Shortage Of Draft Animals Endangers Harvest Of China

By JOHN RODERICK

HONG KONG (AP)—A serious shortage of draft animals may endanger this year's harvest in Red China.

Official Communist sources say thousands of water buffalo, oxen and other beats of burden have died through neglect, bad organization or the incompetence of feeding management in the newly created farm co-operatives.

The Peiping People's Daily reports that more than 60,000 draft animals died last winter and this spring in Kiangsu Province. Forty per cent of those which survived were described as lean and feeble. In Shantung Province, 30 per cent were not only feeble but old, disabled or of poor quality. In Shensi, a livestock breeding area, a 400,000-head shortage of service animals exists.

COOPERATIVE BASIS

This cuts to the roots of the Chinese economy. Though China's farms have been placed on a co-operative basis, the advances of industry have not kept pace with the conversion in the countryside.

There are no tractors or other mechanized equipment to exploit the newly socialized farms and there are likely to be none for a long time to come.

The water buffalo, horse, ox, donkey—and in some regions the camel—continue as they have for thousands of years to occupy an essential place in tilling the Chinese earth.

In pre - Communist days, the work animal got special care and attention, frequently shared the same quarters as its owner.

Under the co-operative system it has lost its privileges. The Communist leadership complains that now, under common ownership, no one takes the responsibility of looking after the animals. The socialized peasant, seeking to earn profitable shares from the co-operative, tries to get every last ounce of workpower out of them.

BEASTS OVERWORKED

"There are many causes for the feebleness and deaths of the draft animals," says the People's Daily, "the principal one being that during the last year they were underfed, overworked, and were not given a good rest in winter.

"In some areas formerly each draft animal was required to work only 120 to 180 days a year, but last year most of the draft animals worked 300 days or so." In the south, animals tilled the land in daytime and drew water at night.

In Hunan Province many draft animals are being slaughtered for food.

The government has given farmers permission to raise draft animals themselves. It is hoped in this way to supplement the communal draft animals of the co-operatives. But whether these measures will be sufficient to meet the crisis of the autumn harvest is a big question.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.
