9 Witnesses Called By Crown, Two By Defence As Trial Is Continued

The trial of Roderick Jeremiah Steele of Cardigan, charged with criminal negligence in the death of Douglas Shephard, also of Cardigan, went into the second day yesterday with nine more witnesses for the prosecution and two witnesses for the defence being heard. More defence witnesses will be heard today. The Supreme Court sittings are being presided over by Mr. Justice Mark McGuigan. Representing the Crown are Premier in Attorney General A. W. Matheson and J.P. Nicholson. Representing the accused are James Johnston and Somerled Trainor. The first witness, Michael Sullivan, farmer of Roseneath, stated that he saw Steele at his (Sullivan's) home at Roseneath about 6:30 or 7 on July 28. Steele arrived in his truck accompanied by Carl Cronin and Charles McLellan. They drank part of a bottle of wine and left for Poole's Garage and Adrian Sullivan's. They then went to Peter McAulay's and from there to the restaurant at Cardigan. They left shortly for the dance at De Gros Marsh. There were eight in the cab, Steele, Betsy MacDonald, Cronin with Beatrice Publicover on his knee, McLellan, the witness, and Adrian Sullivan on Adrian's knee. On the back of the truck were Douglas Shephard and Urban McLellan. The witness said he had poor view of the road but saw no traffic. After picking up Joseph Campbell, he said, the truck went a short distance and went into the ditch and rolled over. He did not feel a bump, he said. He noticed the bushes close to the truck, and heard someone shout for Steele to pull the truck out. After truck had rolled over, he got out, he said, and helped the others out. He saw Shephard when they rolled back the truck and the boy was still living then as he felt his pulse. He accompanied George MacPhee back to Cardigan with young Shephard and also went to the hospital at Montague. On cross examination he said he and three others had finished the bottle of wine of which about a half bottle was left. He had two drinks he said. There was no more drinking that night, the witness stated, he was with the group the whole time and saw no one drinking. He said that the bushes on the road at the scene of the accident were quite close to the road, and he also said that the night was foggy in places. Steele's driving seemed alright to him, he said. When they were leaving in Mac-and saw his head nod a couple of times. Steele went to MacPhee's for help, and when truck arrived she went to Cardigan. She also recalled Steele asking the driver MacPhee to go faster to Cardigan to get the boy home quickly.

POLICE EVIDENCE
Donald S. Davis R.C.M.P. Charlottetown, stated that on July 28, he was stationed at Montague and saw Shephard on the back seat of Father O'Haney's car. The time was 11:30 A.D.T. He said he saw Steele at the same time. He asked Steele had driven the truck and Steele had replied that he had driven it. He requested Steele to accompany him to the office, which he did. The witness said he could detect an odor of liquor from Steele's breath and that he was uneasy on his feet. His condition was not normal, the witness said. He radioed for Constables Pettit and Fischl to come to the office. Later, he said, the officers conveyed Steele to his home.

DRIVING WAS ALRIGHT
Beatrice Publicover, Georgetown gave evidence similar to that of Sullivan's regarding events leading up to the accident. She said she heard someone telling Steele to pull the truck out of the ditch. She was hurt, she said, and was taken to the hospital. On cross examination she said it was a little foggy. She said that she had looked at Steele before the accident and that he was looking straight ahead, and that his driving was alright.

where the whole night. When he arrived, he said, he saw a vehicle with the right front wheel in the washout. A tractor came to pull it out.
He stated that he had looked at the tracks after the truck was pulled out, and that the heavy track was not that of the truck and which had been pulled out. He said he had seen Steele at the Montague R. C. M. P. office, and that his eyes were bloodshot and an odor of alcohol was on his breath.

On cross examination he said he did not know what had made the second track. He said he noticed the track approaching the curve about two feet from the side, but at the washout the tracks is only a few inches away. The deepest part of the washout, he said, was at the side of the culvert.
Constable Peter Austin, R. C. M. P., Montague, stated that he accompanied Constable Pettitt to the scene of the accident about 9:30. He said he saw the washout. He remained there when Constable Pettitt left and he was there when Mr. MacPhee's truck went into the washout.

John Anthony Gallant, registrar of motor vehicles, Charlottetown, was called. Mr. Johnston objected to his giving evidence. The jury was asked to retire while the legal questions were settled.
Mr. Nicholson maintained that Mr. Steele not having a license, contributed to criminal negligence in accordance with the definition. Mr. Johnston maintained that such was not correct.

Judge McGuigan stated that there must be a cause and effect between the having or not having of the license and the accident. In other words that not having a license caused the accident or contributed to it. He ruled that Mr. Gallant's evidence was not admissible.
This concluded the evidence for the prosecution.

DEFENCE WITNESSES
The defense called Urban McLellan as its first witness. He said he lived at Cardigan, and saw Steele at the restaurant there that night. Steele's condition was alright, he said. He got in the back of the truck with the witness. He saw Shephard getting on the truck and sat near the cab on the top edge of the side of the box with his back to the road. They picked up Mr. Campbell, he said, and then went a short distance when truck went into the ditch and rolled over.

On cross examination, he said he saw the washout at the bottom of the grade on the right side of the road. From the Cardigan side, the beaten part of the road was closer to side and at the washout a foot of the washout. He also said that he saw signs of travel within inches of the tracks that night and had seen only one track going into the washout. And on viewing a photo, he said, he did not know how the other track got there.

Witness Albert Fischle, R. C. M. P., Charlottetown, stated that he went to the scene of the accident about 12:30 a.m.s.t. Constables Austin and Wilson were there. He and Constable Wilson remained he remembered that Campbell was on the same side as Shephard. He also stated that he had a warning truck was going into the ditch when it struck the hole, but later said that he had no warning.

We're glad to report that aluminum gets a Cordon Bleu from the gastronomes. They use it in conveyors, containers and kitchen equipment; and they use nothing else for packaging their products. They respect the way tasteless, odorless, moisture-proof aluminum respects their creations, keeping their freshness and delicacy of flavor till the magic moment when they reach the table.
