Working of the Scott Act at Montague.

DEAR SIR,—In your issue of THE WEEKLY EXAMINER of May 2nd, under the heading of "Montague Notes," the following passage occurs: "The Scott Act is triumphant here. King Alcohol has to go—thanks to McKinnon and Reilly."
Although drinking is not so prevalent in this village as it was before the adoption of the Scott Act, still we do not thank McKinnon and Reilly for it. Our rummellers still sell to all who want it, and it will require more than one conviction in three months (even if the penalty were enforced), to stop the illicit sale here. It is a notable fact that one of our rummellers told Mr. McKinnon, a few days after his appointment, that he would sell rum till the first of May in spite of him (McKinnon). He has done so every day, and is still doing it, without any attempt on McKinnon's part to prevent him. On Sabbath evenings, when peaceable villagers are returning from church, his bar-room is generally lighted up, and he deals out his poison to his regular customers; and it is quite common to hear them abusing and blaspheming on the public streets after peaceable villagers are in bed. Mr. McKinnon has done about as much as the Alliance expected him to do when he was appointed. But if he thinks to satisfy the temperance people of this County, he will have to do more than

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Butter and Cheese.

SIR,—The increased attention, of late years, given to improvement in our dairy products is a most hopeful sign of the times. It cannot fail in acting beneficially upon the welfare and prosperity of our common country. From a pretty extensive correspondence in the Maritime Provinces, and from hearing reports and conversations with men from the upper Provinces, I am convinced that never in our history were such a combination of forces at work with the object of developing the latest resources of this splendid country as there is at present. The large Province of Ontario, more venerable in years, larger in population, with ample revenues, and much private wealth, but not possessed of such diversified resources as Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, or a people of greater perseverance and pluck than Prince Edward Island, is making rapid strides in scientific agriculture. And of late years, through Dairy Conventions, Boards of Trade, and otherwise, much attention has been bestowed upon the dairy industry, the number of factories for cheese-making alone having last year risen to 700. The value of exports in butter and cheese, in some ten years, has risen at a bound from a few thousand dollars to something like $8,000,000. In the Province of Quebec, too, the same energy is manifested. Indeed, with its two dairy schools, well equipped and handsomely endowed by a paternal Government, she has stolen a march on her big western neighbor. All this time, I am afraid that we in the Provinces by the sea have not been sufficiently alive to our interests; we have not appreciated at their proper value our great natural advantages, in a fine climate, in rich soils, in abundance of clear, sparkling streams of water traversing every section, in grazing lands unexcelled, and, above all, in closer proximity for our products to the markets of the world, than the people of the Far West. Let us look at the farmer or the stock raiser of Ontario. He has to provide continuously for the improvement of his permanent future, a thing almost unknown in this country, (although our land advance in price, and we have adopted a better system of tillage, we shall have to do so), by the sowing it down with the a liberal quantity of grass seeds, sometimes as much as fifteen pounds to the acre. In the absence of muck and rock weed, he has to purchase his commercial fertilizers, and yet he can carry his stock, or its products, over more than a thousand miles of land carriage, passing by our doors, he undersells us in England. We are compelled to come to the conclusion that his is the better system of farming, with which he combines a due regard to the leaks and losses that would arise in order to avoid them, which generally makes the difference between profit and loss. It has been demonstrated in that Province that twenty per cent additional in the quality and quantity of products will alter the whole character of dairying; for instance—that is turn it from a loss to profit—to more than a living profit. What is more to the point, it is becoming evident to the intelligent, in all the Provinces, that our bad system of tillage, in one respect from the preponderance of grain raising and of exporting the raw material from year to year, through which our virgin soils are being rapidly impoverished, must soon bring us face to face with the restoration of these soils, or to go into bankruptcy. This is a problem certainly with some of us that demands immediate settlement, and we are fully persuaded that high class dairying lies at the root of the matter. What is high-class dairying, then? It means the selection of better stock. Two-thirds of the dairying cows in Europe and America, it has been computed, are kept at a loss. They eat their heads off perhaps eight or ten times during the period they remain in their keeper's possession. It means more than this, for it must result in good care and proper management of the stock: saving of time, and time is money; and in the employment of mechanical appliances, and finally in the establishment of cheese factories and creameries. We have the pressure of a greatly enhanced demand at home and abroad, of a paying trade in these products, and of large and increasing benefits to our system of agriculture.

A. C. MACDONALD,
The Rectory, Bayfield, May 14th, 1884.

THE Short Line Railway.
The St. John Sun says: Col. Snow, who has been a prominent figure in the proposed railway from Deer Lake on the New Brunswick railway around the head of Mooshead Lake has completed arrangements for the building of the road from Oxford to New Glasgow, and on to Louisburg. This will be gratifying news to the contractors and others employed on this section, as they will receive the moneys due them. Col. Snow will leave in a few days for Oxford, to re-commence the construction of the road. It is expected that the greater part will be completed before the fall of 1884. As for the short line to Montreal, it is expected that Messrs. Fellows and Bakom will commence the survey of the line between Edmundston and Quebec in a few days. Both gentlemen are now in the city. Messrs. Brown and Smith are to survey the line around the north of Mooshead Lake, but it does not yet appear positively who is to take the line to the south of the lake. The other surveys mentioned will commence in a few days. From the above, and from other indications, there will be a lively reason of railway building in New Brunswick during the summer.

The Fish Market.
Boston advices reports that the trade in fresh fish has been fair, and, with an ample supply, prices have ruled low. There have been thirty-nine arrivals with fresh fish, and three of them brought in some 60,000 lbs. of halibut with their other fish. Some fresh mackerel have been forwarded from the weirs, and have sold as high as 10c. The mackerel from New York have ranged at 2 1/2 to 5c. Cod has been in good supply, has also been haddock, but there has hardly been sufficient halibut. Oysters were quiet at previous prices.

The Horse Trade.
The Montreal Gazette states that, for the week past, the demand for horse-flesh has been brisk, both for export and local account. The trade for the past three months has been satisfactory, and offerings have been much reduced, until now very few suitable animals are to be had. The demand is for good heavy workers, carriage and driving horses, the supply of which has been well cleaned up.

Michael Davitt will go to England at Whitsuntide and remain there for two months. He will then start for Australia and America. He hopes are that the lectures which he intends delivering in those countries will be financially successful, and that he will realize such a sum as will bring him in a yearly income of £200. If this ambition be realized, he will return to Ireland again and devote himself with renewed vigor to the work of her reform.

Richard Bagnall, Esq., has already sown 150 bushels of oats. A large quantity of mussel mud has been used by the farmers this spring, consequently a much larger yield than usual is expected.

A public temperance meeting under the auspices of Hunter River Division was held in the division room, on the evening of May 5th. It was the largest meeting of the kind ever held at Hunter River. The hall, which will ordinarily seat one hundred and fifty, was over-crowded; while many were compelled to remain outside. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. W. P. Archibald. The programme, which consisted of speeches from Rev'ds. John Goodwill, George Steele, W. P. Archibald, and J. A. Dalce, each followed by appropriate selections of music, was well executed. The expressions of the speakers were characteristic of their zeal to promote the temperance cause. Four religious denominations were represented on the platform, yet here they ceased to differ, to stamp out an evil common to all. A few anecdotes were related by some of the speakers, showing the extent to which the ingenuity is sometimes taxed to satisfy the craving appetite for drink. But that told by one, of a husband outwitted by his wife, is perhaps a more worthy mention. After failing in all his contrivances to conceal a cask of rum, he had for his own use, from his wife, who sometimes indulged in the liquor. At a last resort he suspended it to the rafters in his barn, where he considered it beyond her reach; but judge of his amazement, on again arriving at the scene, to find the contents of his cask deposited in a tub on the barn floor, but the cask itself still there. Stretched by it lay the seemingly lifeless body of his wife, while in close proximity he observed a discharged rifle. On further examination he found that by means of a bullet from the rifle, she had penetrated the cask, thus supplying "a long-felt want," also showing that while unable to reach the liquor she was equal to the occasion in making it reach her. Miss Marianne Linkletter presided at the organ kindly lent for the occasion by Capt. T. S. McLeod. Miss Linkletter's qualifications as an organist and a teacher of the art are well established. She has the thanks of this community for her valuable service on this occasion. The decorations of the hall by Messrs. S. Brown, F. N. Darke and others were very becoming and favorably commented upon. An unanimous vote of thanks was tendered, first to the speakers then to the choir, after which the meeting came to a close by singing.

At a last resort he suspended it to the rafters in his barn, where he considered it beyond her reach; but judge of his amazement, on again arriving at the scene, to find the contents of his cask deposited in a tub on the barn floor, but the cask itself still there. Stretched by it lay the seemingly lifeless body of his wife, while in close proximity he observed a discharged rifle. On further examination he found that by means of a bullet from the rifle, she had penetrated the cask, thus supplying "a long-felt want," also showing that while unable to reach the liquor she was equal to the occasion in making it reach her. Miss Marianne Linkletter presided at the organ kindly lent for the occasion by Capt. T. S. McLeod. Miss Linkletter's qualifications as an organist and a teacher of the art are well established. She has the thanks of this community for her valuable service on this occasion. The decorations of the hall by Messrs. S. Brown, F. N. Darke and others were very becoming and favorably commented upon. An unanimous vote of thanks was tendered, first to the speakers then to the choir, after which the meeting came to a close by singing.

The Short Line Railway.
The St. John Sun says: Col. Snow, who has been a prominent figure in the proposed railway from Deer Lake on the New Brunswick railway around the head of Mooshead Lake has completed arrangements for the building of the road from Oxford to New Glasgow, and on to Louisburg. This will be gratifying news to the contractors and others employed on this section, as they will receive the moneys due them. Col. Snow will leave in a few days for Oxford, to re-commence the construction of the road. It is expected that the greater part will be completed before the fall of 1884. As for the short line to Montreal, it is expected that Messrs. Fellows and Bakom will commence the survey of the line between Edmundston and Quebec in a few days. Both gentlemen are now in the city. Messrs. Brown and Smith are to survey the line around the north of Mooshead Lake, but it does not yet appear positively who is to take the line to the south of the lake. The other surveys mentioned will commence in a few days. From the above, and from other indications, there will be a lively reason of railway building in New Brunswick during the summer.

The Fish Market.
Boston advices reports that the trade in fresh fish has been fair, and, with an ample supply, prices have ruled low. There have been thirty-nine arrivals with fresh fish, and three of them brought in some 60,000 lbs. of halibut with their other fish. Some fresh mackerel have been forwarded from the weirs, and have sold as high as 10c. The mackerel from New York have ranged at 2 1/2 to 5c. Cod has been in good supply, has also been haddock, but there has hardly been sufficient halibut. Oysters were quiet at previous prices.

The Horse Trade.
The Montreal Gazette states that, for the week past, the demand for horse-flesh has been brisk, both for export and local account. The trade for the past three months has been satisfactory, and offerings have been much reduced
