

Reality.

Lift me, loved Jesus! for the time is nigh That I must climb unto thy cross at last; The world fades out, its lengthening shadows fly; Earth's pomp is passing, all its joys have passed; Phantoms flock round me multiplying fast; Nothing seems tangible. The good I thought Most permanent hath perished. Come away O sated spirit! from the vacant scene; The curtains drop upon the mimic play. The benches are deserted, we will go— The idle story with its love and woe. I seem to stand below a minstrel screen, And hear faint organs in the distance blow. —T. W. PARSONS, in the Century

GENERAL NEWS.

All the stars and insignia of the decorations bestowed on Napoleon III. by other sovereigns are about to be sold among the French crown jewels.

General Garibaldi's sword is a great deal more plentiful than even Oliver Cromwell's skull. There are said to be at least a score carefully preserved and exhibited in various museums and town halls in Italy.

The Attorney-General has rendered an opinion that a member of Congress is not an officer of the United States, so that a gift to him for campaign purposes does not fall within the statute regulating assessments.

Cardinal de Lavignier, the newest member of the Sacred College, is going to Malta, where he owns a large palace, there to establish an ecclesiastical seminary for the training and acclimatization of young priests destined to become missionaries in Africa.

The Roman Catholic Bishop of Brooklyn signifies his disapproval of horse racing by suspending the priest of the little church at Coney Island, for accepting the gate money taken in one day at the Brighton Beach race course, and sending back the entire amount, $2,000.

Milk may come into the house in a wholesome condition, yet will become tainted with the sewer gas from closets, or even with the dust carried by draughts through sleeping or living rooms. While milk is one of the best and most palatable of foods in summer, it must be carefully guarded, or it will prove a potent vehicle of disease.

The four officers of the Austrian army highest in command in Bosnia are Irishmen. The second in command of the cavalry is Col. O'Herlihy, and there are two Capt. O'Sullivan's under him. One of the Generals of the brigade is Rudolph Oliver Swanson, who comes of a west Cork family. It seems that still in far foreign fields, from Dunkirk to Belgrade, the Irish soldier is foremost in the path of honor, glory, and small pay.

The Italian residents of Tunis have decided to honour the memory of Garibaldi by building an asylum of beneficence to be called by his name. The proposal, it is said, was received with general enthusiasm and a subscription, at once begun, soon included all the leading Italian and other firms. The Bey himself signified his warm approval of the project and his veneration for Garibaldi's memory by subscribing $5,000.

It is, we presume, generally known that no Canadian rifleman is eligible to go to Wimbledon more than twice in five years. The consequence is that the twenty Canadian volunteers who each year go to England do not represent the best possible Canadian marksmanship. Each year first-class shots are debarred from the team by having been previously twice members of it. There are at home in the Dominion at this moment ten or twelve of her best shots, shut out from the present Wimbledon team by their past successes.

A report on agriculture in Italy by Secretary of Legation Beauclerk has lately been presented to the British Parliament. Real agricultural progress has been made in some parts of the country, but a sad amount of misery exists among the rural laborers. The land is burdened with an over-powering taxation, and while the main remedy talked of is education, the demands are for relief from the moral and physical suffering. "Knowledge without means," says Mr. Beauclerk, "is of little use." When the great mass of land owners have hardly enough to live on, how can they lay out money in improvements? For small proprietors and renters it is impossible, while there are few large estates, and even these are gradually being split up by the abolition of entail and the constant subdivision of property consequent thereupon.

LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY ANALYTICAL SANITARY INSTITUTION 54, Holborn-viaduct, E. C., London, Aug. 8, 79, REPORT on the LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY:

"We have visited the bottling stores of Greenlees Brothers, and have selected from the casks, samples of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis. The samples were very fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first quality."
