

The Prettiest Jackets
in Town

We have heard that remark so often in the last few days that we are pretty sure it's so

We've done OUR best to make it so anyway

Customers are crowding that Jacket Department day after day—and they are proving their good opinions with their money.

Most of the new Jackets are from Germany, and they are "fitters"

Most are silk lined.

Come now while we've plenty to choose from.

SITUATION IN THE TRANSVAAL

No New Phase Yet
Presented.

BOTH REPUBLICS SHOULD STAND
OR FALL TOGETHER

Major Weeks Said to Have Volunteered for Transvaal Service.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Pietermaritzburg, Natal, says: "It is believed that the projected sitting of the Orange Free State read is due to the elaboration of defensive measures. No rain has fallen in either republic, and it is doubtful whether the Boers can commence hostilities before the end of October."

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The Transvaal situation presents no new phase.

Despatches from Johannesburg report the complete dislocation of the rand mining industry. The exodus continues and all mines are closing.

BLOEMFONTEIN, Sept. 25.—The correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, a pro-Boer organ, says: "Both President Steyn and Mr. Fischer of the Orange Free State executive, inform us that the Volksraad is absolutely unanimous that the two republics should stand or fall together."

President Steyn said: "Suppose we remain neutral and the Transvaal was conquered it is not likely that we would be permitted to stand outside British control. Let the rich gold fields be discovered and what would become of us?"

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The attempt to hold a pro-Boer anti war demonstration in Trafalgar Square yesterday proved a drastic failure. Soldiers were carried shoulder high around the square and the speakers, who were not prominent men, could not be heard.

HALIFAX, Sept. 25.—An Alder shot correspondent says that Major W. A. Weeks of the Charlottetown Engineers, who was acting C. S. O., at the camp, has volunteered for service in the Transvaal and that General Hutton is likely to recommend to the Imperial authorities that he be accepted. He is said to be the first Canadian militia officer in Canada to offer his services to his country in the present trouble.

TERRIBLE AND TRAGIC STORY

Of Hardship and Privation

IN THE ALASKAN GOLD FIELDS
—GUIDE'S SAD DEATH.

Last Pathetic Message of Mr. Frank Philips.

Another sad story comes to us as the result of the Klondike rush. Mr. J. H. Philips, of Worcester, Mass, formerly of Charlottetown, has received a letter from his son Frank who has passed the last two years in Alaska in a search for wealth. He left Worcester with a party of which little or nothing has been heard, and of which hopes have in most cases been abandoned. Here is the letter, and it is one of the saddest of all the sad stories that have come back from the Klondike since the first rush to the gold fields:—

YUCATAT, Aug. 24, 1899.—I have just arrived here from inland, and found your letter which was waiting for me since June. From February we have suffered many hardships and privations. I mentioned having lost two men of our party last December in a terrific storm. One was poor Mike Brissotte, of Worcester, the other was a St. Paul, Minn., man.

They had a dog with them and attached a letter to his neck stating they were lost and starving. The dog found his way to where a California party was camped. They got the letter, but before the two men were found they were frozen to death.

Prof. Hill, the original guide of the Worcester party died from hardship, exposure and exhaustion. We gave him a decent a burial as we could afford near where he lay, and then buried a big Siwash Indian who died of scurvy. Nearly everybody had scurvy. I did not have it, and think I can stand this climate as well as most of men.

But I have some pains in my arms, probably rheumatism or sprains from pack carrying. We have no doctors here or any professions, but I can learn a great deal from the Indians, and the bears and even the owls here can teach lessons in wisdom and sound philosophy, and I listen to their reasoning. I am well and strong and have lived a temperate and very frugal life. In coming out I lived ten consecutive days on wheat flapjacks. So I think I could live cheap enough to work for any corporation.

About the gold I went after: it's somewhat illusory; something like Capt. Kidd's treasure which a great many men nearly found, but not quite. But I have this satisfaction of seeing gold, and have washed it out, but not in great quantities. I have two claims which I think will be all right. I have brought the stuff here and sent some to the government mint at Seattle for assay and expect by the 6th of September to have report. I have fallen in with mining experts looking for copper. I can locate copper quick and have found marble in plenty, and onyx as good as Mexican.

There are hundreds of miners coming out to the coast now. None have done well. This Yucatat is quiet a place. There is a government recording office here where we can record claims. Not very far from here I found gold in the quartz, but could not work it to pay without machinery; also platinum. There is some excitement yet about gold.

The missionary here is going to take a trip with me. We have everything ready for a start. Even missionaries will turn aside after the present evil world and covet that which destroys. The missionary establishment is a good thing for men going in the country. This is a country that will try men's souls. I hardly dare look back upon all the miseries and sufferings we have passed through. I feel better now that it is all over, and I am at the coast and could take the steamer for Seattle any week.

I am living on the fat of the land, or rather the fat of the sea; have plenty of clams and seal oil.

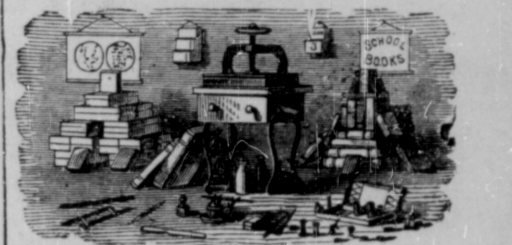

Before I leave here I intend to go to Cook Inlet and I am not sure whether I will go to Seattle and stay this winter or go to some friends in Montana to enjoy that fine climate where the thermometer seldom registers lower than 50 degrees below zero.

About the richest man I see here is an Indian from the coast, who has brought in some seal and other skins and sold them for $1200. If he is not the richest he walks around most independent with his hands in his pockets and puts on his lion-skin air.

In any event I shall stay in civilization this winter and go back to the Klondike in the spring.

Mr. Lemuel Philips, stone-cutter in the employ of Mr. Purdy, Kent Street, is a brother of the writer of the foregoing letter.
