Ask For Ayer's

Sarsaparilla, and be sure you get it, when you want the best blood-purifier. With its forty years of unexampled success in the cure of Blood Diseases, you can make no mistake in preferring Ayer's Sarsaparilla to any other. The fore-runner of modern blood medicines, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is still the most popular, being in greater demand than all others combined.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla is selling faster than ever before. I never hesitate to recommend it."—George W. Whitman, Druggist, Albany, Ind.

"I am safe in saying that my sales of Ayer's Sarsaparilla far excel those of any other, and it gives thorough satisfaction."—L. H. Bush, Des Moines, Iowa.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's Pills are the best selling medicines in my store. I can recommend them conscientiously."—C. Bickhaus, Pharmacist, Roseland, Ill.

"We have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla here for over thirty years and always recommend it when asked to name the best blood-purifier."—W. T. McLean, Druggist, Augusta, Ohio.

"I have sold your medicines for the last seventeen years, and always keep them in stock, as they are staples. There is nothing so good for the youthful blood as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—R. L. Parker, Fox Lake, Wis.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla gives the best satisfaction of any medicine I have in stock. I recommend it, or, as the Doctors say, 'I prescribe it over the counter.' It never fails to meet the cases for which I recommend it, even where the doctors' prescriptions have been of no avail."—C. F. Calhoun, Monmouth, Kansas.

THE IRON CROWN OF LOMBARDY.

When the Emperor Napoleon I. was crowned King of Italy (at Milan on May 23, 1805), he placed the iron crown of the King of Lombardy upon his head with his own hands, exclaiming, Dieu me la donne, gare a qui la touche ("God has given it me, beware who touches"); which Sir Walter Scott designates as the haughty motto attached to it by its ancient owners. The crown takes its name from the narrow iron band within it, which is about three-eighths of an inch broad, and one-tenth of an inch in thickness. It is traditionally said to have been made out of one of the nails used at the Crucifixion, and given to Constantine by his mother, the Empress Helena, the discoverer of the cross, to protect him in battle. The iron crown was used at the coronations of the Lombard King's primary ally at that of Agilulfus, at Milan, in the year 591. The crown is kept in the Cathedral of Monza. The outer circlet is composed of six equal pieces of beaten gold, joined together by hinges, and set with large rubies, emeralds and sapphires on a ground of blue gold enamel. Within the circlet is "the iron," band without a speck of Gleanings From My Common-place Books.

ONE OF THE GREATEST EVENTS IN BRITISH HISTORY.

On the ground floor at the south-east corner of the Grand Parade there still exists, unchanged and singularly irregular in form, the room wherein, at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 19th of June, 1596, was born James VI., in whose person the rival crowns of Mary and Elizabeth were to be united. A stone tablet over the arch of the old doorway, with a monogram of H. and M. and the date, commemorates this event, unquestionably one of the greatest in the history of Britain. The royal arms of Scotland figure on one of the walls, an ornamental design surmounts the rude stone fireplace, and four lines in barbarous doggerel record the birth. The most extravagant joy pervaded the entire city. Public thanksgiving was offered up in St. Giles', and Sir James Melville started on the spur with the news to the English Court, and rode with such speed that he reached London in four days, and spoiled the mirth of the envious Elizabeth, for one night, at least, with the happy news. And an old prophecy, alleged to be made by Thomas the Rhymer, but proved by Lord Hailes to be a forgery, was now supposed to be fulfilled:—

"However it happens for to fall, The Lyon shall be lord of all! A French Queen shall bear the same To rule all Brittainne to the sea, And he from the Prince's blood shall come As near as to the ninth degree."

According to the journalist Bannatyne, Knox's Secretary, Mary was delivered with great ease by the necromantic powers of the Countess of John, Earl of Athole, who was deemed a sorceress, and who cast the Queen's pains upon Lady Reres, then in the castle. An interesting conversation between Mary and Darnley took place in the little bedroom, as recorded in the "Memoirs" of Lord Herries. Darnley came in at two in the afternoon to see his royal spouse and child. "My Lord," said the Queen, "God has given us a son." Partially uncovering the face of the infant, she added a protest that it was his and no other man's son. Then turning to an English gentleman present, she said:—"This is the son who, I hope, shall first unite the two kingdoms of Scotland and England." Sir William Stanley said, "Why, madam, shall he succeed before your Majesty and his father?" "Alas!" answered Mary, "his father has broken me," alluding to the conspiracy against Rizzio. "Sweet madam," said Darnley, "is this the promise you made—that you would forget and forgive all?" "I have forgiven all," replied the Queen, "but will never forget. What if Fausnesside's (one of the assassins) pistol had shot me?" "Madam," replied Darnley, "these things are past." "Then," said the Queen, "let them go." So ended this conversation.—From Cassell's "Old and New Edinburgh."

than 1500 years. After his coronation at Milan, Bonaparte instituted for Italy a new order of knighthood, called, "Of the Iron Crown."

THE LION OF ST. MARK AT VENICE. This popular symbol of Venice, which is placed upon one of the two granite columns at the southern extremity of the Piazzetta, suffered during the republican rule of the French. From the book which the lion holds, the words of the Gospel were effaced, and Droits de l'homme et du citoyen substituted in their stead. The lion was afterwards removed to the Invalidiers at Paris, but was restored after the fall of Paris.

THE STYLE OF "YOUR MAJESTY." Up to the time of Charles V., when a King of France, England or Spain was addressed, he was styled, "Your Grace;" but Charles, wishing to place himself in a higher rank than other monarchs, demanded the title of "Majesty," a distinction which did not long continue, for the other sovereigns of Europe quickly followed his example; and in our day all the Kings, whether rulers of small or great states, are equally styled "Your Majesty." Odds and Ends.

George Bancroft, the historian, has just passed his eighty-eighth birthday.

A rich petroleum well has been discovered at Audertown, in Cheshire, England.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes has made more money as a surgeon than as an author.

Bishop Foster, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was licensed to preach when only fourteen.

The American Duchess of Marlborough has already distributed several large sums to London hospitals.

Colonel F. C. Lister Kay is the youngest regimental commander in the British service, being only thirty-six years old.

Joseph Thompson, the plucky African explorer, is only twenty-seven years old, of medium height, but robust and wiry.

King Kalakaua, of the Sandwich Islands, goes to Melbourne, Australia, next month to attend the Exposition.

The bronze statue of the poet Longfellow, erected by his fellow townsmen of Portland, Me., has been unveiled.

The South American skunk has been introduced into Australia with a view of exterminating the rabbit pest.

The number of persons fined in the German Empire in the last fiscal year for evading the payment of imperial taxes and customs exceeded 15,000.

Thirty prizes is the unparalleled record of the English yacht Yarana for this, her first season, which she closed by winning the Channel race.

Prime Minister Floquet declares that he will resign if the project for the revision of the constitution is rejected or has to be adopted by a majority secured by a coalition. He further declares that he will only accept the vote of a Republican majority adopting the project.

The Pall Mall Gazette challenges the German authorities to carry out the threat made through the Nachrichten to institute proceedings to prevent the publication in London of the late Emperor Frederick's diary. The Gazette warns Prince Bismarck not to attempt to extend abroad the tyranny over the press which is exercised in Germany.

The Americans are without question a go-ahead and wide-awake class of people, and generally a step in advance of their Canadian cousins; and with the worry and turmoil of active business, and mad haste to get rich, they are fast undermining their health and making physical wrecks of themselves. It is said that "prevention is better than cure," and we believe it, but the most of us never think of prevention until need of a cure comes. Our American cousins saw the need of something to build up the system something to soothe and quiet the over-taxed nerves, and they are becoming wide-awake enough to leave rum and quick mixtures alone, and instead are using celery as food and medicine combined; and it is enormous the amount of celery they consume. We hear a great ado about a medicine called "Paine's Celery Compound." We know nothing about it, but please note it is called "Celery Compound," it is significant to say the least of it. For our part we prefer the pure article, such as can be procured at Gay's Stall, Market House, Charlottetown. Orders taken now for winter supplies. Prices from 30c. to 50c. per dozen, boxed and shipped to any address.—JAMES J. GAY & SON, Pownal. nov22 2m 1m
