

Take Care of the Colt's Feet.

It is said that experience is a good teacher. In many cases it is so; in my own it certainly has been. In my opinion a large number of promising and well-bred colts are made to interfere forward from improper management before they are two years old.

A few days ago I saw a very finely bred colt with one forward foot twisted with the toe pointing outward and the heel contracted or smaller than the other. This colt is only two years old.

For the past two years I have been in the habit of inspecting my young stock every month, and when I see a colt with the feet out of normal shape, with one quarter longer than the other, or the toes growing longer than the other, or the toes growing too long, I at once have the feet put in proper shape by the use of rasps, both coarse and fine.

The outside quarter of most colts' feet is thicker than the inside, and seems to grow faster, therefore the toe and outside quarter generally needs more rasping to keep the feet level than the inside.

There is no doubt but that ringbones are produced and the tendons are injured by the strain that is caused by allowing the toes and quarters to grow to an unsightly length, as is sometimes seen during the winter in many stables. Another source of trouble is caused by allowing colts to stand in manure and filth until thrush gets into the cleft of the frog, which is liable to result in contraction of the heels. To keep the feet healthy, the colts should have a yard to run in when the weather is pleasant. The box stalls should be kept dry, clean, well lighted and ventilated, and should be well bedded, so that the feet will not stand on the hard floor. If it pays to breed colts, it pays to keep them sound and healthy, and it cannot be done without the best of care, with plenty of good food the first two years especially.—F. L. Gerald, M. D. in Am. Cultivator.

Von Moltke and the Landlord.

HOW THE GREAT STRATEGIST SAVED NINETY-SEVEN FRANCS.

One day a German soldier arrived at an inn in a Swiss town, fatigued, dusty, and travel-worn. The landlord was on the point of telling him he was "full," but finally ordered the waiter to show the "old man" to a dismal little room in the upper part of the house. The waiter shortly after brought him a little book in which he asked him to sign his name, which he did, the waiter carrying the book back to the landlord, looking at the name and wringing his hands, "What have I done? In one of the servant's bedrooms! My hotel will be ruined." And he flew about as if half crazy. All the waiters were summoned, the handsomest suit of rooms in the house ordered in immediate readiness, and the conscience-stricken landlord departed for the upper regions to make his apologies to the seedy-looking "old man" and to transfer him to more elegant quarters. "I beg ten thousand pardons. I would not have done it for the world, but I did not know that it was you—ten thousand pardons," said the quaking landlord, half out of breath. "But what have you done that you should need to be pardoned?" asked the "old man." "This room—it is not the room for you. It was a mistake. I did not know who it was. I have rooms for you below—an elegant suite of rooms—may I beg you have your baggage removed to them at once?" "May I ask you what is the matter with this room?" inquired the "old man" only 100 francs a day. "And the price of this room is how much?" "A bagatelle—but 3 francs." "Well, as my stay is short, you must excuse me if I do not change my quarters. I think I shall sleep as sound on that bed as on any bed in your house." And Von Moltke, the great military strategist, was allowed to remain undisturbed, much to the annoyance and chagrin of the landlord.

The Great French Remedy, Dr. LeDuc's Periodical Pills.

For the cure of Leucorrhoea or White's Emission or painful Menstruation, Green Stools, Falling of the Womb, Catarrh of the Uterus or Vagina, Hysteria, pain in the Back, or Piles, or for the purpose of invigorating and "living" tone to the Generative Organs, two pills should be taken twice daily, or in very debilitated conditions, one pill three times a day. To effect cures in chronic cases it will be necessary to continue the use of the remedy for some months. A reasonable trial will create sufficient confidence in the remedy to insure its being taken until a permanent cure is effected.

Mrs. A. E. McLeod, Dressmaker and Milliner, has removed from Mrs. Ferris' premises, to the house next to the St. Vincent Nursery, and immediately opposite the entrance to the old Burying Ground, Malpeque Road, where she will be most happy to attend punctually to all orders entrusted to her, and at reasonable rates. Parties having anything to do in her line would do well to call.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfillment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS Will change the beard to a natural brown, or black, as desired. It produces a permanent color that will not wash away. Consisting of a single preparation, it is applied without trouble.

Dr. Bennet, Halifax.

DEAR DOCTOR.—Just a few lines as promised by me. I am more than pleased with the "Liver Pad" I got from you when in Charlottetown, and can conscientiously say that it is the best thing I ever saw or heard of. It has done for me what all kinds of medicine and different physicians could not do for me. I removed a very nasty hard deposit on which had given me a great deal of annoyance for more than two years, and more than that, I have not been troubled with a single headache since I have used it. Before wearing the Pad I was troubled with severe headaches continually, and that very objectionable feeling of sluggishness and dullness has entirely left me—in fact I am a new man, to what I was before wearing it. I am truly thankful to you for what you have done for me, and I hope that you may be long spared to the benefit of the public. Believe me, Yours sincerely, FRANK ELLIOTT.
