

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

AUGUST 29, 1892.

An Ill Weed.

DR. BEER has called THE EXAMINER'S attention to the fact that on each side of the road near Hermitage Bridge there is a field of the weed commonly known as "Stinking Willie," and on the roadside there are several good-sized patches of it. The weed blossoms and matures in down, and flies all over the place. It is described as a "perennial groundsel," and is said to be bad for cattle, but not for sheep. Father Burke, writing to the Agriculturist, says: "I notice nothing will eat it here. I have time and again put it in pigs, which, closed up in pens, usually rush for anything green; but they would not touch the Baulghian."

The following interesting account of this plant appears in the Prince Edward Island Agriculturist: "For years back a dirty, yellow weed of rapid and extensive fibrous root has been spreading with wonderful rapidity in the western part of the county. As far as can be ascertained, it was accidentally brought to this country from Ireland by an old settler in a bed tick, who took up land near Tignish. From May till the frost kills out all vegetation, its rank leaves and ugly yellow head meet the eye everywhere from the place where it started as far east as Conway station. Every year it makes a stage of many miles, and at this rate before long will wave its unsightly head from one end of our little province to the other. Up to this time it has been known in the west by the name Banglans, which its importer gave it, and which is no doubt was known by in that part of the Emerald Isle whence it came. But now it turns out to be no less a pest than the European Ragwort, one of the most troublesome weeds the farmers of the other continent have to deal with."

Our farmers cannot be too strongly impressed with the importance of destroying this weed, together with the ox-eyed daisy, the Canadian thistle and other thistles. It is not creditable to the Province, or to those who live in it, that so many noxious weeds are permitted to grow and spread.

Fattening Lambs

THE Government of Ontario recently issued a bulletin setting forth the results of the experiments of Professor Shaw in respect to fattening lambs. It will be remembered that Professor Shaw purchased three hundred and sixty-two lambs in this Province, had them transported to Guelph, fattened, sent east again and sold. Two hundred lambs from Eastern Ontario were also included in the experiment. The conclusions arrived at are as follows:—

1. That grade lambs can be purchased in Eastern Ontario and Prince Edward Island respectively, shipped westward more than 300 miles in the one case and 1,100 miles in the other, fattened and then disposed of in England at a substantial cash profit.

2. That the average grade lambs of Ontario are well adapted for the above purpose.

3. That lambs shipped to England should sell for an advance of about 2 cents per pound live weight on the prices obtainable in Ontario to secure an equal profit.

4. That lambs may be fattened in winter in considerable numbers with but a small percentage of loss from disease or accident.

5. That grade lambs similar to those fed in this experiment can be fattened in good form in winter, when fed daily the following ration: Grain (oats and peas) and bran in the proportions of 2, 2 and 1-1.06 lb.; and hay 1.27 lb., or a total of 4.87 per day.

6. That the ration given in the above conclusion gives an average daily increase of 1 lb. in live weight.

7. That a ration of rape pasture only gave a larger increase per day in live weight than the winter ration used in this experiment.

8. That the average grade lamb of the Dominion is an animal much inferior to what it ought to be and what it may be made.

9. That rape furnishes an excellent pasture for fattening lambs and an easy means of manuring land.

10. That fattening lambs on rape is an excellent preparation for winter fattening.

11. That it is easily possible to fatten a large number of lambs upon the food grown upon a limited area when the work is judiciously done.

12. That where the facilities are at hand one attendant can care for a large number of lambs fattened on the lines followed in this experiment.

13. That in fattening lambs it is important to be able to carry them on past that autumn season when the market is most liable to be glutted.

A financial summary, covering the whole transaction, is given as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Includes 'Cost of the lambs when bought', 'Cost of shearing 130 lambs', 'Cost of food, including rape and pasture', 'Cost of attention', 'Total cost', 'Value of lambs when sold', 'Value of wool', 'Value of manure', 'Total value', 'Gain', 'Gain per lamb'.

The net cash actually received for the ninety-nine lambs shipped to England would reduce the above gain by $132.10.

It appears that the one hundred and twenty lambs included in the item "cost of shearing," were shorn for experimental purposes. All the food given to the lambs from first to last is charged against them. The estimate put upon the rape was the cost of cultivation.

The results of this experiment, so creditable to Professor Shaw, ought surely to be an eye-opener for our farmers. There is no profit in growing oats. Why not try to grow sheep and lambs for markets in the neighboring cities and in England? It was the opinion of the English and Scotch farmer delegates, here last year, that our lambs could be prepared for the British market at a profit.

Notes and Comments.

—According to the Ontario crop bulletin, just issued, the general condition of the crops of the province is below expectations. Hay and oats are good, fall wheat is not so good as last year, spring wheat worse than fall, and barley is not satisfactory. There is complaint of shrunken grains, too rapid filling and ripening, etc., due to the unfavorable weather.

—A contemporary remarks that next to keeping one's self and surroundings clean and eschewing unhealthy food, and water that may be contaminated, the best preventive of an attack from cholera is to refuse to get into a fright over the disease. The publication of unfounded and sensational articles and telegrams about the spread of cholera is to be deprecated.

—An Ottawa Liberal has been "stigmatising" as a fabrication the report that Mr. Blake may re-enter Canadian politics and take the lead of his old party. Upon which the Montreal Gazette remarks that "Mr. Blake's West Durham letter was too weak to warrant the expectation that he would again willingly associate himself with its political follies."

—Montreal Gazette: "The advisability of the Government selling the Intercolonial is being warmly discussed in the Maritime Provinces. The talk seems a little premature, however. It would be better to wait a while. Mr. Haggart, judging from the way he has started, may be able to show that the road may be worth some one's while to buy; and then a purchaser may turn up. Under present conditions only a national treasury can keep up the Intercolonial."

—The leisure of Mr. John McKinnon's declining years has been well employed in the extension of his notes of Rammer in Europe. We have to thank Mr. McKinnon—who, as editor of the Pioneer, formerly belonged to the journalistic fraternity—for a copy of the work, recently issued from the press of Messrs. Schurman and Taylor, Summerside. Mr. McKinnon's style is direct and explicit. He has found something interesting to say concerning every point at which he touched. His rambles extended throughout Britain, France, Prussia, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium and Holland; and his notes make up a neat volume of 254 pages. We commend the work to the attention of the public.

—Some of the United States papers are republishing the following remarks of Prince Bismarck:—

"The success of the United States in material development is the most illustrious of modern times. The American nation has not only successfully borne and suppressed the most gigantic and expensive war of all history, but immediately afterward it disbanded its army, found employment for all its soldiers and marines, paid off most of its debt, gave labor and homes to all the unemployed of Europe as fast as they could arrive within its territories, and still by a system of taxation so indirect as not to be perceived, much less felt. Because it is my deliberate judgment that the prosperity of America is due to its system of protective laws, I urge that Germany has now reached that point where it is necessary to imitate the tariff system of the United States."

County Court.

The County Court of Queen's County was in session all last week and adjourned on Saturday until Monday next, when judgment will be given in several suits reserved.

The docket consisted of upwards of 200 suits, the most important of which were tried. These were as follows: James Morgan vs. John Cardiff.—Cape for goods sold. Judgment for $141.04. The capias in this suit was issued on the ground that the defendant had assigned all his goods and chattels, and Mr. Cardiff moved to set it aside and discharge his bail on the ground that the assignment being made to a trustee for the benefit of creditors was not such as warranted the issuing of the capias. Judgment on this point reserved.

W. H. Kodd and wife vs. Wellington Matthews. Damages for slander, $150. Judgment for defendant. McLean for defendant; Attorney-General for plaintiff.

L. P. Tanton vs. J. D. McLedd.—Trove for a cabinet organ, $129. The property in this organ was claimed by plaintiff under purchase from Victoria and Prince Edward Divisions, and defendant claimed to retain it as having purchased half of it from the British Templars. Judgment for defendant.

John Oldfield vs. Thos. Brady.—Action on promissory note. Defence, no consideration and set off. Judgment for plaintiff. John S. Macdonald for plaintiff; Mr. Edward Hurry vs. Thos. Peppers, and Thos. Peppers vs. Edward Hurry. The first of these suits was for horse board and carriage hire. Judgment given for plaintiff for $19.70 without costs, no demand having been made before the suit. The last suit was brought for injuries sustained by plaintiff's horse while in defendant's livery stable. Plaintiff was non-suited. A Peters appeared for Peppers and J. H. Good for Hurry.

Samuel Carver vs. William Brown.—Action for $28.85, money due under an agreement between plaintiff and defendant, in which the question involved was the proper construction of a thresher made by defendant for plaintiff. Judgment for plaintiff for amount claimed. Mr. Carver appeared in person; Mr. Mellish for defendant.

James Macdonald vs. Charles E. Robertson.—Action of trespass and trover for damages to a watch and for retaining a watch chain and other valuable property belonging to plaintiff. Judgment reserved on the understanding that the defendant was to return to the plaintiff certain of the property.

W. H. Long vs. Joseph Blanchard. Action of slander. Damages claimed, $150. Judgment for defendant. Blanchard for defendant.

John Williams vs. John N. Campbell. Damage for assault, $50. The plaintiff is in the yard at John Harper's fire, and defendant, as policeman, ordered him to leave, and pushed him, whereby he fell on a gravel heap, and claims to have sustained injuries which incapacitated him from work for about three weeks. Two questions were involved in this suit: (1) whether, under the circumstances, the defendant had a legal right to put his hand on plaintiff; (2) and if he had such a right, whether the assault was excessive or not. Judgment reserved till Monday next.

There were also a number of other contested suits, but our space is too limited to publish a summary of them.

The Late James Hughes.

(Ottawa Citizen, Aug. 25.)

A very large number of friends assembled yesterday morning to pay the last tribute of earthly respect to the cherished memory of the late Mr. James Hughes, whose sad end is deeply lamented. The body was contained in a handsome casket, which, again—owing to the long distance it had to be conveyed—was placed in a zinc-lined and hermetically sealed case. The cortege departed from the Catholic Hospital, Water Street—where the good Nuns had been so kind and attentive to the deceased during his illness—to St. Bridget's Church, where a solemn requiem Mass and Libera were chanted by Rev. Father Gaseoon and an efficient volunteer choir. Hence the body was conveyed to the C. P. R. depot, and placed on board the train, en route for Charlottetown, P. E. I., where the interment is to take place. Private citizens as well as many of the deceased's co-employees were present, and amongst them Messrs. W. A. Harkin, M. F. Walsh, Nolan, Lamb, Christian Higgins, DesBris, T. P. Gorman, H. J. Roche, Casey, Heney, Chateaufort, Grave and St. Denis and others of the census staff, P. A. Eggleston, who accompanied the remains as far as Montreal, and Jno. Stringer, who kindly consented to take charge as far as Charlottetown, P. E. I. A hearty salute was sent by the deceased's fellow employees of the census branch. Many and sincere were the messages of sympathy sent through Mr. Stringer to the bereaved mother, brothers and sister in their Island home, in the loss of their darling James.

FREAK OF NATURE.—A veritable freak of nature has been discovered at the Wellington barracks, Halifax, and can be vouched for by the regimental authorities. It is a soldier that never sleeps more than one hour in the whole twenty-four. The noise of his own footfall at night—he performs all his duties at night—annoys him so much he is compelled to wear rubber overshoes. He will also stand for hours in the night watching the fence around the barracks and imagines he sees countless myriads of soldiers climbing the fence. He is also troubled with a passionate ardor in the pursuit of his duties. It is fully expected if he does not get sufficient rest and sleep that there will soon be a corporal's funeral in the garrison.
