We wish the Standard continued success. BURNED TO DEATH.—A very sad accident occurred at Wellington on Thursday last, by which a little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Macdonald, four years of age, was burned to death. Mrs. Macdonald had gone out to the field, leaving the little girl in the house in charge of a child a few months old. She had not been out very long when a neighbor saw smoke about the door and ran over, reaching the house about the same time as Mrs. Macdonald, who had also noticed the smoke. On reaching the house, they found the poor little girl lying on her face on the ground, lifeless, with her clothes all burned off, and her body much disfigured by the flames. It is supposed she endeavored to stir up the fire when her clothes ignited, and that she ran out of doors, falling suffocated where her agonized mother found her. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in this sudden and sad affliction.—Journal.

(SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER.) Important to Shippers. MONTREAL, Nov. 2. Judge Taschereau has just rendered an important judgment for shippers of cattle and owners of vessels. In July, 1885, A. J. Thompson and other western cattle dealers placed on board the Allan steamship Norwegian, at this port, one hundred head of cattle, to be shipped to Glasgow. The cattle were embarked at daybreak with the understanding that the ship would start in the early morning. She only left about 4 p. m., however, and as the day was exceedingly warm twenty-one cattle took sick and died from its effects, some in port and others after leaving. An action of damages was subsequently taken by the shippers with the result that the court has granted $100 damage for the loss of each head of cattle, a total of $2,100, attributing the death of the animals to the negligence of the company's agents in not complying with the terms of the contract. The Behring Sea Difficulty. OTTAWA, Nov. 2. Rear Admiral Heneage, who is en route to take charge of the North Pacific Squadron, being asked whether he would interfere in case he saw a cruiser chasing a British sealer, replied "Most decidedly. If she was within the three mile territory limit, I would do nothing; but if she was outside on the high seas I would not allow her to be interfered with, and the Government at home would back me up. The Admiral is of opinion that the British Commissioners will insist on the settlement of the Behring Sea matter at the coming Convention. It is the general impression here that strong protest against the Alaska Fur Company monopoly, made by Governor Swinford in his official report, will do much to facilitate a settlement.

Another Explosion in London. NEW YORK, Nov. 2. A London special to the Evening World says an attempt was made this p. m. to blow up the Carlton Club. The explosion was in the basement, and blew out all the first floor windows and injured four persons. The Carlton Club, on Pall Mall, is considered the most beautiful Club House in London. The members include most of the members of the Houses of Lords and Commons. The streets were filled with excited people, and the police are driving all from the ruins. Hon. Edward Blake Advises.
