RCAF's 'SPACE AGE' FLO AT CAUGHT JUDGES' EYE

Lobster Fishing Good In East Prince Co. Area

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

Lobster catches in the East Prince area are reported as "fair to good" by fishermen it was learned yesterday from fisheries protection officer Norman MacLeod of Summerside.

Mr. MacLeod said quite a number of fishermen have landed over 5,000 pounds to date with a few exceeding 6,000 pounds and landings for the first week of the fall season are expected to top those for the same period last year.

A record shore price for the fall season of 40 cents for canners and 44 cents for market size lobsters has prevailed since the opening date, Aug. 10, while the retail price at Summerside for cooked lobsters is 70 cents per pound.

Mr. MacLeod stated that lobster bait is in fair supply and little time has been lost by fishermen due to unfavorable weather. As well, no damage to fishing gear has been reported in this area.

The catches from West Point to North Cape are much poorer than in the East Prince zone which extends from Cape Traverse to Higgins Wharf at Victoria West. Mr. MacLeod said fishermen in this area are well satisfied with their catches to the present time.

HOLMAN'S WINS COMMERCIAL CLASS

Alan Holman, left, representing Holman's of P.E.I. Ltd. is shown receiving the prize from Ivan Doherty for the best float of the commercial entries in the Gold Cup and Saucer Parade yesterday morning. The presentation was made prior to the big race card last night at the Charlottetown Driving Park, featuring the Gold Cup and Saucer.

Kinkora, Eldon Very Hopeful Of Attaining Donor Quotas

After conferring with several of the chairmen of Red Cross blood donor committees where clinics are to be held next week, Cyril A. Flinn, provincial chairman of public relations for the P.E.I. Red Cross, stated last night that he found plans well in hand everywhere, and great hopes for successful results.

Mr. Flinn stated that Ralph McCarville, who has headed the Kinkora committee for the second successive year, has held an enthusiastic meeting with his group, and that a thorough canvass for donors is being carried out in Kinkora and the surrounding districts by the following: Clare Duffy, Raymond Kelly, Vernon McCarville, Ralph McCarville, Raymond Smith, Wilfred Smith, Charles McKenna, Edwin Hammill, George McCarville, Edward McCardle and Albert Hammill.

Mr. McCarville further reported that the Kinkora parish council of the Catholic Women's League would again be providing volunteers to carry out the various tasks in connection with the clinic, as well as the refreshments for the donors and workers.

The Kinkora clinic is to be held in the school on Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 21 with an objective of at least 120 donors in the two hour period between 2-4.

Mr. Flinn said that the Eldon clinic which is again being sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion branch there has a new chairman of its blood donor committee in the person of Leigh Smith who replaces Lester MacRae who has held this position for the past several years with great success.

The Eldon clinic is to be held in the Belfast Hall on Tuesday evening, Aug. 21 between 8-10 and has a quota of at least 150 donors to achieve.

Marilyn Monroe's Pill Death Is Called Probable Suicide

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sleeping pill death of movie actress Marilyn Monroe, was probable suicide, the coroner said Friday.

A special team of psychiatrists, called in to investigate, says she had made previous suicide tries using sedatives—but "on these occasions she had called for help and had been rescued."

This could explain a puzzling circumstance in the blonde actress' death last Aug. 4 or 5. Her hand, as she lay nude in bed, was on a bedside telephone—as though she was trying to call for aid when death overtook her.

"Now that the final toxicological report and that of the psychiatric consultants have been received and considered, it is my conclusion that the death of Marilyn Munroe was caused by a self-administered overdose of sedative drugs and that the mode of death is probable suicide," coroner Theodore Curphey told a press conference.

ANSWER INCONCLUSIVE

Thus the final question in the drama of the onetime waif who became Hollywood's symbol of sex—was her death accident or suicide? — received something less than a conclusive answer.

Many of her close friends maintained it could not have been suicide, that she was too happy for that.

Curphey added that the lethal dose had been positively identified as pembutal. Miss Monroe had received a prescription for from 40 to 50 nembutal tablets only three days before her death, and the bottle was found empty in her room.

Curphey also said that toxicologist Raymond Abernethy discovered a large dose of choral hydrate in the actress' vital organs.

and most of us would like to have it if it is a little matter."

DEFENDS CONDUCT

Humphrey appeared at his own request before a special Senate armed services subcommittee headed by Symington to defend his company and his own conduct in retaining his interest in the Hanna Company while secretary of the treasury for four years under President Eisenhower.

Humphrey now is honorary chairman of Hanna.

A government accounting office auditor testified earlier that his men discovered certain records destroyed in the Cleveland offices of the Hanna company.

Humphrey said: "No records were destroyed at any time by anybody that were in this business in any way except when there were duplicate records that would give the same information.

U-2 Aircraft To Be Based In Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — United States Air Force U-2 aircraft—similar to the "spy plane" in which American Francis Gary Powers was shot down over Russia in early 1960 — are to fly from Britain, the defence ministry announced Friday.

The U-2 will be based at an RAF station at Upper Heyford in Oxfordshire County to conduct atmospheric sampling and high - altitude weather research, the announcement said.

The planes will arrive there Sunday.

The results of the studies—being made on behalf of U.S. military and civilian agencies—will be published and will contribute to the work of the scientific committee of the United Nations in this field, the ministry said.

The U-2s will be unarmed, it added.

The U-2 reconnaissance plane leaped into prominence with the shooting down over Russia in May, 1960, of Powers. His subsequent trial for espionage by the Soviet authorities and his imprisonment.

Powers was released from prison by the Russians in February, 1962.

U.S. Gov't Nickel Deal Called Wise

By W. R. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former treasury secretary George M. Humphrey said here the United States government's nickel deal with his mining company was a wise investment for the taxpayers.

Humphrey described charges the $98,000,000 stockpile deal resulted in excessive profits as "just baloney."

For its money, Humphrey told Senate stockpile investigators, the government not only got nickel badly needed for defence purposes at below present market prices but also opened up the first nickel production in the United States, cutting the dollar drain in buying it from Canada.

A wealthy Cleveland industrialist described the deal for 125,000,000 pounds of nickel as a small part of the vast operations of the M. A. Hanna Company, "the tag end of our business."

"You say this is a relatively unimportant matter," said Senator Stuart Symington (Dem. Mo.) "I've seen the dividends

City Of Charlottetown Float Said Best Entry

Judges chose the City of Charlottetown float featuring a miniature of Historic Provincial building as the best entry in the Gold Cup and Saucer parade yesterday.

The 21 entries depicted everything from fishermen to astronauts, and children at play to battlefield first aid. There were pretty girls a-plenty and even a dance band complete with Charleston dancers.

Made to scale, the winning entry featured a cut-away section to display the confederation chamber, fashioned accurately down to the last detail. The model and a map of Canada are held in a huge cradle.

'SPACE AGE' FLOAT

The RCAF "space age" float was first in the institutional class. This entry depicted an astronaut at sea in a dinghy with his space capsule floating beside him. A rescue plane hovers overhead.

First prize in the commercial class went to the Holman's of P.E.I. entry, showing two store windows with models and mannequins wearing fashions for beach wear on one side, and a picnic scene on the other.

Second prize in the institutional class was won by the P.E.I. National park. Lifeguards, ready for the rescue, rode on the front, lady life savers on the back, and atop a platform on a boat in the centre an artificial respiration scene was enacted.

Perfection Dairies Ltd. float was second in the commercial class. Here, a lovely lady in pink dress and picture hat was seated on a swing in a rose arbour. She was accompanied by two children, and a white picket fence enclosed the scene.

RCAT. TOP BAND

The P.E.I. Regimental Band, directed by Lt. Charles MacGregor, took top honors in the band competition. The MacDougall Girls' Pipe Band, Glace Bay, N.S. in their bright kilts were second, and the Air Cadet Band from Fredericton was third prize winner.

Alfred J. Hennessey, Charlottetown architect, Barry Bugden, and Mrs. D. M. Gass were the float judges. Band adjudication was by Capt. C. A. Holt, retired chief inspector of Canadian Army Bands, Eastern Command.

Crowd Jams 'Ex' In Week's Climax

A week of excitement and gaiety ends tonight when the lights on the Bill Lynch midway at the exhibition grounds go out for another year.

A centre of interest during the past week's judging in the show ring concludes this morning with the pony show. The judging of cattle concluded yesterday.

What was estimated to be the largest crowd to attend the races and midway during the whole week was evident last night. Officials estimated taat at least 10,000 persons attended the racing events.

Spectators crowded the grandstand to witness the third race of the Island's triple crown tne "Gold Cup and Saucer."

Cloudy skies during the afternoon gave the appearance that the big event would have to be cancelled but the rain never came and the show went on as scheduled.

Gayle Hitchins Enters Finals

WINNIPEG (CP) — Gayle Hitchens of Vancouver Friday dropped a 22-foot putt on the 18th green to defeat Betty Stanhope Cole of Edmonton and advance into the 36-hole final Saturday of the Canadian Women's Open golf championship at Winnipeg's Glendale Golf Club.

Rae Milligan of Calgary will be her opponent.

Miss Milligan defeated Colleen Smith of Vancouver 3 and 1.

KEEN BATTLE

by I. H. Himmelman, La Have, Nova Scotia who was perhaps the most interested man at ringside. He imported the grand champion's sire, Whittern National Velvet, from England and won the grand championship at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, with him in 1960.

A national director and one of the Maritime's keenest boosters of the breed, Mr. Himmelman told this paper he liked the show and considered the quality "good."

Mr. Matheson's Miriam Lass, mature cow class winner, was the senior and grand female champion. The reserve in both cases was Leigh A. Semple's Burlynleigh Barbara Ellen, the second prize mature cow in a strong class.

The Sanderson's Tobermory herd took the junior male championship with a junior calf, Tobermory Donald Dhu, and the reserve with Tobermory Ghillie Callum. Mr. Sanderson told this paper he picked the Tobermory name because it's Scotch, and he picked two traditional Scotch names for his two junior male ribbon winners.

The junior female champs were Tobermory Heiress 17R and Tobermory Larryana.

Judge L. H. Hamilton, retired professor from MacDonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, liked the top animals in the senior classes particularly good, but warned that the Herefords like the Shorthorns, will have to try to get more milk into their animals. There are too many beef cows, he said that cannot feed their calves.

Mr. Hamilton recalled his boyhood days at home when "we figured on making a pound of butter per day through the winter from our Shorthorn cows." That was the time, he explained, when all butter was made at home.

Edwin A. and Sonia D. MacRae, Winsloe; Clark Johnston, Milton and MacKinley Bros., North River were other first place winners.
