

QUEEN MEETS WAR AMPUTEES

War amputees stand at attention in the lobby of the Provincial Building as Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip, conducted by Premier W. B. Shaw, enter yesterday for a tour of the building. The Queen smiled and paused briefly for a word with the veterans, before proceeding to Confederation Chamber, where the Royal Couple signed the Golden Book. Following the visit to the Chamber, Her Majesty and Prince Philip, with Premier and Mrs. Shaw, made a two-minute appearance on the balcony before the massed throngs below.

Britain Persuaded U.S. To Drop Poison Gas Plans

By FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was ready to use poison gas against the Japanese late in the Second World War, a report attributed to the late Gen. George C. Marshall declared here.

The report said the plan was dropped chiefly because of opposition from the British who feared it might touch off a German gas attack on England.

Marshall, wartime U.S. Army chief of staff, is so quoted by David E. Lillenthal, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. Lillenthal says Marshall made the disclosure to him and several other atomic officials in June, 1947, when the general was secretary of state.

Lillenthal said Marshall made "no mention of the fact that international law forbade its (poison gas) use."

The account appeared Monday in a new book, The Journals of David E. Lillenthal: The Atomic Energy Years 1945-1950 (Harper and Row).

PLANS SERIES

In the book—one of a contemplated series designed to cover 46 years of the public and private life of the oftentimes controversial government official — Lillenthal also reports that:

1. Even before the push to develop the hydrogen bomb was begun, the United States had firm prospects of developing enough A-bombs within two months that "we could blow a hole clean through the earth."

Lillenthal said Marshall made this disclosure to President Harry

D. Roosevelt had been "friendly" to an idea broached by a Danish physicist, the late Niels Bohr, that the United States and Britain "trike" their atomic knowledge with Russia if the Soviets would agree to "open Russia and make it part . . . of an open world."

Lillenthal says the information on Roosevelt's position was given to him by Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer—one of the key developers of the A-bomb. He declares the latter also said Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill was indignant at the whole idea and wanted a careful check kept on Bohr.

(A book published in England last month reported Churchill considered having Bohr confined.)

The account of the poison-gas plan was given by Marshall, Lillenthal says, after the general had first defended use of the A-bomb against Japan as being "humane" because it shortened the war.

"And then," relates Lillenthal, "he went into a discussion of the use of poison gas. He . . . (said) he . . . had definitely favored the use of gas . . ."

Quoting Marshall as saying "we were all ready to use it on some of the islands of the Pacific," Lillenthal continues his summary of the general's remarks thus:

"After the terrible losses at Iwo Jima he was prepared to use gas at Okinawa; just sending in enough to force the Japanese to move into a remote part of the island and to keep the troops in gas masks.

"If they were in masks for a week, they would be so weak

TWO EX-WIVES ON ONE LINER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The liner Queen Elizabeth's owners can relax. Singer Eddie Fisher's two ex-wives see no problem in being fellow passengers on the liner.

Actress Elizabeth Taylor and her present husband actor Richard Burton — and actress Debbie Reynolds and her husband, show magazine Harry Karl — are booked coincidentally for the same sailing Wednesday.

Any social problem for the "shipping line"?

Said Liz: "My husband is a great admirer of Miss Reynolds' talent, and so am I. We look forward to seeing them on the voyage."

Debbie also quipped, replied: "I will be most delighted to see them. I have nothing against Elizabeth. We have talked on the phone, and there is no animosity between us. What's past is past. I am grateful to Elizabeth for helping to provide my present happiness."

Constitution Talks Make Progress

OTTAWA (CP) — The attorney-general reported progress Tuesday but decided to wait a week before completing their report on details of a constitutional amending formula.

A communication said they agreed the "futon formula" of 1961 should be coupled with a clarification of the 1949 change whereby Parliament was empowered to amend parts of the constitution dealing strictly with federal matters.

This clarification had been sought by Quebec, especially. It was made clear Tuesday Quebec was not alone in taking this position, though there was no definite indication of what other provinces shared this view.

Justice Minister Guy Fauteux emphasized to reporters the one-week adjournment of the conference does not mean failure to settle outstanding issues.

"We are proceeding at a very good and reasonable pace," he said. He added that adjournment at noon on the second day of the conference had been arranged, regardless of developments, due to previous commitments by several delegates.

"We are close to total agreement," said Nova Scotia's attorney-general, Richard A. Donahue.

OBITUARY

JAMES ARCHIBALD MACKENZIE

James Archibald MacKenzie, prominent citizen of Kensington passed away on September 16th in his 92nd year. He was known by many people throughout the Island through his thoughtful letters to the Guardian. He was a man of wide interests, deep concerns and broad sympathies. He was one of the earliest leaders of the Trail Ranger and Tuxis movements when they were introduced to P.E.I. He was a leader at Boys Camp and for years taught a Sunday School class of boys. He was a life-long believer in prayer and his radiant Christian faith expressed itself in missionary passion, evangelistic zeal and social concern. The cause of temperance, the plight of refugees, the Bible Society, the evangelization of the Jews, the Laymen's Movement, were burdens upon his heart.

For many years he was an elder in the Church where he served with great devotion. The mission of the Church at home and abroad and the welfare of the community filled his thoughts and it was his joy to serve his Master and Lord.

He leaves to cherish his memory, three daughters — Florence (Mrs. Trevor) Waye, Charlottetown; Marjorie (Mrs. Ralph MacKinnon, Summerside) and Dorothy at home. His wife passed away in 1952. The funeral service was held from the United Church, Friday, September 18th and was conducted by his pastor, the Rev. Lewis M. Murray. The sermon was based on the text "And Enoch walked with God; and he was not; for God took him." (Genesis 5:24). Hymns — "The Lord's My Shepherd and O for a Faith that Will Not Shrink, Pallbearers — Harry Brown, Boyd Best's, Gerald MacKenzie, Athol Cotton, Nelson Casley, Irving Eskin. The members of Session were honorary pallbearers. Burial was in the People's Cemetery, Sunset and evening star. And one clear call for me! And now there be no moaning of the bar, When I put out to sea.

PHILLIPS — In loving memory of Daniel Phillips, Brookline, Mass., who passed away at the P.E.I. Hospital on October 6, 1964. Ever lovingly and remembered by John, Reg and Glance.

IN MEMORIAM

LESLIE — In loving memory of Mrs. Harold J. Leslie who departed this life October 11, 1964.

We had a wonderful mom To us she was one of the best Early one morning God called her home

To that beautiful haven of rest. It broke our hearts to lose her But she did not go alone For part of us went with her The day God called her home. Lovingly remembered by husband and family.

WESTWAY — In loving memory of Richard Westway who passed away Oct. 7, 1963 in a quiet country graveyard Where the breezes gently blow Lies the one we love so dearly That we lost one year ago. You left behind some aching heart

That loved you most sincere We never have or never will forget you father dear. Ever lovingly remembered by wife and family.

GILL — In loving memory of a husband and father William B. Gill, Kensington, who passed away October 8, 1962. We often think of bygone days But we were all together The family chain is broken now But memories live forever. But God alone knows how we miss you. Ever lovingly remembered by wife Mae and a family.

As he counts the tears we shed And whippers he is not sleeping

Your loved one is not dead But someday we'll see your smiling face up in heaven Never to part again. Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by wife Mae and a family.

JARVIS — In loving memory of Angus Jarvis who passed away October 8, 1959. Remembrance is a golden chain Always remembered by Dot and Junior.
