THE HIGHWAYMAN SOLD.—A short time since, an Irishman left Copperopolis, for St Andreas, with his carpet sack on his back, and when about five miles on his way was met by a "road agent" (the name giving in California to highway robbers,) who demanded his money.

Pat immediately dropped his pack on the ground and sat down on it, and thus addressed the man;

"Be gorra, yer must be thick along this road; I've only came five miles this morning, and this is the forth time I've been stopped and axed for money."

"Is it the truth?" asked the highwayman, suspiciously.

"Be me soul, its the truth," replied Pat. "Well, then you'd better get along; it wouldn't pay to go through you now."

Pat shouldered his carpet bag, and they were about seperate, when he turned around and said:

"Have ye iver sich a thing about ye as a match to light me pipe wid?"

He was supplied with one, and the two seperated. The Irishman had five hundred dollars in gold coin in his bundle, and by this piece of shrewdness, he saved all his money.

"What news to-day?" said a merchant to his friend lately. "What news!" responded the other. "Nothing; only things grow better—people are getting on their legs again." "On their legs!" said the first. "I don't see how you can make that out." "Why, yes," replied the other; "folks that used to ride are obliged to walk now; is not that getting on their legs again?"

In the free city of Bremen a singular custom of taxation prevails. The government announces the sum that it requires, and a chest is placed in the town house, to which every taxpayer brings the proportion which he judges it right for him to pay. The amount of tax received has never failed to surpass the estimate of the public necessities.

A crusty old doctor declined to pay his paver's bill, saying that his pavement had been spoiled, and then covered up with earth to hide the bad work.

"Doctor," was the reply, "mine is not the only bad work that they put earth over."

A lawyer, neither young nor handsome, when examining a young lady witness in court, desiring to perplex her, said: "Miss upon my word, you are very pretty." The young lady replied; "I would return you the compliment, sir, were I not under oath."

An Indianapolis Journal says that a young lady of that city was, last Sunday endeavouring to impress upon her scholars the terrible effects of the punishment of Nebuchadnezzer. She told them that for seven years he ate grass just like a cow. Just then a small boy asked "Did he give milk."

A young girl one day was asked: "Do tell me why it is that Cupid continues so long after the invention of powder to use arrows?" "To avoid the report of firearms, which would attract the jealous," was the reply.

What is the difference between a rifleman who shoots wide of the target and a husband who blackens his wife's eyes? The one misses his mark and the other marks his misses.

Quilp thinks it rather remarkable that while several thousand feet are required to make one rood, a single foot properly applied is often sufficient to make one civil.

A female schoolteacher in her advertisement, stated that she was complete mistress of her own tongue. "If that's the case said the caustic old bachelor, "She can't ask too much for her services."

An Irish drummer who was greatly addicted to whiskey, was asked by the reviewing officer what made his nose so red. "Please, yer honour, answered Pat. I always blush in the presence of a general officer."

Josh Billings says that "if a man professes to serve the Lord he likes to see him do it when he measures onions as well as when he hollers glory halleuyer."

A sharp talking lady was reproved by her husband, who requested her to keep her tongue in her mouth. "My dear," responded the wife, "it is against the law to carry concealed weapons."

"Ain't it wicked to rob this chicken roost, Dick?" "Dat's a great moral question, Gumbo; and we ain't time to argufy it now; hand down anoder pullet."

An Indania paper refused lately to publish eulogiums gratis, but added, "We will publish the simple announcement of the death of any of our friends with pleasure.

The difference between a barber and a mother, is this: One has razors to shave and the other has shavers to raise.

A dissapated youth came home the other day, and the father observed to his wife "Kill the fatted prodigal, the calf has come home."

A church in Columbus, Ohio, has posted at its entrance the following: "Gentleman will leave their tobacco at the door."

A person has such a cold in his head that he can't wash his face without freezing the water.

Why is a man who fails in kissing a lady like a shipwrecked fisherman?—Because he has lost his smack.

"Why was Eve the first Ritualistic convert?"—"Because she began by being Eve-angelical, and ended by taking to vestments."

Agricultural.

FEVERS VERSUS FRUITS.

Let's have a little talk about orchards and gardens, as life preservers. Many a farmer thinks he "cant fuss about a garden" with vegetables and small fruits in ample variety, hardly about an orchard especially beyond apple trees. So he goes on to weightier matters of grain or stock or dairy, and eats potatoes, wheat bread, pork, and salt beef, all summer long. No fine variety of vegetables, no grateful berries no lucious peaches or juicy cherries. By October fever comes, or bowel complaints of some kind, or some congestive troubles most likely. He is laid up, work stops a month, the doctor comes, and he "drags round" all winter, and the doctor's bill drags too. The poor wife, meanwhile gets dyspepte, constipated, has fever too, perhaps, and she just crawls around. What's the matter? They don't know, poor souls. Would they build a hot fire in July and shut the doors? Of course not—in their rooms; but they have done just that in their poor stomachs. How so? They have been eating, all summer, the heat-producing food, fit for a cold season, but not for a warm one. A Greenlander can eat candles and whale fat, because they create heat. In January we are up towards Greenland—in climate.

A Hindoo lives on rice, juicy fruits, and tropical vegetables cooling and opening to the system. In July we move toward Hindostan, in a heat almost tropical. Diet must change too.

Have apples, pears, cherries, etc., from the orchard every day, of early and late kinds. Let there be plenty of vegetables raspberries, strawberries, etc. It takes a little time and trouble, but it's the cheapest way to pay the doctor's bills. And bless your dear souls, these things taste good.

You study what feed is good for pigs and cattle. All right; but wife and children are of higher consequence; and it's a shame, it's a shame, if, with all our great gifts of intellect and intuition we do not obey the divine laws in our own physical being so well that the doctor shall visit the house less less than the horse doctor goes to the barn. Don't fail of vegetables, berries, and fruiis. Try it, you'll say we haven't told half the truth.

WANT OF SUCCESS IN TREE-PLANTING.—This is much complained of, and there are various ways of accounting for it. Tree-planting is so often done in so careless and slovenly a manner, that it were idle to hope for success. To thrust a tree hastily into a hole that is too small for the root, and ram the dirt down with a boot or piece of timber, is no way to do. A roomy and mellow bed should be prepared for the tree; it should be transplanted with as much root as possible; and care should be taken to spread out the fibres and bring them into contact with the soil. Sometimes a tree is too deeply planted, and at other times not deeeply enough. Many trees are stunted if not killed outright, by neglect of proper after-culture. For example, a young orchard is planted, and the land sown to grain, as much of a yield being expected as though there were no trees in the ground at all. Nothing should be grown in a young orchard that will crowd up to the trees and monopolize the entire nourishment stored in the soil. A root crop is the best to raise in such a place, and a space should be left around each tree unplanted. Some people keep sowing and ploughing in the orchard, scraping close to the trees, injuring the bark with the whipple-tree and the roots with the plough, and then wonder the trees do so badly. We know of an orchard subjected to this treatment which looks just as might be expected, the trees wearing signs of distress, and too plainly showing what a hard they have of it. Again, an orchard is ulanted in a poor piece of ground without manure, and the trees are literaly starved to death. Or, perhaps, after the trees have begun to flourish they are neglected in the early spring, and fall a prey to the caterpillar.

If an accurate fit, a stylish cut, and superior workmanship can ensure custom, he flatters himself he shall not be without patronage from the tasty and discerning. Every trade requires brains, and none more so than the art of cutting and making up a garment to fit every variety of the human form; but some people seem to imagine that it requires no more judgment to cut a coat than to hew a log,—an erroneous idea, the effects of which are seen in the tasteless and ill-fitting garments we every day behold in the streets. MESSRS. ROGERS & CO.:

Gentlemen—I hereby certify that about twelve years ago, a small lump began to grow on my breast, and continued growing until 1859. It attained the size of a small hen's egg, and began to ulcerate, causing great pain, and reducing my body to a mere skeleton, rendering me altogether unable to do my work. I applied to the two resident doctors at Pugwash (where I then resided), both of whom recommended a surgical operation. Feeling reluctant to undergo the suffering of such an operation, I applied to a man who called himself an Herb Doctor. I used his plasters until I became satisfied that they were of no use to me. I then applied to and procured some of your medicine to take inwardly. After a few months trial, I began to get better, and the ulcer on my breast commenced healing so fast that in seven months from the time I commenced using your Ointment and medicine, I was enabled to attend to my ordinary occupation; and now I am happy to say I am hearty and well. I have not hesitation in saying that, under God, I owe my present state of health to your treatment. If this simple statement will be of any service to you, you are at liberty to make it public, as every word of it can be vouched for by those who know how I suffered. I remain your much obliged servant,

ANGUS McGILVERY,
Master Shipwright.

WALLACE RIVER, Cumberland Co.,
May 20, 1863.

MESSRS ROGERS & CO

I feel it a duty I owe to you, and to suffering humanity; to state that your medicine has affected a cure of a very severe case of Cancer in the breast of my wife. The cancer began to appear about five years ago, and continued to grow slowly, and during last January it began to grow very rapidly, with darting pains through it. We concluded to try your medicine, and in a few days pain subsided and it began to improve. This was about the first of last February and now I am happy to say that she is entirely cured. After using your medicine a few days the cancer ulcerated, and it continued to improve until it was cured. You ought certainly to make your medicine known to the public.

W. I. ANGEVINE.

Pugwash, June 8, 1863.

Messrs. Rogers & Co.,

Dear Sirs—I beg to inform you that your medicine has affected a complete cure of the Tumour or Cancer on my lip. It had existed about one year, and continued to grow worse continually, until I got your salve; which cured it in about six weeks.

I was also troubled with an ulcer on my ear which was occasioned by having my ear frozen about twenty years ago, and could never get any medicine to heal it. The doctors told me it never could be healed but your medicine cured the cancer so effectually, that I was induced to try it on my ear, and it cured it in a very short time, and has since continued well.

WILLIAM FRASER.

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physicians presents to the attention of mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO EGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over thirty years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance, to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance oi dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this manner "what we do know," after thirty years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescriptions of one of the most experienced and skilful nurses in New England, and has been used with never failing success in thousands of cases. It not only relieves the shild from pain but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentry and Diarrhœa in Children, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be sure—yes, absolutely sure—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None Genuine unless the fac-smile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.
