MODERN HIAWATHA

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (AP)—A modern Hiawatha put an arrow through an alligator's head yesterday, ending a big-city animal hunt that had stymied pistol-packing policemen. Three weeks ago, William Pickett and several of his neighbors complained that an alligator was lurking in a suburban swamp. Police dragged the swamp, found nothing, and gave up. But Pickett, who often hunts deer with a bow-and-arrow, kept up the search. Yesterday, he bagged the three-foot reptile.

Alberton Exhibition

In the number of cattle exhibits. There is need for more competition among the Ayrshires. Jerseys were of good quality but few in number. Guerneys showed an increase in numbers and competition was keen in all classes. Harold Palmer of Kensington and McLean Horne of Rosebank were the principal exhibitors. Competition was also keen among the Holsteins, especially in the heifer classes. Some good individual young bulls were shown. The cow entries were fairly close but more entries would be desirable.

James E. McNeil of Kensington won the Exhibition Association special prize for the champion Holstein bull. Special prizes donated by the Holstein Friesian Association for the best two females under two years were won by Waldon Moase of Freetown, Allan Clow of Freetown, and Lester and Heber Profit of Rosebank. Those offered by the Holstein Friesian Association for the best two animals, progeny of one dam were won by Allan Clow, Waldon Moase and James McNeil.

Short horns were up in numbers and of better quality than previous years. Herefords compared favorably with other years. The largest exhibitor of Herefords was F. C. Ramsay.

Judges of the cattle classes were S. C. Wright, Morris Deacon, David Peacock and James Mundy. A silver tray donated by The Canadian Bank of Commerce for the best dairy group was won by Albert Stetson of Freetown.

Four special prizes of three dollars each donated by Ralph Adams of O'Leary were awarded as follows: For best pure bred or grade Holstein junior calf up to six months, Russell Rogers, Coleman; for the best pure bred or grade Shorthorn senior heifer calf, Ivan Bowness, Kensington.

Grains, Vegetables, Flowers

Dairy products were judged by Earle W. Adams. There were very few entries of butter and only two of honey. Grains, roots, vegetables, fruit and flowers were judged by D. C. Schurman and G. C. Warren. Field roots were especially good for this time of year, especially mangels. There was a wonderful display of food corn. Vegetables, including potatoes were of good quality but the displays were small.

There was a small collection of fruit but it was of good quality and color. Considerable scab and maggot were evident in the apples. The first prize Duchess and Red Astrachan apples were of excellent quality and should gain credit in any show. A special prize for the best collection of fruit donated by C. R. Leard and Son was won by Mrs. Alvin Webb of O'Leary.

In the flower class the first prize for a plant in bloom was awarded for a fuchsia of exceptional size and beauty, covered with hundreds of blooms. The glorioxias were outstanding and there was a good display of gladioli and dahlias, the first prize dahlias being a very splendid collection containing many beautiful varieties.

Special prizes tendered by J. W. Waugh for the best collection of cut flowers went to Mrs. Jesse Matthews, Alberton and to Bertha and Anetta Gordon, Cascumpec. Domestic science was up to its usual high quality but there were less entries than usual. Judging was done by Mrs. Allison McLean of Summerside. The St. Lawrence Flour Mills Limited of Montreal donated prizes of Regal flour for bread, rolls and biscuits, baked with Regal flour. The winners of these were: For bread, Mrs. R. E. Lockerby, Mrs. Robert Woodside and Mrs. Harry Pridham. For rolls: Mrs. R. E. Lockerby, Mrs. Clayton Travers and Mrs. Harry Pridham. For biscuits: Mrs. Mary Barbour, Mrs. Robert Oulton and Mrs. Harry Pridham.

Says Dieselization Over Emphasized

STRATFORD, Ont., Sept. 5 (CP)—Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, said today that dieselization of railways was "very much over emphasized." "Complete dieselization is something that won't happen overnight," he said on an inspection tour of C.N.R. shops here. "The railway is examining gas turbine motors and other sources of power as well as diesel, he said. Stratford would be the "last stronghold of steam locomotion," as more units were converted to other types of power.

well as beautiful fancywork received commendation from the Judge. Mrs. George Clarke of Summerside. The novelty classes contained many interesting exhibits. There was only one entry in the amateur photography section. Some very attractive shell jewelry was shown. In addition to the exhibits there were on display several very beautiful articles for which there were no class. Outstanding among these was the woodwork of Mr. Reginald Travers which included a smoking stand and a cabinet for record player and radio. A model ship, the work of Mr. Archie Fraser of Alberton South, also received much favorable comment.

During the afternoon swings and games provided amusement for numbers of people. Refreshments were available at several booths as well as at the large canteen and meals were served under auspices of the Western Hospital Aid. Several decorated cakes were auctioned in aid of the hospital.

Traffic was under the direction of the O'Leary Boy Scout Troop. The day concluded with a largely attended dance, music being furnished by Ted Ahearn's orchestra.

Governor's Address

"It is indeed a pleasure for me to have been able to accept the kind invitation of the directors to participate in the official opening ceremonies of the West Prince Exhibition here in Alberton, stated His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Prowse. "This is my first visit to your beautiful section of our province since my appointment as Lieut. Governor and I must congratulate you on the panorama of beauty that reveals itself as one drives along the highway. Your neat tidy farms and bountiful crops present a picture of well-being that is difficult to surpass anywhere.

"I would also like to congratulate the directors of the exhibition and the citizens of the community on the magnificent job of restoration that has been done on your exhibition building. To see this fine building rising so soon from the wreckage of the old reflects great credit on the people here. By working together as a team a remarkable amount of work has been done in a very short space of time and you are to be doubly congratulated on the concrete results of your labours for the common good—this beautiful home for your autumn exhibition, second to none in Prince Edward Island.

"Our Province is predominantly agricultural and it is fitting that we should hold our county exhibitions where we may display the results of our toil in our crops, livestock, handicrafts and culinary art in friendly competition with our neighbors and friends. On such constructive things as these is our democracy built and does it flourish. Many forces are at work in the world today to destroy our way of life and to crush us beneath the dictators heel, but if we remain ever true and steadfast in our determination that right will prevail. This little province of ours will always remain the bountiful and kindly garden of the gulf, where our people may live together in peace and harmony, enjoying the gifts so graciously bestowed on us by divine providence.

"And now it gives me pleasure to declare the West Prince Exhibition officially open. I wish you every success and once again congratulate the people of this progressive community on their energy and drive as evidenced in this new and up-to-date exhibition building."

Other Speakers

Senator G. H. Barbour congratulated the community on having public spirited men to carry on this exhibition from year to year. He recalled the first exhibition he attended in Alberton in the 1890's. In those days, he said, most farmers had sheep. The wool was sent to the carding mill, then the women spun and wove it into cloth which was sent to the cloth mill to be dressed. Then tailors made the cloth into clothes. Today, if a man wants a suit, he goes to the tailor who probably takes measurements and orders the suit from Toronto. Great changes have come about. This is also true with regard to farm machinery, etc. He was glad the people of this province had the initiative and the will
