Women Given Rules For Selecting Hats

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP) — The only reason a woman wears a hat is to attract attention. A becoming hat adds the final touch to the well-dressed person.

That's the finding of Shaela Lewis, fashion co-ordinator for the Toronto Millinery Group.

And men always notice women's hats. "They may say they're silly, ridiculous, or that they don't like them—but at least they notice them and they do comment."

Choosing a hat is an individual matter, Miss Lewis emphasizes. "It's not the style of the hat that counts as much as the over-all co-ordination of a hat with your outfit, hairdo, face and figure."

SIMPLE RULES

But there are a few basic rules. Choose a hat that will blend, both in color and styling, with the outfits in your wardrobe. For example, if your clothes are tailored, a more sophisticated tailored hat would look good whereas frillier, softer hats would tend to clash.

With careful selection a simple feminine hat styled on rounded lines can be worn to soften a tailored suit, however. And a rather feminine suit can be made to look more business-like with a tailored hat.

"The principles of good color apply just as in all fashions." If your budget can afford only one or two hats, then choose hats in basic colors such as brown or black which will co-ordinate with many different outfits.

"Plain hats can be dressed up with frill, ribbon, flowers or bows to match any outfit you may be wearing."

SHOULD EXPERIMENT

A woman needs to experiment to see what style of hat suits her face and figure, Miss Lewis says. Generally, a big woman should not wear a small pillbox hat nor should a woman with wide hips and shoulders wear a hat with a broad brim that will accent her figure defect.

Many women use their hair-dos as an excuse for not wearing a hat. "Because a hat will flatten part of a hair style, all women need to do is learn to comb their hair or back-comb it if they wear it in a high style."

A hat need not be expensive, says Miss Lewis. You can buy one of real fur for $65 but the same style in imitation fur is available for $2.98.

"I paid $15 for a plain black velvet breton which I have worn at least three times a week for five months and I still expect to get about two more months wear out of it—almost as much wear as I would get out of a pair of shoes," said Miss Lewis.

PLAINER STYLES

Hats for spring will be plainer than for many years, with emphasis on line and shape rather than trim, says Miss Lewis. Flowers, frills and frou frou will be used sparingly, mainly to draw the eye to the line of the hat.

All shapes and sizes—bretons, pill boxes, slouches, cloches will be shown, largely in romance pink and a wide variety of brown tones from pale white sand, a new color, to deep honey gold and chocolate brown.

"I think the high rounded bubble in all straws and fabrics will become very popular this spring."

The bidding:

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| 3 ♥ | Pass | Pass | 3 ♠ |
| Pass | 4 ♠ | | |

Opening lead—king of hearts.

The elimination play, properly used, saves many a contract. Its purpose is to force a defender, at the crucial time, to make a play disadvantageous to him.

Here is a simple case. South is in four spades and West starts out with three high hearts, declarer ruffing the third one.

South now leads the queen of spades on which West plays the five. It would be wrong to finesse the spade in the face of West's shut-out bid, a bid he would scarcely make if he had the guarded king of spades as well as the fine heart suit his first three plays reveal.

So South goes up with the ace of spades, hoping to catch the singleton king, and hoping at the same time to work out an endplay against East if that is not the case.

When East plays the six on the ace, South proceeds with his alternative plan. He cashes the A-K of diamonds, thus eliminating that suit from dummy's hand and his own, and then throws East in the lead with a spade.

East cannot afford to lead a diamond, which would permit South to ruff while discarding a club from dummy, so he returns a club. Declarer wins the club in dummy (with the nine or jack, depending on what West plays) and then takes another club finesse to make the contract.

Note that if South takes the spade finesse he goes down. East would have a safe exit card (a spade or a diamond) and East-West would eventually win a club trick with proper defense.

Peculiarly enough, the contract can be defeated by an unusual play. If East foresees the budding endplay, he can forestall it. All he has to do is trump the third heart lead with the king of spades—even though he is trumping his partner's high heart—and then play anything but a club. Against this defense, declarer is helpless.

It just goes to show that it sometimes pays to trump your partner's trick. The trick is to know when to do it.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
