

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

AUGUST 1, 1895.

THE IRISH QUESTION

While Great Britain has in the recent elections declared decidedly against Home Rule, Ireland has again decidedly expressed a desire to obtain it. In view of this result, thoughts of such measures of Home Rule as those of Mr. Gladstone are not to be entertained, and may as well be at once dismissed. But in view of the evident and general discontent of the people of Ireland with their existing conditions, and in view of the decreasing population, a change will, probably, ere long, be made in the Government of the Emerald Isle. Several years ago, it will be remembered, Mr. Balfour submitted a measure giving to Irish County Councils a considerable share in the government of the country. But the Salisbury Government was at that time weak, and the Irish Party, having in view the prospect of Home Rule, were not inclined to accept it. The Government can now afford to be more generous with Ireland, and the Irish Party in Parliament will exhibit wisdom as well as patriotism by being more reasonable and moderate in their criticisms and demands. A rare chance is afforded our Mr. Blake to act the part of a judicious mediator between the parties for the purpose of securing to Ireland a substantial measure of self-government. Many of the private and local bills relating to Ireland, now hampering Parliament, might much better be dealt with by the County Councils elected by the Irish people. Measures for the development of the natural resources of the country and the encouragement of its local industries might also for the most part be relegated to these County Councils. These Councils might also control the schools and highways of the country and be the means of enabling the tenants of Ireland to throw off the shackles of absentee landlordism under some such measure as that by which the proprietary system of this Province was abolished. In point of fact a great deal may be done in this way towards remedying the grievances of Ireland, without in the slightest degree impairing, but rather strengthening, the unity of Great Britain and Ireland.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Cheese sells now by wholesale at from 7 1/2 to 7 3/4 cents per lb. The Fredericton Gleaner does not attach much significance to the report that Mr. Foster will have difficulty in securing his election in York. "It is generally conceded," says the Gleaner, "that Hon. Geo. E. Foster will poll a larger majority than was ever given to any candidate in this country."

The Guardian asks: Is not $50,000 a year for twenty years (see italics) something like $1,000,000? This is a rather flagrant example of the Guardian's calculations and reasonings—particularly in respect to the Dominion Government and the Liberal Conservative party. The printer who made the error is full of the spirit which inspires the editorials of the morning organ.

The Chicago Dispatch asks: "If New York drops her first syllable, and becomes simply 'York,' why should not Chicago drop two syllables and become 'Go?' Or else drop the same number of syllables and become 'Chic.' The pronunciation will gravitate toward its appropriate descriptiveness in time."

It is reported on good authority that A. W. Ross, M. P. for Linga, has resigned his seat in the House of Commons. It will be remembered that Mr. Ross's name was mentioned in connection with the governorship of Manitoba, although it has been supposed of late that he would not be appointed. Ottawa Mail: As the hay crop is fairly heavy around Ottawa, the fact that western Ontario is without any and is agitating for special freight rates on hay from the Northwest would argue that this district should do specially well with its hay this year. But the crop is a trying one to the soil, and on the whole it will be regrettable rather than otherwise, if there were a particularly good market for hay year after year. Those who ought to know say that there is far more money and less injury in dairying, fruit raising, poultry and vegetables.

Mail and Empire: There is a genuine love among the British nation for government by the people for the people, and experience has taught them that their political institutions give it them in a greater degree than is to be obtained under any other form of government on the globe. They look at Republican France, and are thankful; they examine American methods, and are grateful to the providence that has cast their lot in Britain. If the House of Lords be returned, as no doubt it may be, it will be the result of slow and gradual movement rather than of an earthquake. At present the events of the past few months have given it a fresh lease of life such as it could probably have acquired in no other way.

The fact that every one of the representative peers elected last week by the Scotch peers at Edinburgh is a Unionist shows that the opinion of the general body of those noblemen has not altered much on the great question under consideration. The Scotch peerage is represented in the House of Lords by sixteen of its members. There are, it may be explained, five classes of peerages—those of England, Great Britain, the United Kingdom, Scotland and Ireland. Both in the Scotch and in the Irish peerages a large number of the members have hereditary seats in the House of Lords as holders of peerages of the United Kingdom. The Earl of Rosebery, for example, owes his parliamentary position to his peerage of the United Kingdom. He would not have the remotest chance of election to the Upper Chamber as a Scotch representative peer. The members of the Irish peerage have one great and exclusive advantage. They are eligible for election to the House of Commons as well as to the House of Lords, unless the eligibility is barred by holding a peerage of the United Kingdom. The famous Lord Palmerston, though a peer of Ireland, sat in the House of Commons, and was, indeed, the leader of that House for many years.

I rely for more than two years has been practically bankrupt. So seriously is the government crippled financially that the King's advisers have suggested the withdrawal of the kingdom from the costly triple alliance, and urged disarmament.

KINGS COUNTY EXHIBITION, 1895.

The prize list for King's County Exhibition has been carefully revised for the current year and is now in the hands of the printers, and will be issued in a few days. The prizes amount to over $1,200 and include a considerable number of changes, of which the following are the most important, viz.:

In Horses, Sections 3, 13 and 16 have been struck out and a section inserted for "best horse gelding for general purposes, any age, with prizes of $5, $3 and $1 for 1st, 2nd and 3rd respectively. Section 22 has been altered and now reads: "Best carriage mare or gelding shown in carriage on track." Prizes $5, $3 and $1. In cattle, sections have been added for imported pure bred, Shorthorn, Ayrshire, or Jersey or Guernsey bulls, with prizes $5, $3, and $1. A section has been added for best pure bred Holstein bull, any age, with $5, $3 and $1 for prizes. And also a section for best pure bred Holstein cow in milk, prizes $5, $3 and $1. In sheep prizes are given for best flock of six Longwooled sheep and for best flock six gray-faced sheep.

In pigs, prizes are given for best Yorkshire boar with registered pedigree, best Berkshire boar with registered pedigree, best Tamworth boar with registered pedigree, best Duroc Jersey boar with registered pedigree. In poultry additional prizes are given for best Plymouth Rock cock and two pullets hatched in 1895. In grain an additional section is added for best two bushels red wheat named. In class 9, prizes are given for the best Paris green sprayer made in the county, and sections 1 and 5 have been struck out. The prizes for fruit have been increased all through and several alterations are made in fancy work and other classes in the prize list.

Altogether the prize list for King's County Exhibition is ahead of any yet offered in this county. The King's County Exhibition Association will also have trotting races on their park on October 1st for which the following purses will be offered:— Free-for-all — $150. Three-minute race — $50. Green Race — $30. Open to pacers or trotters.

The Exhibition is to be opened on Wednesday, October 2nd, at 12 o'clock, noon, and the Association intend to have many attractions on the grounds, so that all who visit Georgetown may will be both instructed and amused. At a meeting of the Managing Committee of the King's County Association, held at Georgetown on the 30th July, directors to take charge of the several classes at the Exhibition were appointed, and a committee was named to provide increased accommodation for the public. The advantage of having our exhibitions in the hands of a live association like the one in King's County is every year adding to the interest taken in the county shows. Notwithstanding the fact that the Legislature voted $1,500 for the exhibition in King's County in 1895, we understand that the Government are only giving $1,000 to the King's County Association. If it were not for this fact we doubt the prize list would have been still further increased, and greater encouragement given to our dairymen and agriculturists.

CORRECTIONS BY THE REV. DR. A. MACDOUGALL.

The Rev. Dr. MacDougall has addressed a letter to the editor of THE DAILY EXAMINER, in the course of which he says: "Sir,—My attention has just now been called to one of the marvellous ebullitions of that rara avis who subscribes himself Christian—the one which appeared in your issue of the 25th inst. I have no intention of engaging in controversy with every radical, fanatical, egotistical and pedagogical tyro, who, fancying that he 'knows it all,' is continually seeking in the most unbecoming manner to enter into an altercation with me on the platform or through the press. No man who wishes to retain his self-respect, or the respect of his fellow men, can afford to engage in a controversy with those ignorant and cowardly scribblers who shield themselves behind a nom de plume that they may (thus shielded from the knowledge of the public) safely indulge in cowardly insinuations and base insinuations. But, Mr. Editor, as I am relatively a stranger to your city, and as a personal attack has been made upon me in your columns, and as I have been (either ignorantly or dishonestly) misrepresented, I regard it as a duty which I owe to the cause which I represent to my friends and to the readers of your paper, to write a few lines in the way of correction. That the work is distasteful to me I frankly admit, for I feel assured that some will regard even a mild protest on my part as an act of humiliation which I should have avoided, no doubt, believing that I should have treated the production of 'Christian' as wholly beneath even contempt. 'Christian' writes about his extraordinary efforts to obtain the pastorate of one of our city churches, and advises 'Citizen' to exercise a 'little reserve.' Now I do not advise 'Christian' to exercise a 'little reserve.' If 'Christian' or any one else knows of any 'extraordinary efforts' which I made to obtain the pastorate of one of our city churches, he is at perfect liberty to make it known to the public. During a few weeks' vacation which was granted to me by the church of which I was pastor in St. John, N. B., I wished to pay a visit to P. E. Island, and as a matter of convenience I sought (in the ordinary way) a hearing in Zion Church, Charlottetown, the pulpit of which was vacant at that time; but that I ever sought to obtain the pastorate of said church I positively and absolutely deny. That 'Christian' should make the above named fact the basis of such cowardly insinuations as are contained in the aforesaid article is to me really surprising, and I actually pity the man who would allow himself to be carried away by his religious zeal that he would lose sight of even the ordinary civilities of social and public life.

I do not know whether 'Christian' dishonestly or ignorantly misrepresents me when he writes: 'He placed the God of the Bible whom he designated as a bloody and a cruel monster on a par with the Gods of the Greek and Roman mythology.' It may be that 'Christian' failed to recognize the fact that I took cognizance of the evolution of the Gods.

The remaining portion of the letter is unnecessary to Dr. MacDougall's defence, and is calculated to provoke a religious controversy, for which THE EXAMINER is not prepared, therefore we withhold it.

GENERAL TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

St. Petersburg, July 30.—A despatch to the Kovve Vremya, from Vladivostok, says that Japan is vigorously raising the war footing of her navy and army. The two cruisers that she bought from Peru have arrived in Japanese waters, and crews will shortly go to England to take to Japan three ironclads which are building there. The despatch adds that there is a strong war-like temper in Japan. The despatch further says that the Japanese have blown up the fortifications at Port Arthur.

London, July 30.—The Daily News, in mentioning that the Pope has considered an important work that is intended to be a programme to secure social order, says that before publishing the work his Holiness will ask for the opinion on it of eminent German, Swiss, Italian and English sociologists. The Pope's idea is to use the funds of many religious corporations for the institutions he meditates. To this end he has invited a number of eminent Jesuits besides the Capuchin Father Leo, Count Leo M. Curtius, a Swiss deputy, and several learned Italians to confer with him in the autumn. He will thereafter publish a new encyclical. It is reported that he will seek to prove from the failure of the State socialists which are building there, William and Prince Bismarck, that Church socialism alone is able to bestow peace and happiness on the people.

Wellington, New Zealand, July 30.—In the house of representatives to-day the colonial treasurer stated that the Government had decided to subsidize a line of steamships to run between this island and Vancouver, B. C. The amount of the subsidy proposed is £26,000. A bill has been introduced proposing co-operation with the Dominion of Canada in the matter of a Pacific submarine cable.

Ottawa, July 30.—The department of customs received to-day in payment of duties a bag of gold weighing 201 ounces the estimated value of which is $3,963. It was forwarded by Inspector Constantine of the N. W. mounted police, who has established a custom collectorship in the Yukon territory, with headquarters at Cudahby. The subscription to the federal treasury was forwarded from St. Michael's Island on the fourth of July last. It is probably the first instance since the early days of gold mining in the Cariboo district where gold dust has been used in the payment of duties. The total amount collected at Fort Cudahby last year was $3,243. This year, including the gold dust assignment, the receipts amount to a little over $4,100.

The English Divorce court is blocked with business, coming chiefly from the middle and lower classes. The masses have their nastiness as well as the classes, though not so much is heard about it.

Robert Cleady, a Muskoka farmer, died about a week ago soon after taking some medicine prepared by an unlicensed practitioner named William Gilbert. The circumstances of Cleady's death were such as to lead to the suspicion that he had been poisoned by the nostrum, and the stomach of the deceased has been brought to Toronto to be examined by the provincial analyst. Pending the result of the examination no action will be taken against Gilbert.
