MR. AND MRS. CECIL HOWLETT
Parkdale Church Wedding Ceremony Is Held In July

The marriage took place on Saturday, July 16, at St. Paul's Church, Parkdale, of Gloria Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Brun, Charlottetown, and Cecil Abdin Howlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abdin Howlett, Souris. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. L. Muldaugh. The church was decorated with yellow mums and white and yellow shasta daisies. The organist, Mr. Albert Blanchard accompanied James Flanagan as he sang "O Sacred Heart, O Love Divine", "Sacred Heart of Jesus, Fount of Love and Mercy", "O Lord I am not Worthy", "O What Could My Jesus Do More". Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of aleon lace over satin, styled in simple lines, accented with lace flowing from the shoulders forming a slight train, the scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins and long lily point sleeves. She carried a cascade of red roses. Her only jewellery was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. The matron-of-honor, Mrs. George Flanagan, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaid, Anne Brun, another sister of the bride wore identical floor length, empire-style zowns of ice blue pearl set with matching bead-pearls. They carried nosegays of white carnations tinted blue. The best man was Urban Howlett, brother of the groom. The ushers were George Flanagan, brother-in-law of the bride and Elizabeth M. McCabe is vacationing in the Scandanavian countries, having spent over a week on the fjords of Norway. Recently Miss McCabe, a past president of the Cornell Alumnae of Massachusetts for two terms, was the official hostess to the Canadian representatives of NATO when the members of all participating NATO countries met recently in Boston. Miss McCabe was given her choice of countries and selected Canada. She is a niece of Mrs. W. Chester S. McLure of Toronto and Charlottetown.

Mrs. Blois Rennie and Mrs. Gordon Cotton were hostesses at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brennan, Elmsdale, where a post-nuptial shower was held to honor Rev. and Mrs. M.R. Pocklington. Good wishes, accompanying the gifts were read by Mrs. Jeanette Ogden. Those present enjoyed group singing with Shirley MacWilliam as accompanist, and also the piano selections by Mr. Pocklington.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stewart (formerly Gail Griffin of Toronto) are honeymooning here before taking up residence in St. Catharines, Ont. They are the guests of Mr. Stewart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Stewart, Murray Harbor.

A miscellaneous shower was held last week at Millview hall, in honour of Rita Hayden whose marriage to Daniel Ross takes place in the near future. The feast of honour was placed under an arch of pines, zinnia and sunflowers. The hostesses for the occasion were Janet Dale, Anita Murphy and Donna MacEachern. Norman Dale was the master of ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Craig, Central Bedou, drove to Moncton on Monday, accompanied by Mildred Wright who was returning by plane to San Mateo, California after visiting relatives in Bedou and Charlottetown.

Doris Carruthers, Augustine Cove, was entertained at a tea for Miss Carruthers, sister of the bride, and Elizabeth MacNeill, formerly of Long Creek.

Mrs. Melvin J. Nelson, Calgary, Alta., entertained at a tea for Miss Carruthers. Included among the guests was Estelle Carruthers, sister of the bride, and Elizabeth MacNeill, formerly of Long Creek.

During a stop-over in Winnipeg the groom's grandmothers, Mrs. N. Paul and Mrs. A. May held a linen shower.

In Port Credit, Ont., Mrs. M. May, mother of the groom, entertained at a buffet dinner and miscellaneous shower.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Entertainment Accented In The Fairs Of Today

It's peaceful this evening, Ellen James offered this evening coming in to settle a while in the old armchair. "Yes," he smiled, "the TV's ailing, and the radio's quit! This is what it was like around here back in the years. And there can be a lot said in favor of the peace and quiet of then." "Shucks - no TV," Peter came by, remembered. "Turn on the radio!" "But it's gone too!" Alex said soberly. "This I think" he mused dreamily, "is like living away off in some far away place. In the middle of a great forest, or away up north in an igloo." Peter nodded. "No TV no nothing!"

"We can have a chat" James twinkled. "A nice quiet talk. Now as concerns farm-folks, the great holiday for them, that is the Island Annual Old Home Week is pretty well over. Mack will have returned from days spent there as herdsman, the animals shown in competition, minus one, come back to the fields. The noise and color, the busy-ness of the show days will be now but a memory, fresh and bright, to be filled a way with that store of memories one pleases to keep. We shall hear the chuckles over some amusing incident - Mack relates, and we will know by a n large, will have enjoyed the time spent there. They have been, we think, profitable days for him. He will have added to his experiences along his line: learned something more about evaluating best animals. And also in this foregrounding which collects crowds of people to it, more about the ways of humans. Alex and Peter too will have gathered up their own young memories to keep, about which we older folks can only conjecture.

"The accent now is more on entertainment" an old timer there last year commented. "And it's not surprising. But that what folks ask for these days?" he queried. "Well," he grinned surveying the pulsing scene, "that's what they're getting!" Peaceful the night is - this one at week's close. And lovely the farmlands these days, with a mellow August haze over all. And now, "To mark the close of day, a lone star shines. A little wind of dusk moves in the pines. A few stray pigeons wing their homeward flight. A hilltop's gently rounded by the night. And all the little sounds that twilight brings. Can scarce disturb the tranquillity of things. Rest will be ours - night deepens o'er the land. Content, we leave our cares, our blessings in His Hand." Until Monday - - - Diary - - - Good-night. - - -

Double-Ring Ceremony Held At St. Theresa Church

The marriage took place on Tuesday, 19 July 1966, at the Church of St. Theresa of the Little Flower, Morell, P. E. I. of Arlene Gail Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crane, Barry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Barry, Morell. Rev. T. P. Butler performed the double-ring ceremony. The organist, Owen Alward, accompanied Shirley Barry as she sang "My God Accept My Heart This Day", "Christ the King", "Jesus, Food of Angels", and "O God of Lovefulness". The church was decorated with baskets of mixed garden flowers and the guest pews were marked with bows and floor-length ribbons of shades matching the dresses of the attendants.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length A-line gown of white embroidered organza with bateau neckline, and a detachable train which fell from her waist. Her shoulder-length, four-tier, tulle veil was held in place by a cluster of white roses, sequins, and rhinestones. She carried a cascade of red American Beauty roses entwined with ivy.

The bride's attendants were her sisters, Alma, as maid of honour and Beverly as bridesmaid. The maid of honour wore a floor-length dress of yellow crystal charm, and her headdress was a matching bow and veiling. She carried a nosegay of white and yellow carnations. The bridesmaid wore an identical in style dress of blue crystal charm, and her headdress was also a matching bow and veiling. Her nosegay was of white and blue carnations.

Velda Crane was flower girl for her sister and wore a floor-length, A-line dress with an empire waist of pink crystal charm. Her headdress was a matching bow and veiling. She carried a basket of white and pink baby carnations.

Francis Barry, brother of the groom, was best man. Hubert Crane, brother of the bride, and Emmett MacDonald, nephew of the groom, acted as ushers.

The bride's mother chose a powder-blue embroidered lace-voile taffeta dress with white accessories, a muskrat stole and a corsage of deep pink carnations.

Guest Speaker Is Teacher At Indian School

Mrs. Florence Lord was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Bedou United Church Women, Unit One, for August, held at the home of Mrs. Florence Johnson. Mrs. Lord gave a very interesting account of her work as a teacher in the United Church Indian school at Goldfish Lake, Alta., where she has taught for the last two years. She found the pupils bright and eager to learn, and the parents very friendly, and showed snapshots of the children, and of a local church wedding. Mrs. Lord is returning to Goldfish Lake the latter part of August, and will resume her teaching duties for another year.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Ernest Johnson and Mrs. Edna Jenkins.

Roll call for next month's meeting is to be responded to by the word "faith". Mrs. Fannie Henderson, who was appointed treasurer to fill the office left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Florence Henderson, who is leaving shortly to take up residence in Charlottetown.

A letter was read from the port worker in Halifax, thanking the society for parcels received. At the close of the meeting the hostesses served ice cream and cake assisted by the president.

The mother of the groom wore a light-blue crepe dress with lace sleeves and matching blue and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Basilea Recreation Centre, Charlottetown for approximately forty guests. Mrs. Audrey Donovan, sister of the bride, circulated the guest book.

For a honeymoon trip to points of interest in the Maritimes, the bride chose a yellow lace dress and matching linen coat ensemble with a white picture hat and accessories. Her corsage was of yellow and white carnations.

Out of the Province guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Francis Barry, Port Credit, Ontario; Hubert Crane, Canadian Forces Base, Portage la Prairie, Manitoba; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hooper, Brookline, Mass.; Mrs. Peter Flynn, Somerville, Mass. and Mrs. Gus MacDonald, Boston, Mass.

New Alphabet Gives Hope To Those Who Can't Read

OTTAWA (CP)—Some children can't learn to read. The differences in pronunciation of such words as "eight" "bought" only confuse them.

They grow up to become adults to whom street signs are a mystery and books and magazines a meaningless blur.

Some of those adults are getting a fresh start on the program at an Ottawa school. Teaching Alphabet, they are beginning to learn what the traditional alphabet and standard teach them.

"They're naturally thrilled," says their teacher at the Canadian Vocational Training School, Noreen Toole. "They have blossomed out — current events, geography, history are suddenly within their grasp."

After two months with the special alphabet the group, aged 21 to 30, is reading at the Grade 2 level, something they failed to accomplish in 10 years with traditional methods.

Mrs. Toole says she thinks they have succeeded because they are highly motivated. "They've learned the hard way how valuable education is in coping with today's world. And, then, ITA is a new medium to them, something they haven't failed at before."

At the Canadian Vocational Training School, an adult education centre sponsored by federal and provincial governments, she teaches Grades 1 to 6. Students can continue to Grade 12 in the centre's other classes.

To give her class added scope, Mrs. Toole uses a newly-acquired ITA typewriter to translate stories from conventional newspapers, books and magazines.

Mrs. Toole, 33, is a Maritimer who has been teaching 10 years, here and in England. She studied child development at the University of London on a Beaverbrook Scholarship and now is completing a BA in history and English at Carleton University here.
