Opening of a New Catholic Church in Pictou.—The ceremony of dedicating the new Catholic Church in this town for Divine service was performed on Tuesday last. At the appointed hour a large assembly from the town, New Glasgow, the Mines, and other parts of the country, filled the church. Archbishop Connolly, of Halifax, the Bishops of Arichat, Charlottetown, St. John, and Chatham, Drs. McDonald, of Charlottetown, McGregor, of Antigonish, the parish priest of Pictou, and other clergymen participated in the service. After the church had been dedicated in customary form, Archbishop Connolly delivered an eloquent address appropriate to the occasion, which was listened to by those assembled with marked attention. At the conclusion of his address the Archbishop paid a merited tribute of praise to the congregation which had erected the building, the architect, and the priest, for the very splendid edifice which had been raised, and which he considered a credit to themselves, and an architectural ornament to the town. He also referred in complimentary terms to the spirit displayed by the other religious denominations of the community, and handsomely acknowledged the assistance which they had generously bestowed in aid of the erection of the church as an evidence of that christian charity which should always distinguish the relations subsisting between christian religious bodies. The new Catholic Church is an edifice which has been erected by the Roman Catholic congregation of Pictou. It is a building of the Gothic style, constructed of brick with stone dressings and slate roof, and is surmounted by an elegant spire, and has been built under the superintendence of Mr. Owen Hamill, architect. It occupies a commanding situation visible from all parts of the surrounding country, and is especially conspicuous on approaching the harbor from the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The windows are of stained and enamelled glass, arranged in elegant designs, and the building has a fine chancel in connection. The interior is not yet finished, but when completed it will in every respect be a work of great architectural beauty, and if carried out according to the designs of the architect will compare favorably with any ecclesiastical building erected in the Province.—Picton Standard, 13th.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Montreal Gazette of Wednesday, makes the following important announcement in reference to the Lower Canada educational question:—

"We have much pleasure in announcing that during the recent protracted sittings of the Cabinet at Ottawa, the subject of the position of the Lower Canada Educational question was very fully considered. The Ministry were, we understand, desirous that Mr. Galt should be appointed as a delegate, to represent the interests of the British population; but that gentleman felt that he could not accept unless he was assured as to the views of the Government on the points that so seriously concern his countrymen and co religionists, and which so deeply rouse their feelings. We are informed that the Ministry entirely satisfied Mr. Galt of their determination to give a practical effect to the pledge given in Parliament, and that gentleman has in consequence accepted the appointment of delegate for the express purpose of watching over these important interests, as well as of lending his aid to the consummation of the measure of confederation.

"We feel that our Protestant friends may rest assured that the man who resigned the honors and emoluments of office in this question will not, as a delegate, be found wanting to his trust as their representative. And we hail with great satisfaction the approaching settlement of a question which might have been fraught with so much danger to the kindly and cordial relations which have hitherto so happily subsisted between the people of different races and creeds in Canada."

The New York Times has the following temperate remarks on the case of the convicted Fenians, now under sentence of death in Canada:—

"There is no use in blinking the fact that the law under which they (the prisoners) are condemned is explicit, and that the Canadian court of justice has not been strained in any way to the injury of the prisoners. If mercy is shown, as we have not the slightest doubt it will be, it will be shown voluntarily by the Colonial Executive, acting under good advice from the British Government, and not on account of threats of the so-called friends of the prisoners. The candidates for public office, now so intensely interested for the Fenians, do not stop to reflect that, by angry resolutions and denunciations of the Canadian authorities they are putting the case in a very bad light. Why say to the people of the Provinces that retaliation shall follow execution, when the threat can have no other effect than to render execution a matter of principle? If the Fenians really wished to have their unfortunate friends hanged, they could not go a surer way about it than by trying to force the Provincial Government to execute their prisoners rather than incur the charge of having released them under compulsion. We should be sorry to see more lives sacrificed in connection with American Fenianism. We therefore counsel moderation on the Fenian leaders and orators. Those who do not accept moderate counsels are no friends of Lynch and McMahon, and may therefore become morally responsible for their death."

If the Fenian leaders in the States are serious in their regard for the fate of Lynch and McMahon, they will profit by the friendly counsel of the Times, and cease to bluster and threaten the people of Canada.

Fenian Combustibles.—On Saturday, the 13th inst., a number of magistrates assembled at Liverpool to witness experiments with the Fenian combustible fluid recently seized. A portion was poured on a quantity of loose cotton and sticks, and in about four minutes it spontaneously ignited. A bottle containing fluid was then dashed against a wall, which immediately became a mass of flame. The spectators were deeply impressed with the destructive quality of the fluid. As an instance of the unextinguishable qualities of the liquid, we may state that a short time ago Mr. Hewitt poured some of it on cotton-wool and wood chips, and then placed the whole under water, where it remained for a week. It was then placed on the floor, and in five minutes had burst into flames.—Times

Interesting Personage.—Among the arrivals at Boston, by the China, was the Princess Murat, who is on her way home to Florida in company with the son of the late Commodore Dallas. She is the descendant of Joachim Murat, King of Naples, and belongs in Florida, where she has long resided. At the close of the war, Louis Napoleon sent to know how she fared, and on receiving the required information, settled on her for life the sum of 20 000 francs, or about $3 800 in gold annually. She is also a relative of General Washington, her great-grandmother having been Washington's sister.

Market Rates at Summerside.—The Summerside Journal of the 5th inst. gives the following statement of the market rates in that bustling town:—

The highest prices this day are: Oats 2s 5d—Barley 3s 3d to 3s 9d—Potatoes 1s 3d—Turnips 1s—Butter 1s to 1s 1d—Eggs 10d—Pork from 5d to 6½d.

Shipping at Summerside.—The same paper furnishes the following intelligence of enterprising shipping at Summerside for the British and West India markets:—

There are at present four very superior vessels lying at the wharves, fitting out and loading for Great Britain. Two of them, of very handsome model and superior build, owned by James L. Holman, and R. T. Holman, Esqrs, are intended, we learn, for the West India trade.

In North Carolina there are 10,000 members of a "loyal" secret society called "Red Strings," that existed throughout the war. The Raleigh Standard says President Lincoln was a member of the order. General Grant is a member of it. Andrew Johnson is a member of it; when pursued and shot at in the gorges of the mountains by rebel troops, he was aided by members of this order, and, perhaps, owes his life to them. Many of the Union Generals and other officers are members of it. They have their signs, grips and passwords. "They are unconditional Union men and patriots." The "Grand Army of the Republic" is another secret (Radical) political organisation of Western origin. It is said to number 500,000 members already; and is rapidly extending to the Atlantic States.

In Germany it is no uncommon thing to see women harnessed to a plough, dragging that implement between rows of potatoes and corn.

ANOTHER FIRE.

This devoted City was again visited by the fire fiend on Saturday night. At 12 o'clock that night a fire was seen to burst from a cooper's shop in Grafton Street, near the old Wesleyan Chapel, occupied by Mr. Elias Hutchinson. It was filled with light wood, staves, barrels, chippings, &c., and burnt like paper. The building was owned by Isaac Smith, Esqr., and stood in the rear of the dwelling house formerly occupied by him at the corner of Grafton and Prince Street. There being a light wind—and most fortunately a light one—from the S. West, the Blacksmith's forge, owned and occupied by Mr. Thomas Davy, adjoined the cooper's shop, and was just in the direction to be seized by the fire. It was soon in flames, and wholly destroyed, with its contents. The fire engines worked admirably, especially Nos. 3 and 12, and kept up such a copious flow of water as to stay the progress of the flames at the forge. The Steam Engine was not ready for use until the fire was nearly out, but then it shewed that it was capable of rendering the most effective service.

Mr. Hutchinson lost about one hundred pounds worth in stock and tools; Mr. Davy lost a like amount, including some damage to his dwelling house, which was the next building to the forge. They are both very hard working, industrious mechanics, much respected by their fellow citizens; and though the loss of each may appear small, it is large for men in their circumstances.

There is little room to doubt that this fire was the work of an incendiary. There was no fire in the stove of the cooper's shop from five o'clock on Saturday afternoon; and such was the nature of the combustible material in the shop, that a lighted match would set it instantly in a blaze. The Vigilance Committees will, we suppose, resume their nightly watch; but this should be done with less noise and parade than when they first commenced their painful task. It is a most melancholy reflection that we should have miscreants in our midst to necessitate such a proceeding; and we sincerely hope they will yet be discovered, without any further sacrifice of property at their hands.

THE MAILS.

The intelligence received by the mails on Saturday night from the Provinces and the States, is not of much importance. Our latest papers from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are to the 17th, (Saturday), which contain telegrams from Great Britain as late as the 15th, but so void of interest as to be not worth printing.—The Fenian trials were in progress at Toronto, and two other prisoners, besides McMahon and Lynch, were convicted and sentenced to be hanged on the 13th December. A Mr. Lumsden, an eccentric Episcopalian minister, was also tried on a charge of Fenianism, but was acquitted. It is now well known that the sentence of death passed on the prisoners will be commuted to imprisonment. The Fenians in the States keep up the excitement and bluster, but it is easily seen by every one, not a dupe, that the object of all the fuss is to raise money for the worthless scheming vagabonds who lead the fraternity. Fenianism will soon be reckoned amongst the dead humbugs of the age.

The Fire Department appeared to be in very great confusion at the fire on Sunday morning; and, in fact, it may justly be observed that the devouring element was allowed to expend its fury with but very little interruption. The cry of "No Water" was heard all round, and an occasional effort from one or two small hand engines was all that could be produced. Some one was heard to say—"Where now is your Steam Engine?" and all seemed disappointed to find that it had not been put into practice.

The facts appear to be, that the Captain of the Steam Engine, who was not appointed until last Thursday, had no time to organize his Company of 86 men, who were only enrolled last week, and only met for the first time last Saturday night, consequently they have had no instructions. No preparations had been made to carry coal or water to the boiler. They had but three wrenches to connect some 1500 feet of hose, and but one hose carriage capable of carrying 300 feet only, and it built not on the most modern principle; and no drag ropes to haul the engine, which is intended to be drawn by horses.

Notwithstanding all these difficulties, it was the second Engine at the fire and in position, with 100 lb. steam and 400 ft. of hose laid, and in this position remained until a truck could be obtained to bring the balance of the hose, namely, 1100 ft., in joints of 40 ft.; these had to be unstrapped, laid, and joints adjusted with three wrenches only. The public should not, therefore, be too hasty in crying out against the Steam Engine Company. Wait until they are regularly organized and instructed, and until means are furnished for carrying hose, and not have to call a truckman out of his bed, who is not even then willing to work till he gets cash in advance for the job. The Captain of the Steam Engine has a Company of the very best picked men of the city, and they were, we venture to affirm, able to do their duty, and show after a little practice that they can quench the devouring flame.—Com.

The unfortunate man Walter Gaul, who fell about a fortnight ago from the roof of Mrs. Blake & Son's new house, died on Friday night and was buried yesterday from the Cathedral—a numerous procession following his remains to the grave.

The notice of the death of Mr. Sutherland, of St. Peter's Bay, originally appeared in this paper—certainly not first in the Herald, to which the Patriot credits it. It is quite unusual to quote authority for small obituary notices such as the one referred to; but when the quotation is made it should be correctly made. But the Patriot editor has quite a talent for misquoting.

Orwell Young Men's Institute.—At a meeting of the above Institute, held on the 30th ult. the officers for the ensuing year were appointed as follows:—Patron, Hon. Dr. Young; President, Mr. J. H. Fletcher; 1st Vice do., Mr. N. McDonald; 2nd do. do., Mr. J. Gordon; Secretary, A. R. McQueen; Treasurer, Mr. J. McLeod; Librarian, Mr A. Ross. Committee:—Mr D Shaw, Chairman; Messrs. N. S. McLeod, William Findley, Wm. McDonald and Angus McPhee.

Although our society has to lament the absence of some of its best friends and ablest debaters, with the aid of others coming in, it is still kept up (now entering on its fifth year of existence) without any appearance of an abatement of zeal, or a lack of energy on the part of its members. And as for the officers, too much praise cannot be given them for the unflinching interest they have evinced in promoting its welfare. We trust that they will continue to put forth the same exertions in its behalf as they have hitherto done, and in so doing our Institute will be an honor to the Settlement and a credit to all connected with it. The Library, in connection with the Institute is in an excellent condition—lectures are all that is wanting (and we trust that some of our Literary friends will favour us with some) to enable our Institution to compare favourably with the most flourishing on the Island.

A. R. McQUEEN, Sec'y.

Orwell, Nov. 7, 1866.

OBITUARY NOTICE—MRS. GRAY.

With sincere and deep regret, we publish to-day the death of Mrs. Gray, wife of the Hon. Colonel Gray, of "Inkerman House." The sad event has thrown a deep gloom over the whole of this community. Seldom have we witnessed such an expression of sorrow and regret. All classes and denominations share in the feeling of the loss sustained—in proof of which we observed that almost every place of business throughout the city exhibited the usual signs of mourning. This was a mark of sorrow and respect uncommon as it was deserved. The amiable and pious lady, who has thus been suddenly taken from us, was one of those whose whole enjoyment seemed to consist in doing good to her fellow-creatures, without respect to condition or creed. Shrinking from public gaze in her works of charity and labor of love, her efforts were unwearied to supply the needy, to relieve the distressed, and above all, to direct the suffering to the treasures of eternal love. Much cause have the community, and especially the poor, to mourn. She who went about among them as the Angel of Mercy, ever ready to hear the tale of suffering, and as ready to remove it, if in her power to do so, shall encourage and gladden them no more with her presence. To very few was it fully known how extensive and abundant were her doings of charity. But our loss is her great gain. Her last hours were truly spent in the vestibule of glory. Death to her was "going home." Thus she spoke of it, and longed for it. The Saviour, dear and longed for during life, was near when the last conflict approached, and to her was fulfilled His own promise: "He that believeth in me shall never die." It was not death, but a sweetly falling asleep in Jesus.

The departed was the only daughter of Sir John Pennefather, one of the old Crimean heroes. He and his lady are still living; and thus there are left to mourn, not only a disconsolate husband and children, but the aged and worthy parents, for a beloved and only child. May God sustain the bereaved, and comfort the surviving hearts, with the joys of His gracious presence.—Islander.
