A SUGGESTION.

SIR,—I observe that the "Stormy Petrel" has arrived safely in port after her arduous endeavours to solve winter communication at the Capes.
I would now suggest that she be placed on the East River route in the interest of the Premier's constituents, and that the Alameda perform the West River service in accordance with the demands of the late acting Premier that his political interests should not suffer and also that there may be no contention, but rather emulation, between the Premiers as to who best can work and best agree on the ablest scheme to hoodwink the electors at the coming contest.
