WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

Mrs. H. Heaney Is Elected President of Clinton WI

KENSINGTON — Mrs. Harold Heaney was elected president of the Clinton Women's Institute at the annual meeting held at the home of Mrs. Keith Woodside recently. Other officers are: vice-president, Mrs. Ian Henderson; directors, Mrs. Robert Heaney, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, Mrs. James E. MacKay; organist, Mrs. Robert Heaney; auditors, Mrs. Ian Henderson and Mrs. Keith Woodside. Mrs. Horace Paynter was appointed to take the chair for the election of officers.

The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. James E. MacKay presiding, with the Institute Ode and the Mary Stewart Cantata in unison. The minutes of the last annual meeting and the last regular meeting were read by the acting secretary, Mrs. Keith Woodside. Roll call was answered by the payment of dues and a toy for the retarded children.

The president in her address reported that this had been a very successful year. She noted that "we had sponsored a Home Nursing class, had a Red Cross nurse at one of our meetings, held a hot pot supper, and ice cream social, and several card parties; gave a donation to the Kensington Travel Bureau and collected for charitable organizations." A highlight of the year was a tour through the Seaman Bros. plant at New Amman. She thanked the members of the year for their co-operation.

As for your brave spoken word of making something worthwhile of your backstreet affairs with "this fine man" I don't think you've got a chance at happiness in the set-up you operate.

For a woman in love, happiness consists in giving a husband and not that to be possible, she must be protected and cherished in a situation that affords security, self-respect, social acceptance and permanent contentment.

ating the year, and wished the men on Monday evening, and offering, and $39.00 on a recent canvass.

The following supplies have been ordered: one hundred church calendars, eighteen additional copies of "The Work of the United Nations and the Way", four subscriptions to "The Christian Home" magazine, and twelve copies of "World Friends". All the units will assemble in the different rooms of the church for the November 22 session under the leadership of Mrs. Clau de Hogg and an ecipate in a White Elephant sale amount of $80 was voted for support of the November 22 session. The closing worship was conducted by Mrs. L.M. Murray and Mrs. Bruce MacLeod.

Women in Sweden bought cosmetics worth $50,000 in 1961-62, a 20 per cent more than in 1960.

MR. AND MRS. RAY C. TRAVERS

St. Peter's Cathedral Is Scene Of Pretty Autumn Wedding

A pretty wedding took place at St. Peter's Cathedral on October 8, 1962 when Helen Anna Traver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Tavel, Charlottesville, became the bride of Mr. Ray Charles Travers, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Travers, Penfield Ridge, N.B.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon J.R. Davies.

The church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and d mixed flowers and the altar with many pink carnations with white satin bows and streamers marked the guests.

The wedding music was played by Miss Suzanne Brenton, and appropriate hymns were sung by the church choir.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white tulle with a round neckline and a back her shoulder length veil of tulle lashed fell from a crown of sequins, crystals and pearls. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses with streamers of sweetheart roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Merton Price, wore a cocktail length gown of white tulle with matching maribou hair. She carried a nosegay of yellow gladioli and roses.

Terry Travers of New River Beach, N.B., cousin of the groom, was the bestman and the ushers were Peter and Paul Tavel, brothers of the bride.

The bride's mother was wearing a dusty rose dress of woven tulle with black accents and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother chose a double knit jersey suit of grey with trim and sand white carnations.

The reception was held at the Queen Hotel following the ceremony. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. and Mrs. Elias and was responded to by the groom. Mrs. Abdullah Travers circulated the guest book.

For travelling the bride wore a double knit suit in dark brown with beige accessories and a corsage of tallian roses.

Out of town guests at the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Travers, Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong of Donfield Ridge; Miss Hazel MacNeill, R.N. Miss Myrna MacKinnon, R.N. Miss Elaine Currie, R.N. Miss Margaret Webb, R.N. and 21.L. Wallace Gordon, all of Fredericton.

Mr. and Mrs. Travers are residing in Fredericton, N.B. where the bride is on the nursing staff of the Victoria General Hospital and the groom is employed with the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission.

ELLEN'S DIARY

A Young Lad's Help Makes Baking An Enjoyable Task

"No, it's not encouraging," a favorite radio announcer reported this morning of the weather ahead. "But take heart," he said with a low chuckle.

"Always remember that 'Somewhere the sun is shining!' It will come back to smile on us here. Meanwhile, we'll have to accept what we get. And that is high winds and dampness for today. It's hard on the farmer, but just think of the men at sea. Better not go out today, boys. Or if you are out, a better head for the shore!"

"And it's been all day, windy and damp."

"I wonder," Alex, the five-year-old chap from the house across the road, said this morning. "What a summer-day was like! I sort of forget."

"We were in the pantry at the time thinking about turning on the power-mixer, we stirred, and blended by hand, so as to allow him to help in those intervals when we must leave it to assemble others of the ingredients needed. I remember to make the chips, which were to be made in their chocolate chip cookies. And I remember that the last small ball of dough had been fashioned, and put in the pan, and each turned with a floured fork, we let him exercise a little lad's prerogative, which is of putting his hand in the remaining sweets from the bowl."

"A summer day?" we echoed. "Oh they are lovely things. They have to be above that day, until it was too late to climb the hill."

— Monday — Diary — Good-night.
