Jet Planes May Fly Over Today

Airforce authorities yesterday expressed regret that the scheduled fly pasts of Sabre jets over Charlottetown and Summerside, had to be cancelled because of weather conditions, and said that if weather conditions permit these aircraft, the fastest in the world, will fly over Charlottetown and Summerside today. The authorities said that the time of the flight might be between 9 and 10 a. m., but this would depend on weather and visibility. The jets are scheduled to leave Summerside on Friday for their next ground display at Halifax, and the airforce said that regardless of when they leave they will make at least two or three passes over Summerside and Charlottetown to enable as many persons as possible to see these extremely fast jet planes in flight. Inquiries yesterday revealed that
