Wasted and Shattered by Worry or Overwork are Revitalized by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food

"Nerves"—what a world of meaning this word has to scores of thousands of women who, through the strains of social life and the weary of home cares, are fast approaching the verge of nervous exhaustion. Nervous headaches, dyspepsia, irritability by day, restlessness and sleeplessness by night, pains and aches in the body, derangements of the organs peculiarly feminine, loss of energy and ambition, despondency and despair. These are some of the symptoms known to the woman of exhausted nerves. These are symptoms which entirely disappear when Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is used. By creating new, rich blood and nerve tissue the great food cure of Dr. A. W. Chase restores and revitalizes the wasted nerve cells, prescribes vigor and vitality into the system and drives away many of the ailments which are due to exhausted nerves. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food cures by the building-up process, which makes the body round and plump, and restores the glow of health to the pale, sallow cheek. ## THE GOD FROM THE MACHINE

"E-vasion! Fwath you lorrnds an ladies call an e-lopment. E-vasion I calls it, bekase, exceptin whin 'tis right an natural an proper, 'tis wrong an dhirty to steal a man's wan child not knowin her own mind. There was a sargint in the comm'sariat who set my face upon e-vasions. I'll tell you about that!"

"Stick to the bloomin captains, Mulvaney," said Ortheris. "Comm'sariat sargints is low."

Mulvaney accepted the emendation and went on

"Now, I knew that the colonel was no fool any more than me, for I was hild the smartest man in the rig'mint, an the colonel was the best off'cer commandin in Asia. So fwath he said an I said was a mortal truth. We knew that the capt'n was bad, but for reasons which I have already obliterated I knew more than my colonel. I wud have rolled out his face wid the butt av my gun before permittin av him to steal the gurl. Saints knew av he wud have married her, an av he didn't she wud be in gerat tormint an the devil av what you, sorr, call a scandal. But I niver struck, niver raised me hand on my shupierior off'cer, an that was a mericle now I come to consider it."

"Mulvaney, the dawn's risin," said Ortheris, "an we're no nearer one than we was at the beginnin. Lend me your pouch. Mine's all dust."

Mulvaney pitched his pouch across, and he filled his pipe afresh.

"So the dhrass rehearsal came to an end, an bekaze I was curious, I staid behind whin the scene shiftin was ended, an I shud have been in barracks, lyin as flat as a toad under a painted cottage thing. They was talkin in whispers, an she was shiverin an gaspin like a fresh hukked fish. 'Are you sure you've got the hang av the manewers?' sez he, or wurrds to that effect, as the coort martial sez. 'Sure as death,' sez she, 'but I misdoubt tis cruel hard on my father. 'Damn your father!' sez he, or anyways 'twas fwath he thought. 'The arrangement is as clear as mud. Jungi will drive the carri'ge after all's over, an you come to the station, cool an aisy, in time for the 2 o'clock thrain, where I'll be wid your kit. 'Faith, thinks I to myself, 'thin there's a ayah in the business tu!'

"A powerful bad thing is a ayah. Don't you niver have any thrucks-wid wan. Thin he began soootherin her, an all the off'cers an off'cers' ladies left, an they put out the lights. To explain the theory av the flight, as they say at muskthry, you must understand that afther this 'Sweethearts' nonsense was ended there was another little bit av a play called 'Comples'—some kind av couple or another. The gurl was actin in this, but not the man. I suspicioned he'd go to the station wid the gurl's kit at the end av the first piece. 'Twas the kit that flustered me, for I knew for a capt'n to go trapasing about the impire wid the Lord knew what av a truso on his arrium was ne-farious, an wud be worse than easin the flag, so far as the talk aftherward went."

"'Old on, Mulvaney! Wot's truso?' said Ortheris

"You're an uncivilized man, my son. Whin a gurl's married, all her kit an contentments are truso, which makes weddin portion. An 'tis the same whin she's runnin away, even wid the biggest blackguard on the army list."

"When a female gymnast leaps blindfold through the air, the women spectators usually think it is a terribly risky thing to do, and wonder how she ever has the hardihood; yet the leap is taken with perfect confidence, because she knows that strong and dextrous hands are ready to receive her. She would never take such chances at the hands of any but a trained and skillful athlete. That is where she is really more prudent than many of her sex.

Women who would shudder at the risks of a gymnastic performance take vastly more dangerous chances by trusting their life and health to the advice of some incompetent, uneducated person, when they are suffering from weakness or disease.

Only a skilled, experienced physician is competent to prescribe remedies for the complicated ailments of the feminine organism. No mere nurse is fitted to deal with diseases which demand the utmost resources of medical science.

For nearly 30 years Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., has given special, expert attention and study to the treatment of women's diseases. No physician in the United States has had more remarkable success in this particular field of practice.

His "Favorite Prescription" has cured more cases of obstinate female diseases than any other known remedy. No other medicine in the world so completely restores organic health and strength to suffering women.

Mrs. Jacob Schaffner, of Freemansburg, Northampton Co., Pa., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write to let you know the great good I have received from your medicines and the self-treatment at home. I was troubled with female weakness; had pains in my back all the time, sometimes so severe that I could not lie still in bed at night. I tried different doctors but they could not help me. Then my husband induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking six bottles I feel like a new woman. Thanks for your advice."

"'Miss Sahib, sez I, 'go in to the station. Captain Sahib's order!' An widout a sign she jumped in all among her own kit.

"I laid to an dhruv like steam to the colonel's house before the colonel was there, an she screamed an I thought she was goin off. Out comes the ayah, sayin all sorts av things about the capt'n havin come for the kit an gone to the station.

"'Take out the luggage, you devil, sez I, 'or I'll murder you!'

"The lights av the thraps people comin from the Gaff was showin across the parade ground, an by this an that the way thin two women worked at the bundles an thrunks was a caution! I was dyin to help, but, seein I didn't want to be knowin, I sat wid the blank-ronn me an coughed an thanked the saints there was no moon that night.

"Whin all was in the house ag'in, I niver asked for bukshish, but dhruv tremenjus in the opp'site way from the other carri'ge an put out my lights. Presintly I saw a naygur man wallowin in the road. I slipped down before I got to him, for I suspicioned Providence was wid me all through that night.

'Twas Jungi, his nose smashed in flat, an dhrub sick as you please. Dennis man must have tilted him out av the thrap. Whin he came to, 'Hatt!' sez I, but he began to howl.

"'You black lump av dirt, I sez, 'is this the way you dhrive your gharri? That tikka has been owin an fereowin all over the bloomin country this whole bloomin night, an you as mut-walla as Davey's sow. Get up, you hog!' sez I, louder, for I heard the wheels av a thrap in the dark. 'Get up an light your lamps, or you'll be run into!' This was on the road to the railway station.

"'Fwath the devil's this? sez the capt'n's voice in the dhark, an I could judge he was in a lather av rage.

"'Gharri dhriver here, dhrunk, sorr, sez I, 'I've found his gharri strayin about cantonments, an now I've found him.

"'Oh! sez the capt'n. 'Fwath's his name? I stooped down an pretended to listen.

"'He sez his name's Jungi, sorr, sez I.

"So I made my plan av campaign. The colonel's house was a good two miles away. 'Dennis, sez I to my color sargint, 'if you love me lend me your kyart, for my heart is bruk an my feet is sore wid trampin to an from this foolishness at the Gaff.' An Dennis lent ut, wid a rampin, stampin red stallion in the shafts. Whin they was all settled down to their 'Sweethearts' for the first scene, which was a long wan, I slips outside an into the kyart. Mother av Hivin, but I made that horse walk, an we came into the colonel's compound as the devil wint through Athlone—in standin leps. There was no one there except the servants, an I wint round to the back an found the girl's ayah.

"'Ye black, brazen Jezebel,' sez I, 'sellin your master's honor for 5 rupees—pack up all the Miss Sahib's kit an look slippy! Capt'n Sahib's order, sez I, 'go in to the station we are.' I sez, an wid that I laid my finger to my nose an looked the schamin sinner I was.

"'Bote acchy, sez she, so I knew she was in the business, an I piled up all the sweet talk I'd iver learned in the bazaars on to this she bullock an prayed av her to put all the quick she knew into the thing. While she packed I stud outside an sweated, for I was wanted for to shif' the second scene. I tell you a young gurl's e-vasion manes as much baggage as a rig'mint on the line av march! 'Saints help Dennis' springs, thinks I, as I bundled the stuff into the thrap, 'for I'll have no mercy!'

"'I'm comin, too,' sez the ayah.

"'No, you don't,' sez I, 'later—pechy! You baito where you are. I'll pechy come an bring you sart, along with me, you maraudin!—niver mind fwath I called her.

"Thin I wint for the Gaff, an by the special order av Providence, for I was doin a good work you will understand, Dennis' springs hild toight. 'Now, whin the capt'n goes for that kit,' thinks I, 'he'll be troubled.' At the end av 'Sweethearts' off the capt'n runs in his kyart to the colonel's house, an I sits down on the steps an laughs. Wanst an again I slipped in to see how the little piece was goin, an whin ut was near endin I stepped out all among the carri'ges an sings out very softly, 'Jungi!' Wid that a carri'ge began to move, an I waded to the dhriver. 'Hitherao!' sez I, an he hitheraoed till I judged he was at proper distance, an thin I tuk him fair an square betune the eyes, all I knew for good or bad, an he dropped wid a guggle like the canteen beer engine whin ut's runnin low. Thin I ran to the kyart an tuk out all the kit an piled ut into the carri'ge, the sweat runnin down my face in dhrops. 'Go home,' sez I to the sais. 'You'll find a man close here. Very sick he is. Take him away, an if you iver say wan wurrd about fwath you've dekked I'll narrow you till your own wife won't sumjoo who you are!' Thin I heard the stampin av feet at the ind av the play, an I ran in to let down the curtain.

Whin they all came out, the gurl tried to hide herself behind wan av the pillars, an sez 'Jungi' in a voice that wudn't have scared a hare. I run over to Jungi's carri'ge an tuk up the lousy old horse blanket on the box, wrapped my head an the rest av me in ut an dhrrove up to where she was.

"'Miss Sahib, sez I, 'go in to the station. Captain Sahib's order!' An widout a sign she jumped in all among her own kit.

"I laid to an dhruv like steam to the colonel's house before the colonel was there, an she screamed an I thought she was goin off. Out comes the ayah, sayin all sorts av things about the capt'n havin come for the kit an gone to the station.

"'Houd my narse, sez the capt'n to his man an wid that he gets down wid the whip an lays into Jungi, just wid wid rage an swearin like the scut he was.

"I thought afther awhile he wud kill the man, so I sez, 'Stop, sir, or you'll murder him!' That dhrw all his fire or me an he cured me into blazes an out again. I stud to attenshin an saluted. 'Sorr,' sez I, 'if jvry man in this wurrld had his rights, I'm thinkin that more than wan wud be beaten to a shakin jelly for this night's work— that never came off at all, sorr, as you see.' 'Now,' thinks I to myself, 'Terence Mulvaney, you've cut your own throat, for he'll strike, an you'll knock him down for the good av his sowl an your own iverlastin dishgrace!'

"But the capt'n never said a single wurrd. He choked where he stud, an thin he wint into his thrap widout sayin good night, an I wint back to barracks."

"And then?" said Ortheris and I together.

"That was all," said Mulvaney. "Niver another wurrd did I hear av the whole thing. All I know was that there was no e-vasion, an that was fwath I wanted. Now, I put ut to you, sorr, is ten days' C. B. a fit an a proper treatment for a man who has behaved as me?"

"Well, any'ow," said Ortheris, "twere'n't this ere colonel's daughter, an you was blazin copped when you tried to wash in the fort ditch."

"That," said Mulvaney, finishing the champagne, "is a shunarduous an impert'nint observation."

Gay's Seeds are the Best

Why are Gay's seeds the best? Because they are practical market gardeners and a whole life time of successes and quite often failures (for mistakes and failures lead up to success) places them in the best position possible to grow and import seeds suited to our climate. They make a specialty of vegetable seeds including mammoth, mangel, turnip, carrot, parsnip, etc.; and like the great Peter Henderson, seedman of New York, their seed can only be procured directly from themselves. They are starting extensively vegetable and flower plants for June and July planting, (some hardy plants ready in May.) Their tree department includes some handsome lime, horsechestnut, elm, weeping willows, plum, apple, cherry, gooseberry, currant, and hardy shrubs. Call at the market or write for prices. Address J. J. Gay & Son, Nursery Gardens, Charlottetown. Telephone 180.
