FOR SALE. RARE CHANCE

The property occupied by J. J. Gay and son situate in the village of Powasi, 7 miles from Charlottetown, is offered for sale. The proprietors have carried on a large market garden nursery and seed business for thirty years, and the purchaser will no doubt retain a large share of the local trade. The premises comprise a large dwelling house, store, warehouse, barn, shed, orchard, and about 15 acres of the most fertile land on the island. This land has been manured year after year, for so long that an old man said the other day, "it is all a bed of manure and could be hauled for top dressing." This would be an ideal spot for a country merchant or it would be admirable for a summer resort. The situation is one of the most beautiful on the island. Good bathing, fishing, boating, shooting and within easy distance, churches, post office school telephone and shops all at the door.
For terms and further particulars, apply to You Clure Gay, J. J. Gay & son or to, JOHN T. MELLISH, Solicitor, Charlottetown.

THE MOUNTAIN MAID.

She Had a Natural Anxiety, Which She Made Manifest.

As my horse, puffing like a porpoise, drew me and my backboard up the last sharp acclivity of the mountain road that led out into the pass between the summits rising on either hand he would have exercised his privilege and stopped a moment to blow, but 100 yards ahead of us I saw a bright bit of calico gleaming in the morning sun, and, driving on, I came up to a buxom mountain maid sitting on a stump at a point where a footpath leading up from the valley met the main road.

"Good mornin'," she said before I had a chance to stop, and there seemed to be an anxious tone in the voice.
"Good morning," I responded, and I was on the point of asking her how far it was to the next place, a favorite manner of starting a conversation on mountain roads, when she broke in.
"Air you a preacher?" she asked.
"No," I answered, with a smile, for I had never been asked that question before.
"Nor a squire?"
"No."
"Well, Jim Martin's comin along this away perty soon now, an I wuz jis' axin so's thar wouldn't be no mistakes."
"I don't quite understand your explanation," I said, completely in the dark as to what she was trying to get at.
"I reckon not, but I ain't takin no chances, an I thought I'd better stop you while I had the chance."
"Thank you, I'm sure, but if you will tell me what's up I may be able to know what you are talking about."
She laughed good naturedly.
"Well, you see it's this-a-way," she said. "Jim, he's been a-courtin an a-sparkin round me for about two ye'r now, an last night he popped an says ez how ef I'd be here this mornin ez he come along we'd go down to Logville an git hitched, an Jim's mighty unreliable, an like's not ef we got thar an the preacher ner the squire warn't thar I'd never git Jim in the mind ag'in, so I kinder thought mebbe you might be the squire er the preacher an I didn't want you to git away. Ef you meet Jim anywheres down the road, don't tell him you seen me, fer I don't want him skeert."—Washington Star.

THE WOMAN HATER.

The more a man has to do with women, the more he finds it necessary to lie.
If a Mary writes her name Mae or Marie, that settles it—she can't cook.
A soft, gentle, pleading voice soon becomes more tiresome than a rasping one.
It is not difficult for a man to be a woman's ideal if he lives in another state.
Any girl who raves over a football player will prove to be fond of gritty gooseberry pie.
Women have great respect for a woman who has her hair done up by a professional hairdresser.
When a woman wants to give an underhanded swipe at another woman, she makes fun of her dressmaker.
Somehow it always makes a man feel like laughing to hear a woman past 40 speak of her mother as "mamma."
A woman's soul seems to be a good deal more valuable than that of a man's, judging from the frantic effort she makes to save it.
The day after a woman has spent a great deal of money on foolishness she boils the potatoes with their jackets on in order not to waste the skins.—Atchison Globe.

THRONE LIGHTS.

Queen Victoria selected the Jewish "Chant of the Dead" as the opening voluntary for the Duchess of Teck's funeral service.
The empress of Austria takes her bath every morning at 5 o'clock, which is earlier and oftener than most women do who are not empresses.
The Prince of Wales has become perhaps as good a shot as there is in Great Britain. In a recent shooting at pheasants he killed every bird he drew trigger on.
The king of Greece, when conversing with the members of his family, never employs any but the English language. He seldom speaks French, and only uses Greek when compelled to do so.
Foreign gossips say that Queen Olga of Greece has an anchor tattooed on her shoulder as a token of her affection for her father, the late Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, and that Princess Waldemar of Denmark, wife of the sailor son of King Christian, is also marked in like fashion, with the addition of a crown.

Struck the Right Man.

During a visit to Massachusetts a distinguished author was invited by a friend to a meeting of an agricultural society, then holding its annual session in the town.

The invitation was accepted, and author and friend took seats near the door. Nearly every farmer in the house had something to say. Finally the president, pointing toward the author, said:
"Everybody's given us a talk to-night, except the farmer down there by the hazel beard, the boots and the slouch hat. I can tell by his looks that he's a farmer, and nothing but a farmer, and I call upon him to take the floor and tell us how crops are in his neighborhood."
The man referred to was Hamlin Garland, but he was equal to the occasion, and rising he said:
"Yes, I'm a farmer, and I'm proud of it, but just now I'm doing a little literary work in order to get money enough to pay off my hands."—Atlanta Constitution.

The Fatal Spot.

"And where was the man stabbed?" asked the excited lawyer of a physician.
"The man was stabbed about an inch and a half to the left of the medial line and about an inch above the umbilicus," was the reply.
"Oh, yes, I understand now. But I thought it was near the town hall."—London Fun.
