Little Miss Pamela Moreside, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Moreside, as flower girl, wore a street length dress of the same material in shell pink; the full skirt was styled with straight front panel giving an overskirt effect. She wore a headband of matching material and carried a basket of white and pink baby mums and feathered carnations.

Arnold Llewellyn acted as best man. The ushers were Allan Smith and Mark Laidner.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. MacKinnon wore a sheath dress of teal blue lace over tulle with a feathered hat, matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The mother of the groom wore a navy and white silk print dress with navy velvet hat and a corsage of white roses.

During the ceremony, Lewis Newsum sang the "Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love" while the register was being signed. Mr. Newsum was accompanied by Royston F. Muford, ARCO.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social hall of the church, where the young couple together with their parents received the guests.

S.H. Burhoe asked the blessing and Gordon Bennett proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom. A toast to the bride's attendants proposed by the groom was responded to by Arnold Llewellyn.

Miss Ellen Matheson circulated the guest book.

For her wedding trip to the Gaspé, Mrs. Pigot wore a carmine blue wool sheath with white feathered hat and patent shoes and bag. Her corsage was white carnations.

The young couple will reside in Charlottetown where the groom is on the staff of H. R. Boone and Co. Chartered Accountants, and the bride is a Dental Hygienist with the Dental office of Dr. J. G. MacKay.

Out of town guests included Rev. and Mrs. Frank Pennick of Quebec; Miss Diane Bennett of Halifax and Miss Margaret Parker of Amherst.

MR. AND MRS. ROSS PIGOT Standards Of Mixed Gladioli Decorate Trinity United Ch.

Trinity United Church was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding on Sept. 7 when Gloria Esnela, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacKinnon, Charlottetown, became the bride of Ross Douglas Pigot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lane Pigot, Mt. Stewart.

Rev. J.G.E. Bal performed the double ring ceremony in the sanctuary, which was decorated with pink and white gladioli. The guest seats were marked with tiny bells tied with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered the church to the strains of the "Trumpet call in D. Major."

She was lovely in a floor length gown of nylon organza, embroidered with tiny flowers, fashioned with a scooped neckline and a cross over bouffant skirt with front bow. The bodice featured long lily point sleeves. Her three tier sheer illusion veil was held in place by a tulle chignon and pearls. She wore a cultured pearl necklace, gift of the groom, and carried a cascading bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, white alphas and trailing ivy.

Miss Joyce MacKinnon, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Diane Bennett and Miss Margaret Parker as bridesmaids all wore identical gowns of crystal charm in seashell blue. The

Autumn's Misty Showers Delay The Harvesting

"It's not the best of harvest weather we've had getting," Mrs. C. remarked to James this evening. His care, rested for the weekend, he had come over from his house on the hill. And now on the back veranda was talking shop with James, who, whose done, was cleaning a set of driving harness, which of little use in the machine, a pair which has come to these farms had been hanging in a far closet for years.

Twilight was commencing to drift down then, somewhat prematurely, to close out another dampish day. Neither star, nor any sign of moonlight was—or is there, to give promise of a sunny weekend.

"Not the best!" James agreed, undid a buckle, in order to give a strap a thorough cleaning—practising thus the maxim he would impress on the minds of the youngsters of the name: "What's worth doing, is worth doing well!" Scampie came in sight around the house corner, and so a himself close by. Now, it appeared he was listening in to the chatting and again he seemed to smile as if he found the antics of a pair of "marmalade" kittens on the veranda, prettily amusing.

Lodge where Paul Hebert proposed the last: Mrs. Fleming received wearing a two-piece illusion beige dress with matching brown and beige accessories. Her corsage was of orange de light roses. Mrs. Hebert chose a navy blue linen sheath with white and navy blue accessories. She wore a corsage of pink feathered carnations. The couple will reside in Halifax, N.S.

For her wedding trip to P.E.I. and New Brunswick, the bride chose a three-piece charcoal double-knit suit with white accessories and a corsage of red carnations. The couple will reside in Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Clark Johnston was best man for his brother. Ushering the guests to pews indicated by large fabric signs were L. E. H. Crabbe and Guy Thompson.

At the reception for 120 guests at Sheraton, Newfoundland, the bride's mother received wearing a sheath dress of blue lace over tulle with matching jacket, a shaded blue hat and a corsage of deep pink carnations. The groom's mother assisted in a beige ensemble with multi-colored hat of straw and a corsage of fallman roses.

The toast to the bride was given by Mr. Piercy and the best man read telegrams received from Miss Myra Smith, Toronto, Ontario, Rev. and Mrs. Ian MacLean, Straburg, Sask., and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Armstrong, Old, Alberta.

The guest book was circulated by Miss Marion Reid.

At the bride's table, sweetheart roses encircled the three tier wedding cake which was flanked on either side by lighted tapers.

Special guests at the wedding were the maternal and paternal grandmothers of the bride and groom, Mrs. Chester Edwards, Mrs. Ernest Coles, Mrs. Nelson Stead and Mrs. Everett Johnstone; and Ernest Coles, grandfather of the bride.

For a honeymoon trip in Eastern Canada and the New England States, the bride chose a white knitted suit with coral accessories and a corsage of coral feathered carnations.

The newly weds will reside in Sherwood. The groom is a member of the staff of Paradise Junior High School and the bride is a laboratory technologist employed by the Department of Health in Charlottetown.

Autumn's Misty Showers Delay The Harvesting

"And how does the harvest go?" Mr. C. queried.

"Slow. It's not much more to it," James replied.

"I see you have a few 'sunds' cut in the foot over there?" Mr. C. nodded.

"Yes, we've managed to get a bit of that down. And up to the other farm, toward the back of the place, we've got a few more which has come to these farms had been hanging in a far closet for years."

"It was just remembering before you came," James said, "and now it's time to get the harness in a precise row on the Sunday sticks in the woodshed, as 'at any rate' Mr. C. smiled.

"Some showers, this week gave. And morning mist. And in the garden rich flowerings: gold and orange, scarlet and crimson. Blue and purple to match the sunsets of season."

"I've caught or sunnily blue, I was overcast by a tiara of pearls and brilliants and she carried a long cascade bouquet of pink lace over tulle with stephanotis and ivy."

The bride's sister, Miss Enid Adams, was maid of honor. Her attendants of the bride were Miss Louise MacNeill and Miss Fay Adams. The bridesmaids wore identical street length gowns of romance blue organza featuring a scooped neckline, a white chantly lace, short sleeves and fitted sheath skirts topped with detachable, over-the-shoulder, fringed, scalloped lace edge. They wore picture picture hats of white tulle adorned with tiny shaded blue flowers and their carried crescent shaped bouquets of carnations.

THINK IT OVER

We are distinct individuals and long to express ourselves in our own personal way.

Remember this, when choosing a place in a cemetery for your family, do not choose the park type of cemetery where you are regimented and dictated to in your choice of memorial.

Choose rather a place in a traditional cemetery, the way that has been used by our forefathers for centuries. Here you may set the names of your loved ones apart with a memorial that is a tribute to them and a record of their way of life.
