Armstrong Is Enthused Over Fine Results

Declares It is Wonderful How Tanlac Overcame Wife's Trouble After Everything Else Had Failed

"I am glad to say there has been a wondeful improvement in my wife's health by taking Tanlac," said William Armstrong, 98 Winter St., St. John, N. B.

"She suffered terribly from indigestion and gastritis. Her food acted like poison on her stomach and she had to be very careful of her diet. But even so the gas bloated her up until she would almost choke and sometimes she would fairly groan with agony. She had frequent bilious spells and at one time was so bad off we had to send her to the hospital. They patched her up but it wasn't long before she was just as bad as ever.

"She often remarks now what a good thing it was she tried Tanlac. She has a good appetite, can eat anything and is never bilious any more. We have absolute faith in Tanlac. It can't be beat."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

MRS. WALLACE DRUMMOND

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, from henceforth, yea sayth the spirit that they may rest from their labors; for their works do follow them."

At Springfield, Lot 67, in the early hours of May 17th, 1922, after an illness of about five years of heart trouble and paralysis the gentle spirit of Mrs. Wallace Drummond, formerly Annie Biggar passed peacefully away at the age of fifty-seven years. Hopes were entertained for her recovery until about two weeks before her death, when it became apparent that God was soon going to call her home.

Early in life she accepted and confessed Christ as her personal Savious and devoted her life to his service. Here's was truly a kind, gentle and loving spirit. The way she bore her great affliction was a testimony to her faith, she ever trusted in the everlasting arms.

Sae will be sorely missed by relatives, neighbours and friends but in the home the loss is most keenly felt by a sorrowing husband and three daughters. Elizabeth, Margaret and Florrie who will ever miss a true companion and devoted mother's love. There are also left to mourn one brother, Joseph D. Biggar, Charlottetown; three sisters, namely, Mrs. Angus Matheson, Springfield Lot 67; Mrs. Samuel Drummond, Freetown and Mrs. Murdock Kennedy, Bradalbane, an adopted sister and brother, Mrs. Roderick Nicholson, Rose Valley and Calvin Biggar, San Francisco, California.

Tae funeral took place on the 18th inst., where services at the home and grave were conducted by her pastor, Rev. Geo. Ayers, Pleasant Valley, assisted by Rev. John Sterling, Bradalbane.

Her mortal remains were laid gently to rest in the People's Cemetry, Freetown, by Messrs Joseph, Amos and Geo. Davison, D. N. MacKay, Wm. Bigger and F. W. Hickox "For her to live was Christ and to (Summerside papers please copy.) die was gain."

MR PATRICK WALSH.

It was with deep regret that the residents of Stanley Bridge and surrounding communities learned of the death of their esteemed harness-maker, Mr. Patrick Walsh, which occurred on May 4th. Though not in robust health for the past few months he was able to be around at his work as usual, and was always cheerful and uncomplaining, so that friends and neighbors did not realize until a few weeks before his death that he was suffering from a fatal disease, which so quickly terminated his sojourn in this world at the early age of 64 years. His last days were cheered by the tender nursing of his wife and children. Many were the kind words and council he gave them during the last days of his life. With a prayer on his lips his spirit went forth to meet his God, trusting that he would be one of his just servants. He was attended many times during his illness by his beloved pastor, Rev. W. V. McDonald, who also administered to him the last holy sacrament of the Roman Catholic church. He leaves to mourn their loss his wife, one sone, Austin, residing in Stanley Bridge, and three daughters, Mrs. Richard Trahey, and Miss Tillie, of Wakefield, Mass., the latter who was with him during his illness; and Mrs. Thomas Bolger, residing at Stanley Bridge; also two sisters and one brother, William, of Charlottetown. His funeral, which took place on May 5 to St. Ann's church, was largely attended. The pall-bearers were, Dr. Flemming, A. J. McNeil, David R. Bell, P. L. Cash, Clarence Reid and William Duffy. May his soul rest in peace.
