Patrol Vessel Labrador Is Due At Halifax Today

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy's arctic patrol vessel Labrador will arrive at Halifax at noon today after rugged five months in the north.

It has been a rugged finish to a hard job. When the Labrador left the Arctic a week ago she radioed naval headquarters here. "Snow—wind 55 knots—whole gale —temperature 32."

Principal task for the ship, which last year became the first naval vessel to conquer the Northwest Passage, was to serve from mid-June to late September as senior ship of a 14-vessel task force charged with delivery of 30,000 tons of supplies for DEW (distant early warning) radar line sites in the Foxe basin area of the eastern Arctic 7

She sailed from Halifax June 1 with 25 officers, 13 scientists, 222 men, a six-month supply of provisions and three helicopters.

"MADMEN" CLEAR WAY

The Labrador punched her way through ice-strewn Hudson strait and Foxe channel to survey a route for the supply convoy. At one point, high explosive had to be used to blast a way through the ice.

Eventually the Labrador reached what was to be one of the main unloading sites for the DEW line in the eastern Arctic.

The ship's frogmen—or "madmen," as they became known—made a careful underwater examination of the beach approaches for rocks, reefs and other obstructions that might endanger landing craft. It took more than a week to produce charts of the area.

What is probably the most northerly softball game ever played took place during this period. A team was landed from the Labrador and it defeated a Foundation Company of Canada squad 24-23. Local rules prevailed because the diamond included two ponds and a lake which encroached on left field.

At the end of July, the Labrador sailed to rendezvous with the supply convoy. It required a week to shepherd the merchantmen through the ice to the landing beach. Some of the ships received superficial damage. The entire convoy got through.

MUCH KNOWLEDGE GAINED

"In consequence of the extensive surveys and studies made by the ship, much has been added to the knowledge of the Canadian Arctic area in which she operated," the navy said Thursday.

During the last week of October, Capt. O. C. S. Robertson of Montreal, the Labrador's commander, was taken ill. He was flown by the RCAF from Coral harbor on Southampton island to Montreal. After a Nov. 7 operation, Capt. Robertson is reported to be making a good recovery. Nature of his illness was not disclosed.

Cmdr. J. M. Leeming, the executive officer, took over command. The Labrador began working her way east as the Arctic winter closed in, and a week ago started moving south down the coast of Labrador.

Alberton W. I. Has Dinner

Mrs. H.J. Larkin gracoously presided over the turkey dinner, served at Hillside Restaurant, to mark the twenty-eigth anniversary of the organization of Alberton Women's Institute. Mrs. Larkin, the first president, continues her active interest in this Institute. Seated at the head table with Mrs. Larkin were members of the executive. After dinner Mrs. Larkin expressed the appreciation of the Institute to Mr. Albert Clarke and the staff of Hillside Restaurant.

The members adjourned to the Institute Room for their annual meeting at which Mrs. Joseph Callaghan presided. Roll call was answered by payment of annual fees. Minutes of the last annual meeting and of the last monthly meeting were read and approved. Following a brief address the president asked the members to observe a minute of silence in memory of Mrs. G. C. Gordon, a charter member, who had passed away during the year.

At ten meetings held during the year, thirty-three members followed the program suggestions sent out by the head office in Charlottetown. At two of these meetings there were special speakers. Seventeen members subscribed to "Institute News." This Institute was represented at the provincial convention and at the Leadership course. The members were pleased during the year to learn that their entry had won an award in the Institute programme contest.

Financial receipts came from monthly collections, membership dues, hall rentals, pantry sale, card party, dance, bank interest, Government grant and prize money from programme contest.

Equiptement purchased for the school included more than thirty books, a science kit, two maps, chamois cloths, drawing cards, blackboard brushes, character posters and the frame for a Junior Red Cross Certificate. Use of the hall was given for practices and school closings and at the end of the school term one hundred and eighty-three pupils were treated t ice cream dips.

Services rendered to the community included one hundred and fifteen visits, nine treats to members who were ill, twenty-five cards and thirteen letters, parting gifts for two members, flowers sent to the home of a bereaved member, cards and treats sent to elderly and shut-in folk at Christmas, arrangement made for the singing of Christmas carols at the Western Hospital and the providing of candy fo Santa to treat the nursing staff and seventeen patients, provision of school books to enable a child to return to school. Assistance was given in the organization of a Dental Clinic for the entire area by which approximately seventy-five Grade One children from fourteen schools received free dental care. When the W. I. Handicraft Van came to Alberton in September the classes were opened to all women of the district who wished to avail themselves of this opportunity.

The exterior of the Institute Hall was painted and new curtains were purchased for the kitchen. Last year the interior of the hall was redecorated so now the entire building presents a very attractive, well kept appearance.

Through its cooperation with the Red Cross the Alberton Institute provides a number of valuable services to the Town and surrounding districts. The report of the Red Cross convener follows: Since Nov. 1, 1955 ther have been forty-eight loans from the Red Cross Loan Cupboard. In women's work twentypairs of childrens socks and six sweaters have been forwarded to Charlottetown and there are some more ready to forward as soon asthe balance of incompleted work now out is returned.

This year's Swimming and Water Safety program was the most sucessful ever held. Fifty boys and girls passed their tests. The Lion's Club assisted by providing transportation to and from the beach. Supervision was arranged by the Institute. Through the efforts of Mr. Earle Atkinson our first class for adults was organized. Thirty-six adults passed their tests. From the two classes seven merited the Bronze Medallion of the Royal Life Saving Society. Of this number two were adults and the other five had come up through our classes during the past few years. In appreciation of the opportunity to take this course, the adult class made a donation of ten dollars to the Red Cross.

A vey sucessful First Aid class for ladies was instructed by Mrs. Walter Wells. Sixteen received their certificates and pins.

There has been no need of the services of our branch of the Red Cross Disaster Services during the year but it is good to know we have on its various committees a group of competent, well qualified men and women who are alert to the prevention of fire and accidents and also ready to help anyone if emergencies or disasters occur.

During the past year the Alberton Institute made donations to the Jubilee Endowment Fund, F.W.I.C. And A.C.W.W., T.B. League, Red Cross, March of Dimes, gift for Miss Robin, Boy Scouts, Gift Coupon Project for Ceylon.

Reports were heard from the Hall, School and visiting Committees, and from the committee that had made arrangements for sponsoring an amateur program for school children.

Mrs. James Hodgson and Mrs. Carl Weeks, the nominating committee, presented their report and the following members were voted into office for the coming year: Honorary President, Mrs. H. J. Larkin; President, Mrs. A.C. Green' First Vice-president, Mrs. Thomas Phillips; Second Vice-President, Mrs. C. H. Weeks; Secretary, Mrs. James Hodgson; Treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Wilkie; Directors, Mrs. E. Shea; Mrs. O. H. Phillips (Convener of Education); Mrs. Frank Bryan; Mrs. Gerald Rooney; Auditors, Mrs. H. W. Matthews and Mrs. Clayton Travers; Red Cross Conveners, Mrs. A. C. Green and Mrs. G. J. Johnston.

The Christmas meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Wilkie with Mrs. Rooney and Mrs. Travers as asistant hostesses. There will be singing of Christmas carols and the roll call will be answered with a Christmas verse. There will also be an exchange of Christmas gifts which shall not exceed twenty-five cent value.

In response to a request from the teaching staff of the school, the Institute gave its approval to the exchange of a duplicator it had purchased for the school some years ago, for one which the teachers feel will be of greater service in their work. The Institute will provide the funds necessary to make the exchange.

The planning of the programme and arrangements for entering it in the Institute contest was left to the Executive.

Money is to be forwarded for a group membership in the Drama Festival Association and a donation is to be made to the Cancer Fund.B

SANTA MAKES FIRST VISIT OF SEASON

Heralding the 1955 Christmas season, Santa Claus is seen above making his first appearance at Summerside yesterday afternoon and several hundred children accompanied by their parents were on hand to greet him at the conclusion of a street parade which ended at 2 p.m. in front of Holman's Toyland. Small faces full of joy followed Santa's every move as the big beautiful tractor-drawn the sleigh and down from the roof top. After a few moments of conversation with the little folks float glided up to the curb and santa, waving and smiling at all his small friends, climbed out of around him, Santa, followed by all the boys and girls, led the way to his big throne in Toyland where he distributed candy to all of them.

HAS PERSONAL TALK WITH SANTA

The pleasure of a personal talk with Santa is a thrill that every boy and girl will remember, and the joy of this moment as expressed in the smile of five-year-old Jimmie Keefe, son of Corporal and Mrs. T. J. Keefe of Summerside, is typical of that expressed by several hundred children who were on hand to welcome Santa on his first appearance this season in Holman's Toyland in Summerside yesterday afternoon. Let's Talk It Over by "d"

The advent of "Young Canada's Book Week" brings to mind the rather discouraging fact that in this modern age with its many exciting counter-attractions for youth reading among children has lost some ground. This is a fast moving, "hustle and bustle", age, both for adults and children, and many refuse to stay quiet long enough to enjoy reading a good book. It isn't much use to tell adults how they should employ their leisure hours, but children may be advised wisely before their habits of recreation are fixed.

That such entertainment mediums as movies, radio, television, etc., all have their place in our modern age, and provide their share of enjoyment when judiciously selected cannot be denied. They cannot take the place of reading the best books, however, which not only entertains and informs, but supplies a fine background of culture which gives the reader a broader and more tolerant outlook on life. Reading good books is the best form of self-education in existence. Children who read are noticeably more responsive to lesson problems, and gather in the contents of the printed page more quickly and easily. Facility of expression is also improved. Children who read widely can express themselves, both orally and in writing, to better effect.
