THE DAILY EXAMINER

JUNE 20, 1900

A MISTAKE—CORRECTED!

A few days ago, a young man, named Garragher or Gallagher, was appointed to a subordinate position in the steamship Stanley, in the steward's department, we believe. He went to Pictou, where the vessel is upon the slip, to enter upon his duties. But he hadn't time to prove his ability for the work. It was discovered that his father or some of his relatives had voted for the Conservative candidate and against Sir Louis Davies. Straightway an order was sent for his dismissal; and on Saturday last another boy—a Liberal boy—went to take his place, and he came home! These are the facts as stated to THE EXAMINER. It is rare that a mistake of this kind occurs. How it was made in the first place, the public will never know;—but we desire to inform the public that it has been corrected.

THE BEN DAVIS APPLE.

Our readers will remember that an impression was prevalent at the F. G. A. meeting that Professor Craig thought the Ben Davis apple tree a short liver. Several of our advanced horticulturists could not see how that opinion was arrived at, but most took the whole matter on faith and were therefore apprehensive for the longevity of this particular tree. In the June Horticulturist, just to hand—a splendid number too—an article from Rev. Father Burke sets the matter at rest as it contains an interesting letter from Professor Craig himself, denying formally that he ever said any such thing and asserting that he holds the very opposite opinion. The whole case is summed up cleverly by the reverend writer, and will be read with interest all over Canada. By the way the Horticulturist should be read by every orchardist.

A GLANCE AT THE RECORD.

It is pointed out by a Liberal journal that the one issue of the forthcoming Federal election will be whether the people are satisfied with what the Government has done. This is putting it very tersely. As the Montreal Gazette remarks the Government will be judged, not by its pledges, not by the speeches of its members, not by the volumes of words which its defenders pour out, but by its acts. As they are understood and appreciated by the common people will be rendered the verdict. The Gazette sets forth some of the acts that have been performed by the Government; upon which the people will have to pronounce, as follows:

It bought from a political supporter at a price far above its cash cost the Drummond County Railway, and then bonused another railway to take trade away from it.

It made a contract, without tenders being asked, for the construction of a railway into the Yukon country, pledging as a bonus millions upon millions of square miles of land in the great gold-bearing region, a contract so bad that the whole people revolted against it.

It filled the Yukon country with officials whose conduct was so scandalous that the greatest journal of opinion in England said the relations between the people and rulers in that section of the British Empire were everything that they should not be.

It refused a public independent enquiry into the conduct of these officials, though charges were made against them by name on the floor of Parliament by a member of the Privy Council.

It bungled its tariff legislation so that Canadian grain was shut out of the German market.

It instituted a splurge preferential tariff system from which Canada has not received and cannot receive any commercial advantage, and which cannot be made effective of its pretended purpose, except at the risk of Canadian industries.

It put an insulting "no precedent" proviso in the order-in-council authorising the despatch of the Canadian soldiers to the war in South Africa.

It compounded cases of customs fraud which had been brought into the courts, and this against the protests of straightforward importers and merchants.

It appointed unqualified men, and men who had been condemned by the courts as political corruptionists, to important places of trust and emolument.

It spent tens of thousands of dollars in paying partisan commissions for going about the country looking through the public service for employees who had voted against its party candidates.

It marked every year by a job, almost every department by a scandal, and every batch of estimates with the proof of extravagance.

It raised millions more by taxation than its members had declared the people could bear, and spent ten millions more a year than they had pledged themselves to show was sufficient for the needs of the country.

It developed "the machine" as a factor in electoral fraud, and raised ballot-stealing, cheating at the polls and corruption to the level of a science.

It established the system of giving contracts without tender to political friends, who sublet the work at a profit to themselves and a loss to the country to men capable of doing it.

It gave the country the "business is business" letter as a politician's idea of public ethics.

It forced two qualified commanders of the militia to throw up their positions in disgust at the ideals and methods of its administration of the country's armed forces.

This of itself is quite a record, and should be sufficient to consign the party of tricksters now in power to political oblivion. If the people wish a continuance of such rascality and incapacity they will return Laurier, Tarte, Blair and the other stars in the Liberal firmament to power. But the indications are that the people will not do anything of the kind. The hand-writing is on the wall.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—The Government has at last mustered up enough courage to hold an election in the West River District. Wednesday, July 4th will be nomination day. The election will be held on Wednesday, July 11th.

—The committee to investigate the emergency ration scandal has begun work at Ottawa. The majority of the witnesses already examined declare that the food to which objection is taken contains only 16 per cent of nutriment! This is the kind of stuff supplied to the brave boys in South Africa.

—The silly quibbling of the Guardian will not serve the purpose intended. The temperance people see through its pretensions and will not be deceived. Its veneer of independence has been removed and the hard-shell Gritism beneath exposed. Its championing of the sham prohibition law passed by the Pineaau Government will not influence any Conservative votes in favor of the aggregation of political mountebanks now in power.

—Father Burke is right. The railway time table should be advertised in all the newspapers for the information of all the people. But its insertion is only paid for in the Patriot, Guardian and papers of that kind. Conservative papers like THE EXAMINER publish it free of charge for the information of their readers. Through inadvertence the old time table appeared in the early edition of THE EXAMINER on Monday. The new arrangement will be found in today's issue.

—Mr. Geo. F. Owen, whose body is expected in Charlottetown from Ottawa to-night, was well-known throughout the Island province, and his unexpected death will be greatly mourned. He was for years Secretary of the King's County Exhibition Association, and latterly has been connected with the St. John exhibition. He has also been known as a contributor to the Island press, and some of his writings have appeared in the magazines. His sorrowing widow and family and other relatives have the sympathy of all.

—The Moncton Times says: Our seven-teen cabinet ministers at Ottawa are doing something in return for their salaries. They have recently dismissed from office the caretaker of the Dominion building at Fredericton and the inspector of gas at Charlottetown. Both were dismissed without cause, and both have sons fighting the battles of the Empire in South Africa. However the interests of the country and of private individuals may suffer, something must be done to please Mr. Tarte.

—The Patriot says that the object of the amendments proposed to the prohibition bill by the Opposition was to deceive the temperance people. But nothing could be further from the truth. The amendments were proposed by life-long temperance men, men who by word and example promote the interests of temperance—and their only object was to make the measure effective as possible. The Patriot should not allow its zeal for the Pineaau administration to interfere with its common sense.

SOURIS BOARD OF TRADE.

At a meeting of the Souris Board of Trade held on Monday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—J. J. Hughes.
Vice President—J. C. Underhay.
Secretary—Arch'd. Currie.
Messrs. J. J. Hughes, I. G. S. S. S. and John McLean were appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade.

It was agreed that an application should be made to have a Post Office Savings Bank for the village of Souris.

The matter of telephone communication to East Point engaged some attention, and Messrs. L. McDonald, East Point, John E. Robertson, Red Point, and the Secretary of the Board were appointed a committee to wait on the Telephone Company and Premier Fairquharson to press for the immediate construction of a branch line to East Point.
