

is the cause of the spread of much disease. Mr. PROWSE—There was evidently some mistake in passing the Act of 1872. Large ideas then prevailed, and the people had an idea that the town would extend all over the Province. The Bill passed then provided for no interments within two miles. The Cemetery Company had still larger ideas and placed the Cemetery four miles out. There was a great deal of force in the petitioners' argument. They have bought property since 1872, on the guarantee that no Cemetery should be near it, and by placing this one where proposed their property will be depreciated. The safest course is to do the greatest good to the greatest number. It would be perpetuating a great wrong to say that forever after, a people must go two miles out. For many years the proposed site will be a sufficient distance for the health of the city. Any further distance would be burdensome. Mr. BENTLEY said the petitioner in his address gave the House much information it had not before. It was not desirable to have a dwelling house near a Cemetery. Property is very much lessened in value by it. We should look at both sides. Will it interfere with the rights of the Cemetery Company? Why not repeal the Act requiring them to go out two miles? That would be the better way. Even factories have been closed by Law. Mr. FARQUHARSON would not agree to repeal the Act. The other two cemeteries would be sufficient for half a century. If we repeal the Act, it may be the means of competition. The Cemetery Company made a great mistake in going out so far, as they knew the Act might be repealed. The Cemetery must be somewhere, and somebody will be annoyed. It is one of those chances that every man who holds property is liable to. The question is, will you ask these people to go two miles out or one? Mr. BEER had no objection to them coming within the limit; but will the rights of petitioners be protected? Mr. FARQUHARSON said the establishment of the two mile limit was a mistake; and the Cemetery Company made a greater mistake, which has imposed an immense hardship. We should clearly understand the other Bill now before the House; for we cannot have one limit for one denomination and another for another. The practical effect will be to repeal the two mile limit. One mile is sufficient. There will be no wrong-doing by passing this Bill. We have the right to legislate for the greatest good to the greatest number, at the same time looking to the convenience and health of the people. Mr. YEO—The only argument which weighed with him is, is the Legislature justified in repealing the Act? Will it not be injustice on those who had invested their money? It looks like a breach of faith to repeal the other Act. Mr. SULLIVAN said this Bill cannot interfere with the Sherwood Cemetery Co., as a different class of people will bury in this Cemetery. The other Company never expected to receive any of the Catholic population. There is no breach of faith so far as this Bill is concerned. Mr. YEO understood that, but the other Bill before the House would. He did not object at all to this Bill, but if a new Protestant Cemetery be established, the consequence will be that the grounds cannot be properly kept. Mr. BLAKE said, the objection to this Bill is that there is nothing in it respecting the rights of private individuals, and indemnifying them for any depreciation in their property which may ensue. If the Legislature admits this principle, there is no telling where it will end. It would be a bad precedent. No matter where opened the same objection exists. Petitioners property is also situate close to two other cemeteries, and property in that vicinity has since sold very high. The depreciation is more imaginary than real. The greater portion of the land in that vicinity is used for pasture purposes. A large number of private residences has been built close to the old Burying Ground, it could not have depreciated the property in that neighborhood. It is intended that this Cemetery shall be an ornament to the city. That this Cemetery be situated close to the city is of great importance to a large number of poor people, who will otherwise be prohibited from using it. He would not ask one privilege for one denomination and refuse it to another. The Chairman reported the Bill agreed to, it was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time to-morrow. The Private Bill Committee reported upon the Bill to incorporate the St. Eleanor's Cheese Factory Company, recommending that it be charged a fee of $12, which was agreed to. The Bill was ordered to be read a second time to-morrow. At 6.30 p. m., the House adjourned. After recess the SPEAKER took the Chair at 9.15 p. m. Mr. CAMPBELL laid on the table a return of the contracts entered into since 31st Dec. 1882, and the amounts paid thereon. Mr. JOHN McLEAN asked if it is the intention of the Government to provide a safe and vault for the Deputy Prothonotary's office in Georgetown. Mr. SULLIVAN replied that a safe was much required for the many important documents in the custody of that officer, and that provision will be made for their safe keeping. Mr. JOHN McLEAN asked if it is intended to widen the road from Hugh McNeill's, at Choptow to end of St. Catherine's Road. Mr. CAMPBELL was well acquainted with the locality. Parties had been requested to move their fences. The Supervisor will have power to compel them. The Act relating to peddlers was read a third time and passed. Mr. SULLIVAN introduced the "Appeal in Equity Act," which was read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time to-morrow. Mr. SULLIVAN moved the House into a Committee of the Whole, to consider the expediency of consolidating and improving various Laws relating to Bills of Sale. He explained what improvements were necessary. At present there are thousands of Bills of Sale on file, and it cannot be discovered whether or not they are paid. It is proposed that, within a reasonable time, at intervals, the party holding the same shall file an affidavit, setting forth that it still remains as an existing security. It is proposed also to prevent these documents being exposed to the view of every person searching. Doubts also have been raised as to whether Bill of Sale can secure future advances. Provision will be made to meet this point. Mr. MARTIN thought this a step in the right direction, but differed as to filing of affidavit. Did not see why the record of Bills of Sale should be more private than that of Mortgages. The provision for future advances was necessary. House in Committee.— Mr. PROWSE said the measure does not go far enough, most of fraud prevalent is owing to too much secrecy in business. No trader need be ashamed of his financial position—it was a false pride. No person should be encouraged by legislation to make his financial position any better than it really is. A man under the necessity of borrowing money need not be ashamed of it. There is no disgrace in poverty, but there is in dishonesty. We should not allow a person not worth one dollar to be encouraged by the public who imagine him worth thousands; the sooner such parties find their proper level, the better for society and the world in general. If record of Bills of Sale was published in the Royal Gazette, there would be very few of them, the more facilities given for secret transference of property, the more fraud. Mr. J. R. McLEAN thought Bill of Sale a safeguard, there would be greater fraud if none. Party may go and sell his goods, and when a creditor comes to look for them he finds them sold. The grantee has also to take affidavit that he receives the Bill of Sale in security for a certain amount. Mr. FARQUHARSON said the poor man has often to give a Bill of Sale for the necessities of life. Bills of Sale should not be exposed—objected to scale of fees, and said it was a deliberate attempt to take money from the people. Mr. GORBOY said that seven-eighths of the Bills of Sale are given to friends to defraud some honest creditor. If any obstacle can be thrown in the way, or method devised to put a stop to them, he should be glad. The suggestion to publish them in the Royal Gazette, is a good one. If a man loses a suit in the Supreme Court, it is known to the world. If he gives a Bill of Sale, it is right that the people should know it. Mr. FARQUHARSON was surprised at Mr. Gordon—by his argument he should publish a list of every man owing him, so that his neighbors should know it. Mr. McKAY said, the question of the fees makes no material difference. It is very evident that one of the outcomes of the non-imprisonment for debt is the great number of and necessity for Bills of Sale. There are five now for every one previous to that law being enacted. The poor man must suffer. A long discussion ensued as to the scale of fees. When the Speaker took the Chair, the Chairman reported two resolutions agreed to. On motion that report of Committee be received, an amendment was offered altering the scale of fees. The amendment was lost, and the main motion agreed to. A Committee was appointed to bring in a Bill in accordance with the resolutions, they accordingly reported "An Act respecting Bills of Sale" which was read a first time and ordered to be read a second time to-morrow. House adjourned at 11.30 p. m., till to-morrow at 1 o'clock. FRIDAY, April 13. Mr. SPEAKER took the Chair at 12.30 o'clock. Mr. BLAKE moved the third reading of the Bill entitled "An Act to authorize the opening of a Roman Catholic Cemetery." Motion carried. The Bill was read a third time and passed. Dr. GILLIS moved the second reading of the Bill entitled "An Act to incorporate the St. Eleanor's Cheese Manufacturing Company." Motion carried. House went into Committee. Mr. John McLean in the Chair. Mr. SPEAKER resumed the Chair and the Bill was reported agreed to. Mr. SULLIVAN moved the second reading of the Bill entitled "An Act to continue certain Acts therein mentioned." He said the Legislature had an undoubted right to re-enact the laws mentioned in the Bill, with the exception of the Act relating to fisheries. The Dominion Government now have charge of Fisheries. But, in New Brunswick a question has been raised as to the right of the Dominion Government to control the fisheries in certain streams; and while any uncertainty exists, it is deemed advisable for the Provincial Legislature to assert the rights of the Province. He mentioned the matter in order that, should this part of the Act be declared ultra vires by the Minister of Justice, it might be known that the Legislature did not pass it in ignorance of the circumstances relating to it. Motion carried. House in Committee, Mr. McKay in the chair. Mr. SPEAKER resumed the Chair, and the Bill was reported agreed to, without any amendment. Mr. MARTIN asked the Commissioner of Public Works whether it is the intention of the Government to open, this spring coming, a road leading to County Line across the Murray Harbor Road, being an extension of the Colville Road. Mr. CAMPBELL replied that the road referred to was known to him as the Green Marsh Road; that its opening had been authorized by order in Council; that deeds had been signed and the compensation paid; and that the road would be opened in the spring. Mr. SULLIVAN moved the second reading of the Bill entitled "An Act to further amend an Act for rendering a written memorandum necessary for the validity of certain promises and engagements." He explained that under the existing law a co-contractor may be made liable for a debt after the six years fixed by the Statute of Limitations have expired, if his fellow-contractor should, within the six years, make a payment on account, even so small a sum as twenty-five cents. Under the Bill it is provided that a payment on account shall only bind the co-contractor who makes it. Mr. McLEOD said there is no doubt that this Legislation is required; but the Legislature should be cautious about passing the measure as introduced. The Bill is retrospective in its operation, and would effect securities now held by creditors who accepted them under the provisions of the existing law. Mr. MARTIN thought the principle of the Bill very good indeed, and that some provision should be made to meet the defect in the present law; but in his opinion it should not have a retrospective action. Motion carried. House in Committee. Mr. J. R. McLean in the Chair. After some time.— Mr. SPEAKER resumed the Chair, and the Bill was reported agreed to with certain Amendments rendering the operation of the Act prospective only. The Legislative Council, by message, announced that they had passed the following Bills without any amendment:— 1. An Act to incorporate the Herald Printing Company. 2. An Act to protect the Manufacture of Butter and Cheese. 3. An Act to incorporate the Montague Hall Company. 4. An Act to incorporate the Eldon Public Hall Company. 5. An Act in further Amendment of an Act to incorporate the City of Charlottetown. 6. An Act to incorporate the Mill View Creamery Company. 7. An Act to further Amend the Public Roads Act, 1879. 8. An Act to further Amend certain Acts relating to the Town of Summerside. 9. An Act to incorporate the Trustees of Orwell Church, in connection with the Church of Scotland. 10. An Act to Amend an Act to Comminate the Crown Revenues of Prince Edward Island, and to provide for the Civic List thereof, as well as for certain compensations therein mentioned. 11. An Act to incorporate the Island Steam Navigation Company, of Prince Edward Island. TO BE CONTINUED.

THE DAILY EXAMINER, APRIL 14, 1883.

King's County Election Case.

The decision in this case had to be that Dr. Robertson was not a qualified candidate, and that the election was either void, or that Mr. McDonald should have been returned. No court of law and justice in the land would have confirmed Dr. Robertson's title to the seat, for the title was fundamentally unsound, and in declaring Mr. McDonald the qualified candidate elected, the Committee of Privileges and Elections acted in strict accord with the law, as quoted by THE EXAMINER some weeks ago. Dr. Robertson, and his advisers will now know that it is unsafe to play tricks with the law; and the people who were duped by them will, after this, heed the warnings of THE EXAMINER. Before the election THE EXAMINER plainly told the electors of King's County that if they voted for Dr. Robertson, they would lose their votes; and those who voted for him have lost their votes. Again.

ADMITTING that the anticipated ravages of the potato bug proves chimerical,—that our fears are groundless, and that the tocsin of alarm which we sound may be fallacious; yet the saying that "it is better to be sure than sorry," has a practical significance in connection with the potato bug question. That the dreaded "bug" has reached the Island is an admitted fact. It is confined to a few localities,—and as yet it has done little or no harm to the potato crop. While it is yet weak in numbers, and before it can spread throughout the land, and pursue its dire devastations, is the time to stamp it out. Steps should not only be taken to exterminate the "bug," but measures devised to prevent its appearance again on our soil, or to summarily arrest its progress should it ever again make its way here. Stamp the bug out now, and our farmers will be "sure;" let it spread, and they will become "sorry" enough when it is too late. To suppose that the bug will not spread and prove as destructive, as in the United States and our sister Provinces, is sheer nonsense. Since the day when the pioneer farmers, on the confines of the United States, became painfully aware of the terrible destructiveness of the insect, the Colorado beetle, or "potato bug" has marched on to conquest, voracious, irresistible, unconquerable. Gathered by the bushel, destroyed by millions, appliances without number devised for its destruction,—yet it has had a cheerful confidence in its destiny, and it re-appears in countless hordes, in new fields, while it leaves enough of its progeny on the old fields of conquest to make it "lively" for farmers in fighting for their potato crops. It has traversed the Continent, spreading to right and left, sparing no potato growing regions; and to suppose that, after reaching Prince Edward Island, the "bug" will change its nature, its voraciousness, its destructiveness, is nonsense of the most unmitigated kind. The potato crop of Prince Edward Island is the most important of our products. The potato fattens our pork, it builds up and fattens in a great measure our beef cattle, it greatly adds to the flow of milk from which comes our butter and cheese, it furnishes a large bulk of the food of our people, and the large quantities of potatoes exported bring a large annual sum to the pockets of the farmers. Its easy culture, and the condition of tilth in which the growing of potatoes leaves the land, prepares it for future good crops of grain and hay, and almost, if not wholly, leaves the potato crop clear profit to the farmer. Let our rulers and our farmers look to it that the potato crops of the future are not endangered or partially destroyed by culpable neglect,—by failure to exterminate the potato bug, while it is yet time. We are pleased to note that the Hon. Donald Ferguson has given notice that he will submit to the Legislature a Bill respecting the suppression of the threatened pest. THE STEAMER "NOTTING HILL," of the Hill Twincrew Steamship Line, 2,616 tons, which left New York for London on the 31st inst., encountered a hurricane on the 21st inst., at lat 41 37, long. 55 13. The officers report that for three days the storm raged with severity, and for fifty hours the steamer laid on her beam ends. After the storm had abated the captain found the ship 400 miles from Halifax, and headed the vessel for that port where she arrived on the 10th inst. The damage done to the steamer can hardly be estimated until a thorough survey is made. Every portion of the vessel was affected to a greater or lesser extent. When the storm was at its height the vessel was completely immersed up to the saloon deck, to which the crew numbering seventy-nine all told, resorted as a place of safety. The water getting into the engine-room extinguished the fires, and thus the steamer was helpless during the greater part of the hurricane. Sixty feet of the steel bulwarks on one side were swept away, thirty-three feet of which were left overboard. A large amount of water was shipped, some six feet being in the hold, damaging the cargo considerably. The force of the sea drove the masts down, the skylights, and carried away the mazzan-boom, tore away one of the hatches, smashed the steam-pipes, carried away three of the boats, and damaged the others so badly that they were almost useless, and carried away everything movable not securely fastened to the deck, bursting open her midship house and smashing to atoms all the doors amidships. During the storm all hands worked until exhausted, and for 48 successive hours labored for their lives. The pumps at last got choked up, causing the men to stop working for a while. The crew wanted to abandon the ship, but the captain managed to keep them all together. There were three saloon passengers on the steamer, making 82 persons as the total number on board.
