

Islanders Come From Behind To Defeat Hawks

DOWN THE BACK STRETCH

A correction—In our Maritime Harness Review which appeared last Saturday we regretfully made an error in the amount of purse money distributed by the Provincial Exhibition Association, Charlottetown. It should have been $56,048—the largest amount paid by any track in the Maritimes. Next Wednesday afternoon the Directors meet to consider their program for this year. They have had a very busy time since they took over a few years ago and new buildings and other improvements are evidence of their determination to keep the Association to the forefront not only as an exhibition centre but also in racing both afternoon and night. We extend to them every wish for success in the coming year.

A special meeting of the Woodstock Driving Club was held recently and it was unanimously decided to go ahead with the ordering of materials for the lighting of the Island Park Raceway so that night racing may be staged on the Park oval. Incorporation has been applied for and shares will be issued with a par value of $100. The bulk of the shares have all been subscribed. Woodstock is particularly well situated to make a success of night racing as it is only a short distance from Houlton and other Maine centres where there are large numbers of horsemen and racers. The Woodstock track is one of the finest and fastest in the Maritimes and the personnel of the board of directors is an excellent one. We wish them every success in their new venture.

A valuable shipment of horses left the premises of Myron MacArthur, Kensington, in the closing days of 1950. To William Stiles of Woodstock went Dianna Dale, a five-year-old bay mare by Playdale 2.04, dam, Margaret L. by Bill L. 2.16 1/2, sire of three in 2.10. Also to the same party a two-year-old black foal by Abner T. Clegg 2.04, dam, Symbol Martha by Symbol S. Forest. For J. Henry DeWitt of Woodstock, the two-year-old pacer Mr. McGee by Abner T. Clegg, dam, May Win by Watson Peter. In exchange Mr. DeWitt is sending back to the Island Sir Vihart's Margaret. To Bob Hamilton, Woodstock, went the five-year-old brown trotting gelding Joe Dale by Playdale, dam, Mae West by Colonel Aubrey. This is a very promising trotter. In addition there were two mares that had been bred to Lucky Spencer 2.10 1/2 that were being returned to Maine. In charge of the carload was W.D. Proffitt of Kensington.

Walter S. Gibbons, race secretary Roosevelt Raceway, sent up a season's greetings card with a reproduction of a Currier and Ives print of the celebrated trotting mare Lucy winning the fourth heat of the $5,000 trot at Buffalo, August 9, 1874—time, 2:17 1/4. Lucy was driven by Orin G. Hickok, known in his day and era as "the Tallyrand of the Turf". Lucy was a very wide-gaited trotter, in fact she was described as throwing her feet all over the track, but she was also a most determined one and fought every race to the last stride. She excelled when the heats were split up. It was the days when a horse had to win three heats to cap first money and some of her races went to as many as nine heats.

One of the happiest horsemen of 1950 is Joseph J. Purcell, who lives in Trumansburg, N.Y. In 1947 he developed a blood clot on the brain. His right side was paralyzed and he lost his speech. After nine months in hospital he returned home very low in strength and spirit and his doctor recommended something to give him a mental uplift. His wife remembered that he had owned and driven harness horses for twenty years prior to being a railroad employee but he had not had a horse since 1937. Both she and the doctor agreed it would be a great thing to get him back in the sport, so they persuaded him to attend the Harrisburg, Pa. sale of 1948. Locking over the colts he selected Dan Flashy, by Darnley, paying $1,000 for him.

He looked after the colt as much as he was able and he and his wife became all wrapped up in it. In 1949 he was trained at nearby Saratoga by Al Winger, but Purcell played a big hand in the colt's triumph. That season he did well as a two-year-old, winning over $3,000 and took a record of 2:10 2/5, but it was just a prelude to his 1950 campaign where he won 13 firsts and took a trotting record of 2:01 at Lexington, Kentucky. That made him the season's champion three-year-old trotter, heading such great stake winners as Lusty's Song 2:02 and Star's Pride 2:02 1/2. His earnings rolled up to over $19,000 and recently Mr. Purcell declined an offer of $50,000 for the son of Darnley.

Perhaps one of his most outstanding performances of the past season was in the Classified Trot, purse $2,000 at Yonkers Raceway, New York, Oct. 18, where he met a field of high-class aged trotters. With Joe O'Brien he scored a sensational victory, time, 2:04 3/5—a new track trotting record. It was this record set up by Darn Flashy that Joe O'Brien lowered again on the night of November 3rd, when he won the Junior Free For All Trot, purse $3,000, with the four-year-old Martha Doyle in 2:04 2/5.

Frank L. Wiswall, secretary of the U.S.T.A., has always been an ardent supporter of harness horse racing and is one of the big guns behind Saratoga Raceway. Recently Mr. Wiswall purchased Rummy-meade Farm near Saratoga Springs and has stocked it with brood mares and stallions. The Geysler, a trotter, and Realistic, a double-gaited performer. Both are bred in highly popular lines. There is also an excellent band of brood mares. Mr. Wiswall's horse holdings include as well, yearlings and weanlings by such 2.00 sires as Nibble Hanover 1.58 1/2, Peter Song 2.00 and Dean Hanover 1.58 1/2. Frequently Mr. Wiswall handles the ribbons behind his horses and is considered one of the best amateur drivers in the state of New York.

Charlie Mills, top European trainer who has been on the retired list for some time, is opening a public stable and will race trotters of French owners Rene Michel and M. Devravandiere. While visiting Europe in 1928 in company with W. Chester S. McLure, we were present at the Berlin track one afternoon when Charlie Mills won four races. Racing was on the handicap system—not nearly as exciting as our system with the Starting Gate. Charlie was certainly a masterful driver and no doubt he has kept up his reputation.

American visitors were few in Germany at that time and we were spotted when we came to the entrance with our tickets and given a very courteous salute by two of the stewards, who were wearing top hats, Prince Albert coats and striped trousers. Our hotel was the Adlon, then the finest in the world but destroyed by bombs in World War 2. The room we had was fit for a prince, with carpets that one would sink into and brocade silk on the walls, $7.00 in American money paid for the room for both of us, which was mighty reasonable.

A week afterwards we went to Vincennes, France, and saw the trotting races on Sunday afternoon. The attendance was over 100,000 with some 20,000 people seated and the balance all over the grounds. We didn't know a soul in that vast throng—so we thought—until, "Hi you Islanders!" We turned around and saw the smiling face of a Charlottetown girl who was studying art in Paris. The Paris-mutuels did an enormous business with bets on as few as five francs taken (equivalent to about nine cents in American money). Three of us hired a taxi which took us out some fifteen miles to the track, waited for us and took us back at a cost of $5.00 American money. It was certainly a great time to see Europe.

Our congratulations to Walter S. Found of Merced, California, formerly of New London, P.E.I., who has been elected President of the Pacific Coast Trotting Association, which is giving a big Spring harness meeting from May 7th to June 16th. Walter is one of the top men in harness racing in sunny California and he got that way because of his interest in horse racing when a boy in New London.

Frank McKay has the earliest, or one of the earliest, goals of 1951. The filly arrived at 10.30 New Year's morning, bred by Calumet Budgong 2:02 1/2, dam, Josedale Lady Lou 2.12. A year ago Frank bought the dam and Moon Glow 2.12 from John Walker of Halifax. Both are bred in the purple and their progeny should be quite valuable.

A former Maritime race horse that has made good this season is Colonel Dan 2:03 3/5, by Calumet Fingo 2:04, dam, Nancy Carroll 2:08.

Ike Williams Scores Kayo In First Round Of Bout With Gatica

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—(AP)—Lightweight champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N.J., dropped Jose Gatica, three times to knock-out the Argentine battler in 2.09 of the first round tonight in a non-title bout at Madison Square Garden.

Williams weighed 140 1-4; Gatica 138.

Bidding his time while Gatica flurried madly in the first minute, Ike curried in the 9-5 underdog for counts of three and six. When he went down a third time from a terrific right-hand punch, referee Ray Miller stopped it.

Blood cascaded from Gatica's nose. Dazed and bewildered he obviously was in no condition to continue.

The stocky little Argentine, moved into a main bout after a knockout victory over Terry Young, ran into four solid left hooks and a right before the referee called it a right.

The first hook sent him down, baby-blue shoes and all for a count of three. Another short hook by the sharp-shooting champ floored him for six. The crowd was yelling to "stop it" as the blood poured from Jose's battered nose.

But he got up and ran pell-mell into two more hooks and a right hand clincher to end it.

Record Entry For Dog Derby

OTTAWA, Jan. 5—(CP)—The largest entry list in history will match speed and stamina here Feb. 8, 9 and 10 to compete in the annual International Dog Derby over a lengthened course.

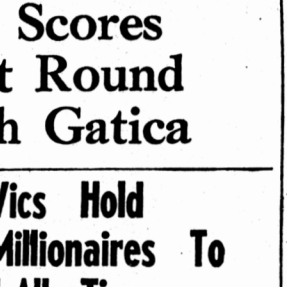

George Boivin, chairman of the Ottawa Junior Board of Trade, which sponsors the event, announced today that the course this year will run 100 miles instead of the previous 90-miles, and will be run in three daily laps of 33 1-2 miles each.

The race is for the Ballard Challenge Trophy and a $2,125 purse. The winning driver will receive the trophy and $1,000, the remainder of the cash award being divided among those finishing second, third and fourth.

The 33 1-2-mile course starts on the frozen Rideau Canal in the heart of Ottawa and loops cross-country in a southerly direction before swinging back to finish at the starting point.

Heading this year's entry list is Will Lepine of Quebec, a husky bushman who came home an easy winner in the 1950 race with a combined time of eight hours, 41 minutes and 30 seconds.

Some 15 teams are expected to take part in this year's race, compared with a dozen last year.

Vics Hold Millionaires To 1-All Tie

SYDNEY, N.S., Jan. 5—(CP)—Lowly, Northside Victorias held league-leading Sydney Millionaires to a 1-1 tie tonight in a Cape Breton Senior Hockey League game that was featured by a misconduct penalty to Sydney's hot-tempered goalie.

A fan poured abuse on Nick Pidsodny during the first period only to be soundly rebuffed when the boiling net-minder bounded over the boards and did battle as the play ended.

Dean McBride served the penalty for Nick, who already has collected a couple of misconducts for fighting. Apart from that outburst, the game was almost free of penalties.

Cliff Roach, a hometown boy, notched Sydney's goal in the first frame and Bob Verrier tied it up for Northside in the third. Some 2,000 fans witnessed the encounter.

North Sydney—Goal, Prophet; defence, Robertson, Scattolon; centre, Petersen; wings, Demarco, Bellinger; subs, Storey, Verrier, Medynski, Glover, Gallagher, Beatty, Ripku, Olsen.

Sydney—Goal, Pidsodny; defence, Rockey, Matthews; centre, Whalen; wings, McRae, MacIntyre; subs, Birukov, Berry, Marchant, Roach, Cupolo, Bowness, McBride, May, Hildebrand.

Officials—Goode, Elliott.

First Period
1—Sydney, Roach 1.06
Penalties—Pidsodny (misconduct).

Second Period

HUNTERS' CORNER

To hunt with the aid of dogs versus no hunting dogs allowed to be used by hunters seems to be a question under discussion in some quarters. This past fall I heard a hunter at a Game Meeting in Charlottetown speak on the subject. To quote in part: "I wouldn't allow a hunter with a dog on my farm... anyone who hunts with a dog is not a sportsman..." unquote.

Another speaker at a later Game Meeting is credited with saying: "There's something wrong with their heads" referring to hunters with dogs that and dogs. The crowning climax came less than two months ago when a Resolution was passed at a Game Meeting "WHEREAS hunters with dogs do this and WHEREAS hunters with dogs do something else it is therefore resolved..."

When I hear a speaker break out in a rash over the practice of using dogs as assistants while hunting game I reach the conclusion that the outbreak is inspired by one of two things... either the speaker has not the foggiest idea of the meaning of the word 'sportsman' or it's a case of the fox who lost his tail.

At this point I'd like to ask a question: "Who kills the most birds out of each covey contacted, the hunter who plays a lone hand or the one who takes a Setter or Pointer along? Who has earned the right to be classed as a sportsman, the hunter who crawls on all fours along a roadside ditch, belting under a fence and blasts a sitting covey and then brags about killing ten in one shot or the hunter, who turns his Setter or Pointer loose and after the birds have squatted out of sight in the grass or stubble walks in front of the 'pointing' Setter and kicks the birds out and takes his chances on a wing shot?"

I'll admit that the hunter with a dog finds more coveys than the hunter who hunts without one; many more in fact but the hunter with a dog throws away any chance of a sitting shot. I do not want anyone to harbor the thought that a hunter with a Setter or Pointer shoots at the coveys on the ground in front of his dog. To be frank he has no choice in the matter. In grass or stubble it's almost an impossibility to spot a covey on the ground after a 'point' is made. On rare occasions on bare terrain, such as close cropped pasture, one sometimes spots the birds on the ground. However in this type of cover they do not lie very close. I have walked in front of a Pointer when he was on 'point' on a ploughed field and thought he was 'spooking' until the covey rose. Huns can flatten themselves in the narrow slits between the furrows where they are practically invisible.

If a hunter is a poor wing shot I say take 'em on the ground rather than go home with an empty game pocket. With the price of meat what it is a pair or two of Huns or a grouse or pheasant help out the family budget as well as furnish a tasty meal. I have on many occasions during the past fifteen years watched a hunter climb over a fence back on to the highway, after taking a shot at a covey bunched on the ground, with six or eight Huns doing a sort of Derwish dance in their hands, spinning and fluttering like something possessed. I never feel envious of the hunters on occasions like this. If they want to hunt them that way, so what. What does get my dander up is when I hear 'pot' hunters beef about sportsmen and their dogs.

5-Goal Outburst In Third Period Gives Local Team Victory

MONCTON, N.B., Jan. 5—(CP)—Charlottetown Islanders rapped in five goals in the last period tonight to defeat Moncton Hawks 5-3 in a Maritime Senior Hockey League game.

Playing before the largest crowd since early in the season, the Hawks battled the Islanders for two periods, scoring a pair of goals in the first and holding the visitors scoreless in the first and second.

A penalty to Frank Imonti with the score tied at three-all paved the way for Hawks downfall and enabled the Islanders to score their game winning margin.

The game was a close checking affair all the way. Big Phil Vitale drew a minor penalty for slashing McKenzie, had the sentence increased to a misconduct for using abusive language then was thrown out of the game for grabbing the referee.

Danny Horeck was the star of the game for the Islanders. He scored the last two goals with Frank Bathgate drawing an assist on both tallies.

McLagan, Morrow and Beaton were the other Charlottetown scorers. Mike Demchuk scored a pair for Hawks. Defenceman Joe Delmonte was the other Moncton marksman.

Ten penalties were handed out during the bruising battle, including the triple sentence imposed on Vitale, and a major to Ready for checking McKenzie into the boards. Eight of the penalties went to Islanders.

Shots on goal were held to a minimum by close checking. Les Colvin in the Moncton cage handled 18 to 15 on Strain, who was subbing for Hal Gordon, Islanders regular netminder.

Lou Milani returned to Hawks lineup after an absence of several weeks. He had been traded to Shawinigan Falls of the Quebec Senior League for two players. He was ordered back to the Hawks when only one of the two Shawinigan players involved in the trade showed up in Moncton.

Charlottetown—Goal, Strain; defence, McLagan, Dutchak; centre, Bathgate; wings, D. Horeck, J. Horeck; subs, Vitale, Ready, Trainer, Pawlyshyn, Morrow, Beaton, Beaudry, Clements.

Moncton—Goal, Colvin; defence, Durville, Delmonte; centre, Barkwell; wings, Demchuk, Imonti; subs, Galipeau, Denny, Miller, McKenzie, Dowling, Milani.

Referee—Swain; linesmen, Bradshaw, Taylor.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 4—(AP)—Three claimants asked Federal court today to declare Maine State Raceways bankrupt. Their petition for involuntary bankruptcy alleged the corporation, which built and operated Scarborough Downs last summer, is insolvent and has committed acts of bankruptcy. An answer filed by the racing firm denied both allegations. Date for hearing was not set.

IN THE CORNER

The first scheduled basketball game of the season will get underway at the Prince of Wales College auditorium next Wednesday night when the Prince of Wales and Y.M.C.A. hoopsters clash in the opening game of the Island Physical Fitness Basketball League.

The league will have six teams competing for the Physical Fitness Trophy again this year and will be composed of two teams from Summerside and four from Charlottetown. The representatives from the Western Capital will be the R.C.A.P. Flyers, the defending champions, and Schurman's, while Ray's Millionaires, Saint Dunstan's University, P.W.C. and Y.M.C.A. will represent this City.

Although the complete schedule has not been released yet, it is expected that all six teams will play a total of 10 games each, the same as last year, before entering into semi-final and final playoff competition for the title. The four top teams at the end of the regular schedule will compete in the playoffs. Most of the contests will be double bills at both Charlottetown and Summerside, with the two main playing days being on Wednesday and Saturday.

With many of the teams having lost a number of last years players through one reason or another, and replacing them with new material, the first few games will be more or less of unknown quantity as far as strength and competition is concerned. This should add to the keenness and interest for ardent hoop fans, and if the league produces the same calibre of play it has in the past couple of years, then followers of the sport should be in for plenty of smart basketball this winter.

Other hoop leagues are also expected to get their schedules underway shortly in juvenile and interscholastic brackets and although their starting dates have not been released yet, the various squads have been warming up with practice sessions and exhibition encounters to round their squads off for league competition.

Since the start of the New Year interest in curling has heightened hereabouts with scheduled competitions getting underway. The "Flying Curlers" are set for their annual jaunt which takes them this year to Chicago. The local club will be represented once again at the Quebec Bonspiel with a rink composed of George Hawkins, Rankine McLeane, Gordon "Dick" Hughes and L. H. Poole. The rink will leave here on January 27th and on that date, Saturday, play matches at both the Moncton and Beaver Clubs in the hub centre.

Speaking of curling J. Finlay MacLeod, big cog in the organization of the Flying Curlers, has been appointed the one and only representative for the Maritimes of the Kenzie Curling Stone Co. in Edinburgh, Scotland. Finlay states that there are now only two firms that supply "rocks"—both in Scotland. Larnachshire and Ayrshire claim to be the cradles of curling and near the home of the Kenzie Co. lies the famous Crawfordjohn quarries (now defunct) that formed so many of the curling stones of the past.

According to reports from the West Coast, Murph Chamberlain, now coaching the Vancouver Canucks, claims that he has the "rock" of the year in Kevin "Crusher" Conway, former Islanders defenceman from Vankleek Hill, Ont. Conway, who started the season with Islanders after playing with the Memorial Cup Champions, Montreal Junior Canadiens last year, left here to join the Canucks early last month for his first start in professional competition. Kevin, who is a great team man and a colorful crowd-pleaser as well as a fast-breaking defenceman, apparently is doing all right at that rate.

The "Old Hardrock" of the N. H. L. is also making a lot of other predictions about his team in the Pacific Coast Hockey League this year. Chamberlain claims that a new left winger purchase by the name of Normie Kirk will be "the best deal for Canucks since '06, and if it doesn't TLI run up and down Granville Street, on my hands." Blowing up his new player Chamberlain states "Before this season ends mark these words: Kirk will be the best hockey player in the league. He'll lead everyone in points, he'll be the all-star left winger, and here's a hot tip for you. We'll have the rookie of the year on our club!—Yes, Crusher Conway. Just wait and see."

Former Canadian Boxing Champ Dies

OTTAWA, Jan. 5—(CP)—Francis Joseph Burns, Canadian amateur middleweight boxing champion around the turn of the century, died at his home here Wednesday night after a long illness.

In the Major Series, the Maritime champs will be at home to the Quebec winners April 18, 14 and 16; the balance of the set will be played in Central Canada. Allan Cup play will commence in the Maritimes with games March 24 and 26. As in the case of the Major Series the round will be completed at the home of the Quebec titlists. The junior playdowns commence against the Ottawa and District-Northern Ontario survivor March 22 and 24, in the Maritimes.
