trees. A cool wind meets one along any shadowed street. One may catch the aroma of Autumnan heartfires — and in store windows in the display of warmer garb, note the change of the season.

And if as a result of our excursion the dinner at this house was not as James professes to like it, "Right on the table" when our share of the mangel-harvesters came to it, it was, we thought spiced all the better for the delay.

"This is good" Gage commented with a pleased smile.

"Yes, it is" Mack agreed finding the viands to his liking.

"Good!"James grinned teasingly, "any bite tastes good to a starving man. Now remember to eat slowly" he chuckled. "When folks have been without food as we were over a length of time, they should come to it only by degrees!"

And last mangels were gathered home just past the sunset to have another work of harvest laid in good time.

"We've only the turnips to save now—and the plowing to do" one said, mind going on to match the work with the shortening days and the season.

"Now, Ellen, put on your bonnet and sacque" James says glancing in the mirror on his way to the kitchen sink" and we'll go for a bit of a jaunt—It's too nice a night to remain indoors."

Until tomorrow — — — Diary, Good-night.

"Newer Trends In Nutrition" Is Topic At Home Ec. Meeting

The Prince Edward Island Home Economics Association met at Mulberry Lodge, Summerside for a dinner meeting on Oct. 16. The President, Mrs. L. E. Prowse, presided. After a delectable meal a brief business meeting was held. It was decided regular meetings would be held in future on the third Friday of Oct. Feb. and May, with other meetings as deemed expedient by the President.

The special speaker for the evening, Miss Doris Anderson, M. Sc. gave a most enlightening talk on the newer trends in nutrition based on material presented at the last conference held in Halifax.

Some facts stressed were: that surveys showed that milk, cheese citrus fruits, vegetables and whole-grain cereals are not consumed by all Canadians in sufficient amounts; that though evident deficiency of vitamins is rare there are too many cases where children suffer lack of vitamin D causing malformation of bones; that considerable harm is done by publication of inaccurate nutritional information; that the ideal weight of an individual at twenty-five years of age should be maintained throughout life; that 13 per cent of Canada's male population and 23 per cent of females are obese or overweight; that prevention of obesity should begin in childhood; that adherence to Canada's Food Rules is the key to optimum nutrition.

Mrs. C. Mercer thanked the speaker saying the review given was indeed a "refresher" course. The meeting adjourned after Mrs. J. Walter Jones, speaking on behalf of all present, thanked Mrs. Allison McLean for arranging the successful meeting.
